Iran Turns Down World Court Plan

Harriman May Go To Iran In Oil Dispute

Truman Offers Aid Of "Trouble Shooter"

WASHINGTON, July 9. (AP) — President Truman offered today to send his top diplomatic "trouble shooter" to help solve the explosive Anglo-Iranian oil crisis.

Declaring that collapse of Iran's multi-billion - dollar oil industry would be a "disaster," Mr. Truman suggested sending W. Averell Harriman to Iran as his personal representative in an attempt to end the dispute.

Harriman is foreign affairs adviser to the President.

Mr. Truman made the offer in a message to Prime Minister Mohammed Mossadegh of Iran. With it, the president sent a plea for Iran to enhance its stature "in the eyes of the world" by respecting the recommendations of the World Court.

However, dispatches from Tehran indicated that Iran had already slammed the door on the World Court and rejected the court's proposal for a temporary solution of the oil controversy.

Britain had appealed to the Court to protect its vast interests in the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company which produces much of the oil used by the British fleet.

The International Court, sitting at the Hague, Holland, had recommended a curb on Iran's oil nationalization program pending further negotiations.

IRAN NEXT STOP? — Next stop for W. Averell Harriman, foreign affairs adviser to the President, may be Tehran. Mr. Truman offered to send his top diplomatic "trouble-shooter" to help solve the explosive Anglo-Iranian oil crisis. With the offer the President sent a plea to Iran to enhance its stature by respecting the recommendations of the World Court.

U. N. Informed Of Country's Latest Action

Hope For Compromise Appears Destroyed

TEHRAN, Iran, July 9 (AP) —President Truman again appealed to Premier Mohammed Mossadegh today for a settlement of the oil crisis, fast approaching a calamitous shutdown of British operations, but the Iranian premier said the appeal was a "little late."

At the same time Iran formally notified the United Nations it is withdrawing its recognition of the World Court at the Hague.

These two actions appeared to have destroyed the last faint hope of a compromise which might make Iran economically strong against Communist agitation.

Collapse Disastrous

The president said a collapse of oil operations in Iran would be a "disaster" and urged that a way be found to keep "British skill" on the job. He pointed out that the United States is sympathetic with Iranian desires to control their own resources, but that the British have accepted the principle of nationalization.

(In London Foreign Secretary Herbert Morrison told the House of Commons Britain was considering appealing the case to the U. N. Security Council where Russia has a veto. He said the government wants to keep British oilmen in Iran "as long as they possibly can." Winston Churchill, Conservative leader, demanded that they be kept at work "even at some risk," and asked for a fullscale parliamentary debate on the Iranian question in a week or two.)

Charge Interference

Shortly afterward, Iran made public a letter to U. N. Secretary General Trygve Lie charging that the World Court had breached the U. N. charter by interferring in Iran's affairs.

The Hague Court, judicial agency of the U. N., last week recommended that Iran shelve her nationalization plans for the billion dollar British-owned Anglo-Iranian Oil Company, and join with Britain in naming a board to supervise the industry until a final settlement of the main issue is achieved.

Iranian cabinet ministers have indicated all along they had no notion of paying any attention to the Hague decision.

Wilson Urges Price Controls To Save U. S.

Warns Against Soviet Trickery

WASHINGTON, July 9 (AP) — Mobilization Director Charles E. Wilson told the nation tonight to beware of Soviet trickery in the Korean truce talks and said he is "more worried than ever before in my life about America's safety."

Pleading for strong price controls to combat inflation and for no let up in the nation's rearmament, Wilson said in a nationwide radio and television broadcasts:

"I can't believe that Soviet Russia, in coming out for a truce in Korea, has altered its long-term plans. I can only believe it is but the latest maneuver in a continuing series of actions designed to weaken the free world."

Wilson spoke out just a few hours after administration forces in the House beat down a preliminary Republican move to curb the government's control over prices, wages and rents.

The house is locked in what is expected to be a week-long battle over the controversial issue of government controls.

Wilson told his listeners that the outcome of the House fight may determine whether this country, lacking strong safeguards against runaway prices, is to bump against "wholesale inflation."

In another administration plea for anti-inflation controls, Price Director Michael V. DiSalle said in a speech tonight at Barnesville, Minn., that farmers would be hurt worst of all if price controls are thrown overboard.

"History shows that when bust follows boom, farm prices drop faster and farther than any other prices," DiSalle said.

Man Missing In Dock Fire

PORT READING, N. J., July 9 (AP)—A 900-foot long Reading railroad coal dock was virtually destroyed by fire today and a barge employe was believed to have drowned during the confusion.

The fire licked through the long dock out of control for more than two hours. At the height of the blaze a huge 120-foot steel tower about midway out on the dock toppled into the Kill Van Kull, which separates New Jersey from Staten Island, N. Y.

Authorities identified the missing man as Chester H. Lovett. He worked on one of three barges burned up in the fire. A Reading employe dived after Lovett, but was unable to rescue him. His body has not been recovered.

Along with the three empty coal barges, an office building, a washroom building and a two story storehouse were destroyed.

WASHINGTON, July 9 (AP)—Senator Johnston (D-SC) predicted today, after a White House conference, there will be a general increase in postal rates this year.

Make Funeral Plans, Then Kill Selves

MARION, Ind., July 9 (AP)—A man and wife who made arrangements two weeks ago for their funerals ended their lives today, police said.

The couple, Fred Fansler, 69, a retired barber, and his wife, Lillian, 49, were found lying on the kitchen floor with a blanket over their heads. A tube from a gas meter was under the blanket.

Man Sentenced To Life For Killing Wife, Two Daughters

DIXON, Ky., July 9 (AP)—James N. Harl, 31, Evansville, Ind., laborer, pleaded guilty in Webster Circuit Court here today to the murders of his wife, Betty, 32, and their two daughters.

The jury recommended three life sentences to be served consecutively. County officials said that the shortest amount of time Harl could serve would be 24 years and examining physicians said he will not live that long. He is partly paralyzed as the result of a disease, the doctors stated.

Lie Returns Home

NEW YORK, July 9 (AP)—United Nations Secretary-General Trygve Lie left for Norway by airplane today, confident that he's done all he can to advance the Korean cease-fire.

He will resume a vacation with his family, interrupted when Soviet Russia first proposed a cease-fire two weeks ago.

Widow, 84, Weds Man, 37, After 12-Year Friendship

PHILADELPHIA, July 9 (AP)—The 12-year-old friendship of an 84 - year - old Philadelphia widow and a jeweler 47 years her junior blossomed into marriage today.

The widow is Mrs. Katherine Johnson Bruton, a white haired lady with sparkling blue eyes, affectionately called "Scarlett" by her friends. The bridegroom is Sidney Koch, 37.

Mrs. Bruton is the widow of Alden H. Bruton who was an officer of the Germantown Trust Company here when he died in 1937. He left an estate which, for inheritance taxes, was appraised at $74,194. Mrs. Bruton finally received $50,356.

There is no honeymoon because of the press of the bridegroom's business. Just a quiet wedding dinner at a midtown hotel.

Mrs. Bruton first met Koch shortly after her husband died when he and another officer of the Trust Company came to her home to go over the deceased's estate. Five weeks later, Koch called up and asked to take her riding. This started a friendship which continued while Koch spent five years with the Army in Europe

Substitute Plan Beaten By 169-149

Bitter Debates May Continue Next Week

WASHINGTON, July 9 (AP)—Administration forces in the House today beat down one Republican move to curb the government's power to control prices, wages and rents.

The vote was 169 to 149.

The initial test of strength—decided strictly on party lines—came as the House began preliminary voting on a new controls law. The old law expires July 31 and there is a strong opposition drive underway to cut controls sharply or wipe them off the books entirely.

Touches Off Debate

Sparking the attack on the administration's controls program, Rep. Wolcott (R-Mich) touched off bitter debate by proposing a substitute method of combating inflation instead of the present price rollbacks and other direct controls. This plan was the one beaten down by the 20-vote margin.

Wolcott called for "indirect" controls, such as tightening credit and junking what he described as the administration's "cheap money" fiscal policies.

Rep. Rabaut (D-Mich) denounced Wolcott's proposal as a "horsemeat amendment," and he told the House:

"If we deny the government the authority to rollback prices and maintain firm economic controls, we will be remembered by the American people as the horsemeat Congress—the Congress that put the old grey mare on the family dinner table.

Much of the fire in the controversy over Federal controls has centered on beef price rollbacks ordered by Price Director Michael V. DiSalle.

Await House Action

Amendments barring price rollbacks are awaiting House action, along with other moves designed to water down the administration's control authority.

With some 80 amendments awaiting action, House leaders said the final vote may not come until late this week.

Meanwhile, the nation's big labor union leaders called on the public to prevent Congress from voting a "cease-fire" in anti-inflation controls.

As part of the administration's campaign, Economic Stabilizer Eric Johnston contended that if controls are scrapped, the nation can expect "a much cheaper dollar"—worth perhaps 30 to 40 cents in 1939 purchasing power.

Johnston estimated the dollar is now worth 53 cents to 54 cents of its 1939 value.

Shriners Begin 77th Convention

NEW YORK, July 9 (AP)—Tens of thousands of Shriners, their red fezzes bobbing in bright sunlight, today opened their 77th annual convention. But there wasn't a camel in sight.

Somebody slipped up on arrangements and the camels—traditional in Shrine parades over the years—were overlooked. Last minute efforts were being made to get some.

The week-long convention was expected to draw 100,000 members of the Ancient, Arabic Order, Nobles of the Mystic Shrine. They are coming from 162 temples in every state in the union.

State Draft Ruling Changed

BALTIMORE, July 9 (AP)—New Selective Service regulations went into effect today making an estimated 5,500 Maryland men with 3-A or 4-F draft status subject to reclassification.

However, Maryland Selective Service Director Col. Henry C. Stanwood said the new regulations have not yet arrived from Washington, and local draft boards are consequently marking time.

Pair Indicted On Rape Charge

FAIRFAX, Va., July 9 (AP)—A Fairfax County Grand Jury today indicted John R. Polk, 19, and William R. Payne, 24, on charges of raping a young bride taken at gunpoint from her naval officer husband.

The victim was socially prominent Mrs. Nancy McCoy Hotchkiss, 19, stolen from her bedroom in nearby Arlington county the night of June 25.

Brinks Holdup Foiled

One of two well-known Chicago hoodlums lies dead beside a Brinks Express Company currency truck at the Bowman Dairy Company distributing station in Chicago after an attempted holdup failed. The dead gunman, identified by police as Rocco Balcastro, was slain by Brinks driver Julius Blanchard, 25, in a gunfight which followed the holdup attempt. The other dead gangster was Frank Piazza. Two others escaped. Blanchard was struck over the head by a jammed shotgun during the fight and was treated in a Chicago hospital for lacerations. The two officers are unidentified.

Two Robbers Are Slain By Brinks Express Car Guard

CHICAGO, July 9 (AP)—A Brinks Express driver, slugged over the head with a robber's jammed shotgun, today shot to death two well known Chicago hoodlums in an attempted holdup of his truck.

Two other members of the holdup gang fled the scene—the Bowman Dairy Company Distributing Station—after a several minutes gun battle with police. They obtained no loot.

Chief of Detectives Andrew Aitkin identified the dead men as Rocco (Nick or Lucky) Balcastro and Frank Piazza. He said he had questioned them recently about a series of battering ram robberies of currency exchanges. They were about 35 years old.

Aitkin said he believes he knows the robbers who escaped, but declined to name them.

Police and fellow Brinks employes said Brinks Driver Julius Blanchard, 25, shot down Balcastro and Piazza when they attempted to rob the Brinks truck laden with Bowman's day's receipts.

Balcastro slugged Blanchard with a shotgun which apparently jammed.

Cohen Sentenced To Five Years

LOS ANGELES, July 9 (AP)—A last ditch effort to delay the sentencing of Mickey Cohen failed today and the swarthy gambler was ordered to spend five years in Federal prison and pay a $10,000 fine.

A new set of attorneys argued long and heatedly for time to better acquaint themselves with the case.

But U. S. District Court Judge Ben Harrison turned them down. Cohen was convicted of cheating the government out of $516,123 in taxes for the years 1946, 1947 and 1948. With addition of penalties, the total is nearly $250,000.

Cohen was found guilty June 20 by a jury of three counts of income tax evasion and one of giving a false financial statement to the government. The bigtime gambler, who claimed much of his income came in loans from betting pals, was sentenced to five years on each count but the terms are to run concurrently.

The pudgy Cohen, whose career was spotlighted last November by the Kefauver Senate Crime Investigating Committee, rocked on his feet when he heard the sentence. But a few minutes later he was smiling. He could have drawn 20 years and a $40,000 fine.

Shrimper Industry Dispute Settled

PASCAGOULA, Miss., July 9 (AP)—A price-cutting dispute which closed Mississippi's shrimp industry was settled late today.

Louis Simmons, president of the Gulf Coast Shrimpers and Oystermen's Association (AFL), announced that out-of-state fishermen had joined his union and agreed to work under its rules and prices. Simmons said shrimp houses would reopen tomorrow and that between 4,000 to 5,000 employes would return to work. Meanwhile, picket lines were withdrawn.

Woman Claims Barking Man Frightens Dog

LONG BEACH, Calif., July 9 (AP)—Delores Fulton complained to police today that a barking man is annoying her dog.

Officers quoted her:

"Every night this man, who is heavy set and about 50 and wears glasses, stops in front of my house and frightens my dog by barking at him. I am afraid of this man's intentions."

Police promised to investigate.

Two Reds Cited For Contempt

NEW YORK, July 9 (AP) — Two more Civil Rights Congress big-wigs were held for contempt today for refusing to tell where the Communist Party gets all of its bail money.

The pair, mystery writer Dashiel Hammett and W. Alphaeus Hunton, face imprisonment unless they loosen up and start talking.

Federal Judge Sylvester J. Ryan said he would sentence them later.

Along with millionaire leftist Frederick Vanderbilt Field, the two were cited for contempt for refusing to say who contributed to the $80,000 in bonds on four fugitive Communist leaders.

Field spent the weekend in jail but finally got out today on $10,000 bond. He is appealing a 90-day contempt sentence from Judge Ryan.

The four fugitive Communists failed to show up for sentencing last week. A nationwide hunt is on for them. Their $80,000 bail—posted by the Civil Rights Congress—was ordered forfeited.

Seven other Communist leaders surrendered and are starting prison terms. All 11 are under sentence ranging from three to five years for conspiring to teach and advocate violent revolution in the U. S.

CHICAGO, July 9 (AP)—Egbert Anson Van Alstyne, composer of more than 500 songs including "In The Shade Of The Old Apple Tree" and "Pretty Baby," died today at the age of 73.

Congress Asked To Formally End War With Reich

Reaction Divided To Truman Request

WASHINGTON, July 9 (AP)—President Truman asked Congress today to formally end the state of war it declared against Germany nine and one-half years ago.

At the same time, he sharply blamed Russia for splitting Germany and trying to develop its Eastern half as "a province of the new Soviet empire." Mr. Truman said the U. S. would go on working for a final German peace treaty despite Russia's refusal to cooperate.

Asks To Set Date

Britain, Australia and New Zealand formally ended their state of war with Germany today and France is expected to follow suit shortly. Unlike the U. S., parliamentary action in those nations was not necessary.

Mr. Truman sent a proposed resolution to Congress which would give him the right to set the effective date of the war's formal end. He accompanied the resolution with letters to the Senate president, Vice President Barkley, and to House Speaker Rayburn.

The President made it clear that ending the state of war would not affect continued Allied occupation of Western Germany or Supreme Allied authority over the Bonn Republic.

Observers saw in this a bid to bring Western Germany into the North Atlantic Defense Alliance and pit its strength with that of the Western Allies.

Reaction Is Divided

First Congressional reaction to Mr. Truman's message was divided. Rep Mike Mansield (D-Mont), a member of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, quickly hailed the move as "a step in the right direction." He said it would help bring Western Germany into the North Atlantic Treaty organization.

Rep. Jacob K. Javits (R-NY) warned against haste. He urged Congress to wait until it knows how far the German people will go toward joining political and military forces with other Western Europeans.

Group Flies To Kaesong For Confab

Ridgway Warns No Certainty For Truce

SEOUL, Korea, Tuesday, July 10 (AP)—High military officers of the Chinese-North Korean Reds and the United Nations today met in war-scarred Kaesong and opened historic talks aimed at ending the 54 - week - old Korean War.

The talks began about 11 a. m. (8 p. m., EST, Monday). Shortly before 2 p. m. there was a report that the conference had called an afternoon recess.

SEOUL, Korea, Tuesday, July 10 (AP) — The five-man United Nations armistice delegation arrived at rubbled, Red-held Kaesong today for the start of historic cease-fire talks with Communists which might end the Korean War.

Led by Vice Adm. C. Turner Joy, the U. N. party landed in helicopters at Kaesong at 10:04 a.m. (7:04 p.m., EST, Monday) after departing from an Allied advance camp at Munsan 12 miles southeast shortly after 9:45 a. m.

Joy Is Sombre

They were seen off by Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, Supreme Allied Commander, who termed the occasion "an historic moment." But Ridgway had warned earlier there was no certainty the talks would bring peace. Ridgway was smiling. Joy was grave-faced.

The opening of the talks, which may take weeks, was set for 11 a.m. in an 18 by 15 foot room of a one-time private residence. It is one of the few houses still standing in the ancient capital of Korea.

The cease-fire negotiators appeared restrained and soberly conscious of their great task.

In his statement Monday, Ridgway said:

"This is a very critical period when the question of success or failure of the objectives which the governments concerned have in mind are very much at issue," he told correspondents in Seoul.

"Whether there is to be good faith or not is only to be judged by performance, and we haven't come to the performance stage. Until that time, we are in the stage of pure speculation.

Speculative Period

"And, in my judgment, in this speculative period, until there is concrete evidence that this proposed conference is on the tracks with a reasonable expectation that it is going to stay on the tracks because of good faith — not of one side, but of both — the issues are too great to prejudice failure and breakup."

It seemed likely that the five U. N. delegates would insist that at least two points be included in an armistice:

1. Establishment of a buffer zone extending into North Korea.

2. Surveillance of Communist territory by neutrals to see whether the Reds were building up offensive capabilities.

It also seemed certain that Ridgway would order his Air Force to keep pounding at Communist concentrations and supply points during the negotiations — but spare the road from Pyongyang to Kaesong. U. N. planes continued to

Allied Newsmen To Cover Talks

SOUTHEAST OF KAESONG, Korea, Tuesday, July 10 (AP)—Allied war correspondents will be permitted to go to Kaesong, starting tomorrow, for coverage of cease-fire conferences, an Allied spokesman said. The conferences start today.

A pooled dispatch quoted the unidentified spokesman as saying a limited number of newsmen and photographers—probably 16—will be permitted to accompany negotiators into Kaesong. But they will not be permitted inside the residence where the conferees meet.

The Seoul Press Corps registered an angry protest because Sunday's preliminary talks at Kaesong were covered by Communist correspondents while the Allied correspondents were barred.

Out of the protest grew a plan, advanced by Army Public Information officers, to send 16 Allied correspondents to Kaesong for today's (Tuesday's) initial high level parley.

The Allied spokesman said if communications facilities permitted, reports on progress of the talks would be sent back from Kaesong from time to time to an advance camp (presumably a camp at Munsan, 12 miles southeast of Kaesong.)

Birth Control Is Included In India Recovery Program

NEW DELHI, India, July 9 (AP)—A broad five-year economic plan that includes birth control and the prevention of famine was recommended for India today.

Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru headed the commission which recommended the spending of 17,930,000,000 rupees ($3,765,300,000) to give India economic and social stability.

The proposals for raising India's standard of living now are open for discussion before the final decision is made on a five-year plan. The commission worked from March, 1950 to produce the 344-page report.

To help cut an estimated population growth of 5,000,000 a year, the commission suggested facilities for sterilization and government information centers on birth control.

"Family planning is a vital step in economic and social planning," the commission said.

The proposed centers would be set up to give contraceptive advice on medical grounds. But the report urged that help and advice not be withheld from others who seek it on social and economic grounds.

The master plan would increase spending for agriculture, irrigation and power, transportation and communications, industry, social services and rehabilitation.

Citizens May Get Warrants Against Speeding Motorists

If private citizens want to have warrants sworn out for speeders on city streets, the Police Department will follow up the charges.

Commissioner of Police and Fire John J. Long made the suggestion at the meeting of the Mayor and Council yesterday but no action was taken.

In fact, it met with opposition from one source. Commissioner William H. Buchholtz said he "did not believe it the duty of the private citizen but that of the Police Department."

Only A Suggestion

"Well, it was only a suggestion," Long said. The commissioner pointed out the impossibility of having a policeman on each street every minute of the day, but noted that a considerable number of arrests have been made for speeding within the city limits.

Long said the assurance that warrants sworn out by private citizens would be followed up came from Magistrate J. Milton Dick.

The council received one bid for the repaving, grading and curbing of Valley Street which has been torn two years for installation of a flood control conduit.

Bids $34,408

The Cumberland Contracting Company bid $34,408. It was referred to Mrs. Lucile W. Roeder, commissioner of streets and public property.

In conjunction with the Valley Street project, C. E. Wolz, 210 Valley Street, appeared to point out the present condition of curbs in the area and the condition after the paving was done.

Long noted that the flood work will reach Centre Street soon. He said the project supervisor and Assistant Chief B. Frank Gaffney are hoping part of this work can be done at night to alleviate a traffic situation. If this cannot be mapped out, an alternate, involving sending traffic north on Liberty Street, must be planned, he said.

Job Sales Probe Jury Impaneled

JACKSON, Miss., July 9 (AP) — A special Federal Grand Jury, impaneled to investigate charges that a pro-Truman organization sold government jobs in Mississippi, was told today it could call "anyone from the President of the United States down."

U. S. District Judge Allen Cox told the 22 jurors:

"You are representatives of the people of the United States. If you know of anyone who should be brought before you to be heard, you have a right to call anyone from the President of the United States on down."

Justice Department attorneys in Washington said they knew of no instance in which a president had testified before a grand jury.

Government attorneys, queried about the matter, said the President may not be subpoenaed because of the constitutional provision separating the legislative, judicial and executive branches of government.

Former Treasury Official Says Tax Hike Is Too Stiff

WASHINGTON, July 9 (AP) — A former treasury official said today Congress is about to get its signals crossed: He argued that a $7,200,000,000 tax hike passed by the House will promote inflation instead of curb it, as intended.

Roswell Magil, Undersecretary of the Treasury in 1937 and 1938 and now chairman of the Private Committee on Federal Tax Policy, told Senators the measure is too stiff on upper income brackets and corporations.

He declared this would take away any incentive to work harder and produce more, steps urged to fight inflation. And he said many of the tax boosts would have to be passed on to consumers in higher prices.

But a labor union leader, Russ Nixon of the left-wing United Electrical Workers, urged still steeper tax boosts on wealthy corporations and individuals, a softening in taxes on lower income groups.

Nixon said the sacrifice involved in cutting down "from a Cadillac scale of living" was nothing compared with "giving up a quart of milk a day, or new shoes for the children."

Argentina Celebrates 135th Birthday

BUENOS AIRES, July 9 (AP)—Thousands of troops, goosestepping to martial music, passed in review today before Argentina's president, Juan D. Peron, and his blonde wife, Eva, as the nation celebrated the 135th anniversary of its independence.

About 400 warplanes roared overhead. Tanks, armored vehicles and light and heavy field artillery rumbled along the broad Avenida Del Libertador General San Martin, in one of Argentina's biggest demonstrations of military strength since Peron became president.

Egypt And Russia Make Exchange

CAIRO, Egypt, July 9 (AP)—Egypt and Russia signed a barter agreement today for exchange of grains and cotton.

Egypt, under the agreement, is to export to the Soviet Union and satellite countries 30,000 bales of cotton and 50,000 tons of rice. Russia is to supply Egypt with 150,000 tons of wheat.

Senate Committee Warns Against Communist Feint

WASHINGTON, July 9 (AP) — Chairman Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.) of the Senate Preparedness Committee warned America today that a Korean cease-fire might be a Communist feint. He said the nation should look out for a possible "crushing body blow."

Despite Korean peace talk, Johnson said his committee probably will check the possibility of boosting the nation's military forces even higher than the present 3,500,000-man goal.

In another field, Johnson told reporters the committee had reports of open gambling and prostitution near a number of Army camps.

He said Committee investigators had found "serious" rent gouging of service men's families around six Army camps. The committee, he added, plans to look into all this in cooperation with the Senate Crime Committee headed by Sen. O'Conor (D-Md.).

Defense Treaty May Be Signed

WASHINGTON, July 9 (AP)—The United States, Australia and New Zealand have worked out terms for a defense treaty. U. S. officials hope it can be broadened some day into a general Pacific Security Alliance against aggression.

New Zealand Premier Sidney Holland said in Auckland today he hoped to be able to announce the signing soon. American officials in touch with negotiations said the way has been cleared but indicated the actual signing may await the Japanese peace conference now scheduled to be held in San Francisco two months hence.

Negotiations have been based on the idea of a mutual aid arrangement along the lines of the North Atlantic Pact involving the U. S., Canada, and West European countries.

The new treaty is expected to state positively that the U. S. will consider an attack on Australia and New Zealand from any quarter dangerous to the peace and security of this country.

Virginia Youth Wins Elks Contest

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., July 9 (AP)—An Alexandria, Va., boy, William H. Pitts, won a regional oratorical contest sponsored by the Elks Lodge here yesterday.

Pitts was awarded a $1,000 four-year scholarship to the college of his choice and the privilege of competing in the national oratorical contest in Buffalo, N. Y. in August.

Calmness Saves Swamped Group

ANNAPOLIS, Md., July 9 (AP)—Four couples who spent three harrowing hours in Chesapeake Bay after their boat sank were "all calm and scared."

That's how Rita McDonnell, 22, summed it up today when the shivering group from Washington reached shore after their ordeal.

Her fiance's ability to swim ashore to start a search for the eight along with their calmness probably saved their lives.

The eight thoughtfully tied themselves together to keep from drifting apart in the black and cold bay.

The nine were returning to Deale after a trip to Woodland Beach about 9:30 p. m. on the 32-foot cabin cruiser Kathleen V.

"One particularly high wave seemed to have ripped a board loose," recounted Philip M. Kloskey, 24. "Then four more waves smashed us and the boat just seemed to break up."

The group drifted about five miles for three hours. Then they were sighted and picked up by a 36-foot Ketch skippered by Harold Acly.

Meanwhile, Klosky reached shore at Felicity Cove and staggered to the home of Jack Beall. An all-out search was started by Coast Guard, Naval Academy, police and privately-owned boats.

A coast guard plane dropped flares and bonfires were lighted on the beaches to pierce the darkness.

Landslide Kills 2 Bus Passengers

REYKJAVIK, Iceland, July 9 (AP) —Passengers on a crowded bus screamed yesterday when they saw a landslide thundering toward them on a mountain road. The bus driver stepped on the gas and raced across the path of the approaching slide.

But one rock weighing about a ton caught the end of the bus and sliced off the last row of seats, killing two occupants and seriously injuring the other two.

hammer away at the Reds Monday while ground forces clashed with the Communists in bitter, isolated battles.

An armistice would contain a clause declaring a cease-fire. At the moment, the United Nations hold a strong line, nearly all of it in North Korea, and therefore would be reluctant to pull back to less favorable positions near the 38th parallel — the old boundary of North and South Korea.

The United Nations obviously were worried that the Reds might use a truce to build up their forces for another attempt to conquer Korea by force.

Reds Counterattack

The Allied setback was the stiffest action on the comparatively quiet war front.

In the air war, Allied bombers and fighter-bombers blasted the Red supply center of Sinanju, northwest of Pyongyang, and pounded North Korean air fields. One Red MIG-15 was shot down.

On the ground, AP Correspondent George McArthur reported that elements of a Red regiment counter-attacked on the Eastern front at 10 p.m. Sunday. In fighting that continued through Monday, they pushed the Allies back from a strategic ridge northeast of Yanggu.

The Reds threw heavy mortar, small arms and automatic weapons fire at the Allied troops throughout the day, forcing them to fall back.

The Eighth Army communique said there was only light action on the rest of the front.

It was estimated 40 or 60 passengers were missing.

"My throat gave me the answer to the mildness tests. My choice is Camels!"

AFTER ALL THE MILDNESS TESTS, CAMEL LEADS ALL OTHER BRANDS BY BILLIONS!
ACROSS the country, smokers have been eager to find out which cigarette best agrees with their throats. Like Robert Merrill, famed opera star, now making movies in Hollywood, they've made different mildness tests — quick tests, trick tests — and especially their own 30-day Camel tests.
After all the mildness tests, latest published figures show that Camel has its biggest lead in popularity in 25 years!
The reasons: mildness and flavor. No other cigarette has Camel's rich, full flavor, pack after pack.
And no other cigarette has this proof of mildness: In a coast-to-coast test of hundreds of people who smoked only Camels for 30 days, noted throat specialists reported not one single case of throat irritation due to smoking Camels!

FRAN WARREN, popular singing star, has chosen Camels because they taste so rich and they get along so well with her throat.
BUDDY ROGERS says, "My cigarette must agree with my throat — and Camels do just that. Camels are my steady smoke."

TEST CAMELS in your "T-Zone" (T for Throat, T for Taste). Smoke Camels for 30 days and see how mild and flavorful a cigarette can be!

Communism Or Clownery?

The clown is one of the most durable characters on record. He is always getting slapped down, and always bouncing up again, as pert as ever. Kings have been saner because of him, and Shakespeare has spoken through his mouth.

The clown is universal. Even communists laugh at him if they still dare. But there are no more clowns in Russia now, by official edict. Without even the formality of extracting a confession, the official Literary Gazette of Moscow has tried the clown and convicted him of being "actively and obstinately propagated by the bourgeois circus."

Such "cosmopolitan clownery" is, of course, counter-revolutionary. Ergo, no more clowns.

But don't stay away from the circus, advises a Budapest newspaper (Hungary and Czechoslovakia, too, have just discovered that clowns cater to warmongering capitalism). Instead of clowns, the circus will have new humorous artists who outdo any tightrope walker in their gyrations on the party line.

They will recite instructive jingles "which are on daily problems and are of a constructive character: the fight against the kulaks, the economic plan, etc." Meanwhile Czechoslovakia is abolishing the sideshow in circuses, substituting "educational" exhibits that will serve the cause of peace by making children hate "the enemy"—that is, the United States.

The communists are right in a way. No clown ever knuckled down to authority, or catered to respect for it. Oaf though he be, he is never a lickspittle. Authority is never taken as seriously as it would like to be when there are clowns around. Liquidate them, then.

But clowns are immortal and communists aren't. Clowns are immortal because they are protagonists of something in the human spirit that won't knuckle down. Give them time. They'll have the last laugh.

The Cry Of "Wolf!"

At the same time that Secretary of the Treasury Snyder announced, with undisguised pride, a $3,500,000,000 government surplus for the fiscal year 1951 he predicted that a deficit of equal size would result in the next three months.

That pessimistic attitude toward the financial future is an old Washington habit, particularly when a tax bill is being drafted, but it has been proved wrong so many times that it is understandable why Congress pays scant attention to it.

Of course, the Treasury may be sliding somewhat toward the red as the summer progresses. This is the season when general business slackens and tax receipts are correspondingly light. It is also true that the defense program is just getting into high gear and will require heavier expenditures than has recently been the case. So far, so good—or bad.

It is a fact, however, that conditions in the fall and winter are bound to be better. That certainly is the position which the Senate seems to be taking as it considers the new revenue measure.

Taxpayers, no less than the members of Congress, remember what happened this year. At the start both the President and Mr. Snyder saw a deficit of such size that additional revenues of $17,500,000,000 would be required to keep the ship of state afloat.

That the administration's estimate was later lowered to $10,000,000,000 and now stands at that figure is likely to raise the suspicion in Congress that once again much more money is being asked for than is really needed. After a time the cry of "wolf!" just does not register.

Ready For Russia

Those who hold to the belef that Russa will eventually start a war against the free nations of the world must wonder, at times, when the decision will be made and just how hostilities will get under way.

It has been a common theory that Russian planes might launch the offensive with bomb attacks upon the principal cities to terrorize the American people and lessen their will to fight. In view of recent official pronouncements on the subject there is small likelihood that such attacks need to be feared as matters now stand.

General Emmett O'Donnell of the Air Force recently told members of the Senate the strategic air command was ready to hit back instantly if this country is attacked. Other high military leaders have said the same thing and it no longer is a military secret that the nation is ready to meet any such aggression by Russia

General O'Donnell has declared that long-range bombers have been streamlined and would be on their way to the interior of Russia in a matter of hours.

Russia was willing to permit the Chinese communists to become expendable, but has no stomach for direct attack upon its own country. U.S. atomic superiority, together with the long-range bombers to deliver their loads to any part of that country, are the factors of safety so far as war, present or future, is concerned. This country is ready for any such emergency.

Taxpayers Are Human

The federal government's Bureau of Internal Revenue has been conducting a comprehensive and intensive study of the species taxpayer Americanus. Its method was to check up on his tax returns. And the results might be summed up in one sentence: Human nature in this country is still doing business at the same old stand.

That conclusion is justified on the bureau's finding that one out of four income tax returns filed in 1948 made a mistake of $2 or more—and in nine cases out of 10 the errors were in the taxpayer's favor. To put it another way, Americans are likely to be careless in dealing with their government but as a rule they aren't so careless that they lose by it. They aren't dishonest—they're just prejudiced against errors that will hurt them. It's natural.

The survey also produced some results that should surprise many people. For example, it showed that businessmen are the most likely to make errors. About half of their returns showed mistakes. So businessmen can expect to be checked more carefully in the future. The bureau defines businessmen as sole owners of farms or non-farming enterprises that are not incorporated, and professional men such as doctors or lawyers.

Just 13 years ago Mexico kicked out American petroleum developers. Now it is trying to get them back. There is a moral in this for Iranian politicians if they concentrate on the subject sufficiently long and hard.

How To Keep Well

By DR. T. R. VAN DELLEN

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Vacation Hazards

Every year we hear about accidents that occur on vacations. It is easy to drown, to eat poison berries, to contact poison ivy, or to drink raw milk that contains the undulant fever organisms. There are about 75 diseases that can be acquired from insects and other animals. After reading about the hazards, every one, including myself, considers staying home and taking a much needed rest in bed. However, most of us prefer to take a chance because we want some diversion and excitement at least once a year. By using precautions we can return from our holiday safe and sound.

Overexertion can be avoided, for example. The heart of a 50 year old does not realize that it is on vacation and the organ is just as likely to rebel when we overdo in a rowboat or on a pack trip as it would if we performed heavy chores about the house. The stomach will have a similar reaction to greasy food and sudden overloading with hot dogs, soft drinks, and coffee. In other words there is no sense in trying to catch all the fish in the lake or see all the sights on the first day or in neglecting to spare the time to eat properly.

Vacationists are not immune to auto accidents. Gawking is just as dangerous on country roads as city streets. The highways are crowded and there are thousands of stupid and bad mannered drivers to contend with. Cocktail parties are more numerous and a drunken vacationist is just as poor a driver as his counterpart in the city. Lakes, pools, rivers, and oceans claim the lives of 3,500 annually. This means that we should not be cocky in the water or overestimate our ability as swimmers. The person who remains calm when he gets into trouble has a better chance to be saved. It is not wise to swim immediately after eating and it is well to remember that water aggravates eye and ear infections as well as diseases of the sinuses and skin. Diving into unknown waters is risky; 200 individuals were killed in this way last year. Those who like to rock the boat while out fishing or canoeing should be left at home.

The local health hazards should be determined in advance. The man or woman who is going into the woods or mountains, for example, should wear clothing that offers protection against ticks and poison ivy. Journeys are hard on the skin because facilities for cleansing may be scarce. Sun and wind have an adverse effect and scorching weather encourages prickly heat. Insect bites and poison ivy are other nuisances. To overcome these difficulties it is wise to include in the traveling case cleansing creams, sun tan lotions, talc, insect repellents, and germicidal soap.

Traveling means new foods, different water, clean and dirty restaurants, and other changes. Individuals with heart disease or high blood pressure should avoid high altitudes. The healthy person encounters lightheadedness and fatigue in mountainous areas but these disorders usually are temporary and it is not necessary to dash home immediately after they develop. Motion sickness often was a draw back in days gone by but so many preparations now are available that there is no excuse to stay home.

Vacations can be fun but we must use common sense. Ample rest, adequate food, and acting your age will bring you back home with new energy and attitudes.

COLITIS

Mrs. E. writes: Is mucous colitis invariably a nervous condition?

REPLY

Not necessarily, because mucous often accompanies any type of irritation; but when the term "mucous colitis" is used as a synonym for "spastic bowel" the condition usually is considered of nervous origin. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on functional disorders of the colon (spastic bowel).

THYMUS DECREASES

Mrs. J. writes: I have been told that the thymus gland leaves the body at the age of 12. Is this correct?

REPLY

The structure doesn't leave, it just becomes smaller. The gland has performed its job and after the age of 12 to 13 (puberty) atrophies.

FLAPPING EARS

Mrs. D. writes: My daughter is very unhappy about her protruding ears. She wants to have them flattened with surgery. Is this much of an operation?

REPLY

Not for a surgeon who is skilled along this line. Procedures of this nature are more tedious and time consuming than serious. You might point out to your daughter that women are better off than men in that the hair-do can hide the ears.

WORRY AND TENSION

F. D. writes: How does worry produce high blood pressure?

REPLY

Worry sets off a chain of events beginning with the nervous system and the pituitary gland and ending with constriction of the arteries and elevation of the pressure. Some authorities also assert that a hormone elaborated by the kidneys is a factor.

Eighteen Congressmen Vote Secretly With Oil Companies On Tidelands Oil; Eleven Senators Urge Tidelands Oil Royalties Go To Education

WASHINGTON — Two groups of senators and congressmen lined up on opposite sides of the fence recently regarding one of the most vital issues in the nation—oil and education.

With the nation's schools in the most deplorable condition in our entire history, 18 members of the House of Representatives Judiciary Committee voted to turn the nation's tidelands oil over to three states and their oil companies, instead of using the proceeds for educational purposes.

On the other side of Congress, 11 senators introduced a resolution whereby the royalties from this oil, administered by the federal government, would go to aid the schools and colleges of the entire nation.

The first group—the 18 members of the Judiciary Committee—voted secretly. Even behind the closed doors of their committee they tried to avoid a rollcall vote, and if it had not been for Congressman Michael Feighan of Ohio they would have sneaked their vote by without even a show of hands.

In the senate, the 11 men who risked the wrath of the oil companies and the powerful Tidelands Oil lobby stood up and did so openly. They did not hide behind closed doors. Their names are: Lister Hill of Alabama, who initiated the idea; his Alabama colleague, John Sparkman; Wayne Morse of Oregon, Republican; Charles Tobey of New Hampshire, also Republican; and Democrats Benton of Connecticut, Douglas of Illinois, Humphrey of Minnesota, Chavez of New Mexico, Neely of West Virginia, Kefauver of Tennessee, and Hennings of Missouri.

Reversing The Supreme Court

What happened inside the House Judiciary Committee has not been published, but this column has obtained a list of the congressmen voting for the three states and the oil companies.

It should be noted that the Supreme Court twice has ruled that the submerged oil lands alongside the coast of the United States belong to the entire 48 states, not to California, Texas and Louisiana alone. This is on the theory that, under the constitution, the navigable waters of the United States belong to the federal government, not the individual states.

However, the Tidelands Oil lobby, seeking to reverse the Supreme Court, has introduced legislation turning these submerged oil lands back to three states, and was so successful that President Truman used the veto.

The other day, in an attempt to reverse both the president and the court, Congressman Ed Gossett of Texas, who is about to retire from congress, demanded that the Judiciary Committee vote again on the lobby's Tidelands Bill. No wildcat promoter ever worked faster to stake a drill site than did Gossett to get this special-interest bill through the committee. Gossett didn't even want to give other members time to read the committee hearings.

This brought stormy protests from Congressmen Celler of New York, Fleighan of Ohio and Machrowicz of Michigan. But to no avail. Gossett had the votes and he was roaring for action.

"You can debate this on the House floor if you want to," insisted the Texas congressman. "Let's get to a vote."

"But how can we vote intelligently if we don't know what this is all about?" objected Michigan's Machrowicz. "There are eight new members on the committee and I'm one of them. You ought to give us a chance at least to read the hearings, which I understand are still at the printers."

"On a matter as vital as this involving the release of public oil reserves to private interests, we had better go slow," warned Ohio's Feighan. "This involves international as well as national security. With Russia threatening to grab control of the Iran oil fields, there is all the more reason why the federal government should keep control of these valuable deposits in our own country."

Gossett impatiently agreed to postpone a vote until the next morning. Meantime, the printed hearings were distributed a few hours before the showdown. Some members still insisted that they didn't have time to digest the 1,200 pages of testimony, but Gossett adamantly shouted "vote!"

Secret List Of Voters

By this time, however, some of Gossett's supporters were beginning to get cold feet. They wanted to vote for the oil companies, but they didn't want to be so recorded, even in a secret meeting, because of possible leaks to the press. A motion was therefore made for a "voice" vote.

But Feighan jumped to his feet. "We should at least have a show of hands, so we will know how many are voting for and against the bill," he demanded.

When this was done, Chairman Celler counted 18 members for handing Tidelands oil back to three states, with 7 against it. Since a "hand," or division, vote is merely counted and not itemized member by member, there is no breakdown in the secret record of how each congressman votes. However, this column is able to report that the congressmen who voted to hand over the nation's tidelands oil to three states and the oil companies were:

Democrats: Walter of Pennsylvania, who has both Lafayette and Lehigh Colleges in his district, but who placed the oil lobby ahead of his district; Jones of North Carolina, who has Davidson College, Queens College, Lenoir Rhyne College, Lees-McRae College and Johnson C. Smith University, a negro institution, all in his district; Chelf of Kentucky, who has Lindsey-Wilson and Campbellsville College in his district; Wilson of Texas; Willis of Louisiana; Bryson of South Carolina; Forrester of Georgia; and Gossett.

Republicans: Fellows of Maine, who has the University of Maine in his district; Reed of Illinois; Graham of Pennsylvania; Goodwin of Massachusetts, who has Tufts College in his district; Boggs of Delaware, who has the University of Delaware in his district; Crumpacker of Indiana, who has Notre Dame in his district; Thompson of Michigan; Hillings of California; McCullough of Ohio; and Bakewell of Missouri.

Those voting against the oil companies were: Celler of New York; Lane of Massachusetts; Feighan of Ohio; Rodino of New Jersey (by proxy); Bryne of New York and Ramsay of West Virginia, all Democrats; and Case of New Jersey, Republican.

Two others present, Machrowicz of Michigan, Democrat, and Keating of New York, Republican, indicated opposition to the oil companies, but refused to vote because they weren't given time to study the hearings.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Peace Is Difficult

The problems of peace are always more complex than the problems of war. From the war between the states (1861-1865) until 1914, the United States was far from the problems of war. The slight Spanish-American war did not affect the economy of the nation or bring about social or political changes.

During the past 37 years, the problems of war have perturbed the American people and have, in reality, effected a severe economic, social and political revolution, the magnitude of which is not yet historically ascertainable. The fact remains that the fundamental economic measure of this revolution, the 16th amendment to the constitution, was adopted in 1913, almost as a prelude to events about to occur. This amendment gave Congress the power "to lay and collect taxes on incomes, from whatever source derived, without apportionment among the several states, and without regard to any census or enumeration."

In a word, it gave Congress the authority to levy an income tax on the individual citizen, which in turn came to be a tax to redistribute wealth, and is now a tax to siphon off the earnings of the people in pursuit of fiscal policies of the government.

Without the income tax, the corporation tax and similar measures, the government could not have financed three wars, World War I , World War II, and the continuing, unnamed war with Soviet Russia, of which the Korean war is a battle. It is this enormous revenue that permits close to a $100,000,000,000 budget, including vast and often profligate aid to other countries. But these taxes are also reducing the savings of the American people and are producing vast social changes, such as lowering the "white-collar" class into a proletariat and the gradual elimination of the small businessman.

Thirty-seven years of war have also had the effect, to be redundant, of developing a needlessly vast Federal bureaucracy, men and women often employed temporarily for war purposes, but whom the government will not dismiss either for political reasons or to avoid swelling the number of unemployed.

In line with these necessities, it has seemed to be advantageous to keep young men and women longer at school than they need to be and it has been necessary to subsidize, at times, idleness and unemployment. In a word, war has wrought many changes unimaginable to the citizen who looked upon the United States in any year from 1865 to 1913.

The most damaging result of war is the difficulty of achieving peace. In terms of history, World War I is still unsettled, for the central problem of Europe remains Germany, its political and economic structure and its place in the family of nations. As for World War II, there is not even a peace treaty to bespeak its terminus.

One major aim of World War I, as expressed by Woodrow Wilson, was the organization of a parliament of nations as an improvement upon the balance of power and the concert of Europe. The breakdown of the organization of the world even prior to 1914 was inevitable with the emergence of the United States, Germany and Japan as greater powers than Great Britain, France, Holland, Belgium and the Austro-Hungarian Empire. In World War II, this was complicated by the emergence of Soviet Russia and her various satellite countries as the largest and strongest empire in the world.

The League of Nations could not have been anything but a transition from the tight concert of Europe to such a world as we see today. The United Nations has not yet proved itself in any respect, and only time or the next general war will determine its value. Meanwhile, a competing Federation of States exists and functions in the Soviet World, supported by Russian military force.

The effort to establish a peace as a result of the Korean truce is frightening to the countries outside the Russian orbit because the initiative is with Stalin and no one can even guess how he will use it. He can use it for war as well as peace. He can use it to prolong the "constant war," that is, the weakening of the economy of the United States so that the Western Powers will lack the strength, and even the will, to resist.

This is historically a time for caution and great wisdom. Russia plays not for permanent peace, but for a one world directed by the Kremlin.

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Time was in American politics when less than twelve months before the national political conventions you could tell the trend of the party platforms and the probable candidates.

Today the world situation vitally affects the trend and can change it a dozen times between now and the days when the conventions meet.

But there are underlying factors in American party politics which never change and these fundamentals give a clue to what may happen.

Fundamental number one is that no party ever reaches out for an unknown but popular personality unless the party is in a desperate condition and has to take a long, long chance on a well-known name.

Thus General Eisenhower could be the Republican or the Democratic nominee depending on how desperate the leaders of either party really feel about their chances for victory.

Fundamental number two is that no political party likes to reach out for a personality who doesn't know the party organizations throughout the country or who doesn't know the party mechanism well enough to handle in a satisfactory manner the appointments to office with rewards to the politically deserving workers.

Pressure Favors Truman

This is but another way of saying that the pressure to renominate President Truman will grow as the officeholders see in his possible election the least possible danger to their own continuance in office. Likewise this means that in the Republican party a man like Senator Taft is a better bet for the party workers than a man like Eisenhower who isn't familiar with the way political parties work from the inside.

Fundamental number three is that the independent groups of voters who have so much to say in the final campaign itself have little to say about who shall be nominated. Delegate choosing is a technical, political business. The chances in both parties of nominating a man who has been through the political mill are greater than the selection of an unknown. By "unknown" is meant a figure not previously involved in political activities. There are exceptions such as the nomination of Wendell Willkie in 1940 by the Republicans and there can be exceptions again, and just as the Willkie nomination was a means of defeating Dewey and Taft and Vandenberg that year, so Eisenhower's name could be used in 1952 as a means of trying to block Taft. Messrs. Dewey and Stassen have openly declared for Eisenhower but this means politically only that they will have a say in the Eisenhower camp if the General isn't nominated and a compromise is selected, or a voice in his campaign if he is nominated.

At the moment the chances are better than even that the Republicans will not select Eisenhower if the fortunes of the Democrats seem to be at a low ebb a year from now. The Republican organization men would rather take a chance on Senator Taft. If a deadlock develops in the convention, some other senator may come to the front as a compromise—Knowland of California or Lodge of Massachusetts.

In the Democratic party, Truman is the logical man to defend his own record. But the members of this family do not want him to run. He too knows that while the new constitutional amendment technically doesn't apply to him the people may be persuaded to believe that a moral barrier to more than two terms has been erected.

The same arguments that militate against choosing an "unknown" in politics for the Republican nominee can be said to militate against selecting General Eisenhower as the Democratic nominee.

Wants Vindication

Mr. Truman, of course, would like to retire in a blaze of glory. He wants vindication. He can get it by selecting the standard bearer of the party and campaigning for him so that a victory for his choice would be vindication of the present administration. Who is the strongest man from the Truman viewpoint? The answer is someone who is friendly to him, someone who has a thorough knowledge of Democratic politics, someone who has prestige nationally, someone who will not kick out the officeholders in key spots though he would have his own cabinet, someone with a devotion to the international policies of the Truman Administration. Such a man is Fred Vinson of Kentucky, former chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, former Secretary of the Treasurer, former economic stabilizer during World War II, former court of appeals judge, and now Chief Justice of the United States. He is not a candidate and would prefer to stay on the bench the rest of his life. He would have to be drafted. But so was Justice Hughes for the Republican nomination in 1916. Justice Vinson is a natural for the Democrats if Mr. Truman chooses not to run.

Matter Of Fact

The First Offensive

AVON, CONN.

Here in Connecticut, in the green peace of a farm in a quiet valley, is not a bad place to take stock after a long expedition of inquiry in Europe and the Middle East. In this stock taking, two points especially strike this reporter. The first is the brilliant success of our venture in Korea, which has now been proven by the desire of the Masters of the Kremlin to cry quits there.

The real gain in Korea has not been local; indeed it could be most clearly seen in Europe. In Korea, in fact, we totally disrupted a Soviet program of world conquest that seemed, only a year ago, to be almost unbeatable. There is no doubt at all that the Soviet empire would now be absorbing the first important fragments of a disarmed Western world, if Korea had not put an end to what may be called the Louis Johnson era of American and European policy making.

Second, however, the Masters of the Kremlin have now radically adapted their tactics to the changed world situation. And there are a great many reasons to doubt whether the Western leaders are any better prepared to meet these new Soviet tactics, than they were prepared for the sudden challenge of the Korean aggression.

Unpreparedness Illustrated

The most vivid illustration of this Western unpreparedness is the crisis in Iran, whose inner seriousness is not fully acknowledged, even today, either in London or in Washington. The probable course of events in Iran is now lamentably predictable.

The British and American policy makers will go on hoping that the irrational Iranian Prime Minister, Dr. Mohammed Mossadegh, will somehow come to "see reason," until the expropriation of the British oil interest is a fully accomplished fact. The British will then retaliate by applying economic sanctions, cutting off the oil revenues on which the Iranian government lives. The chief result will be to stop the pay of the already feeble Iranian Army and police. And with the solo serious opposition thus conveniently removed, the Communist Tudeh party, the only hard organization in Iran, will thereupon seize power from the distracted Iranian nationalists.

This outcome is not yet inevitable, of course. Dr. Mossadegh and his friends may yet come to their senses, although they have ostentatiously refused to do so thus far. Or the Americans and British may jointly succeed in persuading the Shah of Iran to give his country the only kind of government that makes sense — a tough reform regime on the Turkish pattern of Mustapha Kemal Pasha — although the British alone have already tried this and failed.

British To Get Support

Yet the likelihood of a grave outcome in Iran is proven by the private understanding between London and Washington, that if the Tudeh party in fact begins to take over, the British will receive American support for a troop movement into the southern Iranian oil region. Unhappily, the chances are that it will then be too late for strong measures to save anything from the wreck.

The truth is that since the beginning of the Iranian crisis, the Western powers have been behind the game, and the Masters of the Kremlin have made the running in Iran through the Tudeh. For example, when this reporter saw Dr. Mossadegh in April, Mossadegh had not the faintest intention of proceeding to take over the British oil properties immediately. But the wave of strikes and disorders organized by and Tudeh then drove Mossadegh to immediate action. And so the British and American policy makers were brusquely deprived of "the time that would heal all things," which they had been smugly counting on.

The further truth is that we cannot comfort ourselves because the Masters of the Kremlin will need some years to exploit Iran's oil for their own benefit. The simple loss of the Iranian oil resource will knock galley west the precarious equilibrium of the British economy, which has been achieved by such bitter self-denial. (How to cover the expected new British dollar deficit is, in fact, already being discussed in London and Washington.)

Fire Destroys Two Box Cars

One Baltimore and Ohio box car was destroyed and another partially ruined by fire yesterday afternoon at the repair tracks of the railroad's backshops on Offutt Street.

Central Fire Department and South End Company answered the call and had the flames under control within a half hour. A spokesman for the railroad said the cause of the flames was undetermined and damage was unestimated.

The spokesman continued to say the cars were used for storage or transporting materials within the shops area. He added such type cars are usually destroyed and salvageable parts recovered for future use. The fire was reported at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon and quick action of firemen kept the blaze from spreading, railroad men in the area stated.

FIRE DESTROYS BOX CAR—Two Cumberland Fire Companies were called yesterday afternoon to extinguish a blaze which completely destroyed a box car owned by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad. The fire occurred about 5 o'clock at the repair tracks of the railroad's backshops on Offutt Street. The box car can be seen above after Central Fire Company and South End Firemen brought the blaze under control. A spokesman for the railroad said the cause was not determined. The car was empty at the time. Another box car was slightly damaged by the afternoon blaze.

Reports Conflict

"The Potomac Edison says one thing; Mr. Hitchcock another. The housewives say one thing; Mr. Hitchcock another," Long continued.

"I think Mr. Hitchcock has received some justifiable criticism and has also received some unjustifiable criticism. It's up to the Mayor and Council to make a decision. All I'm after is results."

Buchholtz angrily jumped back in at this juncture with the statement: "Either the Mayor and Council is going to run the city or the departments."

"That's a pretty harsh statement," Long answered. "I know I run the Police and Fire Departments."

It was here that Long asked Hitchcock if he could have a report for the council by Wednesday. Hitchcock said "Yes," but Buchholtz stated he doubted if the smoke engineer could work up an "intelligent report" in 48 hours. Hitchcock said he could do it within that time.

When the ordinance was under fire at the May 21 meeting, Hitchcock reported he did not need 30 days to present his report, adding the ordinance was "sufficiently adequate" and that the proof of this was to be found in the dustfall readings and in the work the smoke abatement office is doing.

Local Post Office Receipts Show Fiscal Year Increase

Receipts of the Cumberland Post Office during the fiscal year ending June 30 show an increase for the same period ending in 1950, according to a report issued yesterday by Postmaster Thomas F. Conlon.

During the fiscal year ending June 30, 1950, a total of $369,280.82 was received in postal receipts. For the fiscal year just ended the total was $381,108.72.

Conlon explained that receipts consisted of sales of postage stamps, newspaper mailings, third-class mailings, box rent and miscellaneous receipts.

A large increase was shown in the value of money orders handled by the Post Office. In the fiscal year ending June 30, 1950, there were 103,766 money orders issued with $92,853 paid out on orders presented here. For the fiscal year just ended there were 99,108 money orders issued with $105,308 being paid here. Conlon remarked that despite the drop in the number of money orders the money value of them was much higher.

U. S. Savings Bond sales showed a decrease in the fiscal year just ended over the previous year. In 1950 there were $77,721.75 worth of bonds sold while in the fiscal year ending June 30, 1951, there were $69,793.75 worth sold.

Conlon commented that the postal savings handled by the office are slqwly declining from former years. There were 492 depositors with $375,680 on deposit in 1950, while during the fiscal year the deposit dropped to 450 with $340,148 to their account.

The special delivery service report shows 38,694 letters and articles delivered during the fiscal year ending in 1950, while 39,256 were delivered the past fiscal year. There were 3,904 manpower hours used in delivering these articles in 1950 while 3,924 manpower hours were used in 1951.

Mail carrier manpower hours during 1950 amounted to 70,116, while in 1951 they dropped to 62,554. Much of the decrease is attributed to the curtailment of mail deliveries during the past fiscal year, Conlon said.

Clerical manpower hours also dropped from 75,561 in 1950 to 74,961 in 1951. Conlon also noted the clerical manpower hours have dropped steadily during the past few years.

It is anticipated there will be a further reduction in clerical manpower hours due to the effect of the new money order system. The new system has reduced the volume of accounting procedures in Post Offices, Conlon pointed out.

Conlon said it is anticipated that business at the Post Office during the current fiscal year will be on the same level as the year just completed.

A five-day jail sentence and fines aggregating $75 and costs were imposed yesterday morning on Eugene A. Wolford, 23, of Augusta, W. Va., who was involved in a five-vehicle crash Saturday night on Route 50, east of Romney, W. Va.

State Police Sgt. L. W. Kelley reported Wolford was driving west when he turned left across the highway at the Old Log Cabin and ran into the path of an eastbound coal truck.

The truck operator, police said, apparently lost control of the machine due to his heavy cargo and hit the Wolford car, two other automobiles and a parked truck. Considerable damage was caused.

The ceremony was performed before the mantel, which was banked with rhodendrum and decorated with bouquets of pink roses and delphenium. Arrangements of roses, delphenium and rhodendrum were also used throughout the house.

The bride was attired in a lilac silk organza gown, fashioned with matching jacket and ballerina length skirt. She wore an arrangement of pink roses and babybreath in the curls at the back of her head.

IS THAT A FACT! by Ches Peake

A FORTUNE FROM THE THIMBLE. The first thimble ever seen in England was made in London some 200 years ago by a metal worker named John Lofting. He founded a great English fortune on its manufacture. The thimble was first worn on the thumb. Since it was shaped like a bell, it was natural that the first thimble should have been called a "thumb-bell." Over the years, its name has softened into "thimble."

A NOTE FROM THE CHINESE. The oldest bank note probably in existence dates from the year 1399 B.C., and was issued by the Chinese government. It bears the name of the imperial bank, date, and number of issue, signature of a mandarin, along with a list of punishments inflicted for forgery of notes.

IT IS ALSO A FACT THAT . . . the YELLOW PAGES of your Telephone Directory save you time and trouble. Suppose, for example, you've forgotten the name of a firm, but know the address. Just look in the YELLOW PAGES, find the right heading, and presto, you've got the firm you want. Works just as well, too, when you know the name, but not the address. Use the YELLOW PAGES of your Telephone Directory often. You'll find it—pays!

HOLLYWOOD, July 9—(INS)—Like the idea of Susan Hayward as a suffragette yet?

Pretty red-haired Susie has been pencilled in by Darryl Zanuck to star in "Star In The West," Richard Emery Robert's new book, which won't be out until fall.

The author tells a fiction story based on the career of his mother, Lucretia Emery, who gave up a life of ease in Brooklyn years ago to become a lady sheriff in Arizona and blaze the trails there for votes for women.

Lamar Trotti, who is writing the screenplay, describes it as a western with a feminist slant, plus action and comedy.

William Holden

Mary Pickford and Buddy Rogers are daily visitors at the Louvre exhibit of Toulouse Lautrec, getting atmosphere for Mary's Paris picture, "Young Widow."

The story is an original by Mary about the private life of a turn-of-the-century can-can dancer — the type made famous in Lautrec's paintings. All financing for the picture is out of Pickford's pocketbook.

She and Buddy couldn't be happier than they are in Paris. It particularly seemed like home to them when her niece, Gwynne Ornstein, and her husband came on from home to visit them.

• — • — •

Hear this now—all you girls who think there aren't enough men to go around and that those who aren't marriage minded:

Ray Walker, well-known Los Angeles car dealer and head man of Walker Productions, is launching a TV series, "I Want To Get Married," in which bachelors will be interviewed swearing first they are on the level about marriage—and then saying what type of gal they want and in what circumstances they can support her.

The board of directors includes Writer Steve Fisher, Robert Reid and Sidney Harris.

Has anybody thought to inquire what possible TV rules there may be about even the most honest marriage bureau show?

Shorties: Bill Holden, who is in the big chips now, had to get his business manager's okay before he could have a swimming pool.

Gary Cooper, not too happy back in his old home, may buy a new place or at least lease one without the memories of his happy days with Rocky.

Lloyd Nolan says he knows the father of a teen-age girl with a real dope problem—getting the dope she goes with out of the parlor before midnight.

Mala Powers is recording romantic readings of Keats, Shelley and Byron to be sent to the boys overseas who admire Keats, Shelley and Byron.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

June Haver, still friendly with the family of her late fiance, Dr. John Duzik, will visit them in Wyoming this summer.

When Richard Arlen starts "Green Gold of Nevada," it will be the 150th picture he has made on the Paramount lot.

Tony Bartley, off to London to film scenes for his TV series, is keeping his fingers crossed he will be back here before Deborah Kerr has her baby.

Every time Peggy Dow starts a new picture she gets a big bunch of white roses and gladioli from her agents with the same card, "Good Luck. Harold Rose and Maury Tannen." Peggy broke down and wept when the same flowers and the same card came to her starting day on the Goldwyn lot. Tannen died two weeks ago.

Ouch! Robert Sherwood wants $150,000 for his original story and screenplay, "Chippy"—the first he has ever written directly for the screen.

Jarmila Novotna, whose marvelous voice was lost in the "cuts" on "The Great Caruso," may get a real chance to sing in "The Student Prince," Joe Pasternak's picture for MGM.

Eleanor Powell brought orchids when she came to see her former protegee, Peggy Ryan, at Ciro's.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

With an eye to the fall silhouette, keep a close control on your figure this summer! Switch to cool, sheer fabrics.

SECRETS OF CHARM

By JOHN ROBERT POWERS

Said the first model, "There is just one word for next season's fashions."

"Right," agreed the second, "and that word is curvy. What a sad awakening it's going to be for the gals who've given up their girdles and hip-trimming stints this summer."

"Curves that looked scrumptious will just look bumptious!" acknowledged the party of the first part.

Since the pictures of fall fashions that you'll soon be seeing in your favorite magazines have long been in work, you can take these sage commentaries of Powers models with more than a grain of salt.

Your Fall Curves

When fashions are curvaceous, they accent every natural curve that you have. They accent even a gently - rounded curve to such a degree that it looks like a caricature, and while caricatures amuse, they seldom win compliments.

Don't let the sultry weather tempt you into neglecting your hip - trimming calisthenics. And don't give up the restraining, figure reminders you receive through a proper foundation. You can depend on them to help keep your figure disciplined as you will want it to be when you slip into your new, fall fashions. Listen to the advice of one of the stylists on my staff:

"For cool comfort in summer combined with effortless restraint, get yourself fitted with pantie girdles. And fitted is the word — just as with any other foundation. They must be snug through the waist, hip, and leg, yet never constricting. Comfort and ease of movement are their special reason for being; proper fitting assures you of these benefits.

"For junior and average figures you can find them in the sheerest, rainbow - hued, elasticized fabrics with one - way stretch front and back panels that refine the entire hip girth superbly.

New For Large Figures

"For heavier and more mature figures, this year a number of models are available with the same hip-slimming and thigh - trimming features as girdles, but with the freedom which only a well - fitted pantie girdle can give. Some are so cleverly designed that you can depend on them for slim lines under a dress or suit as well as under casual clothes. The degree of support depends on the weight of the fabric and elastic, but even in the larger sizes you can find them in cool-weight fabrics. Look for the models with low-cut waistlines to accomodate long-line brassieres. They're attractively designed with embroidery and lace insets.

"If your size requires a pantie girdle with a zipper, make it a habit to keep the lower hook fastened — this will prevent costly rips.

"With an eye to your fall beauty and your beauty right now under slacks and play clothes . . . wear your foundation always as a healthy posture and beauty amulet!"

our history have been thus approached by an occupant of the White House. None have, let us say.

He does add — fairly, I think — that the Democratic party faces a tough road if it cannot swing Eisenhower into line. H. S. The man I was speaking of at the start of this piece — the man who "knows them both" — seems to have a lot in common with Mr. Huie.

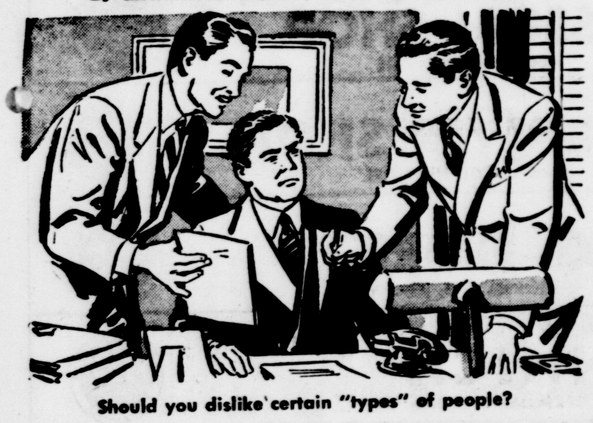
Mirror Of Your Mind

By LAWRENCE GOULD, Consulting Psychologist



Should you dislike certain "types" of people?

Answer: No. This is a form of mental laziness, besides being unrealistic. No one you will ever meet will be completely "typical" of the race, sex or profession he or she belongs to, and assuming in advance that this will be so will prevent your making any real adjustment to him or her. As a writer, I have been dealing with editors for many years, yet I never knew two editors who were exactly alike or required precisely the same approach. If you will keep an open mind, you will find that the same is true of "bosses" "landlords," "big brass," "artists,' or whatever supposed "type" you wish to mention.

Will bomb drills make children neurotic?

Answer: There is some real danger of this, though it will depend upon the attitudes of parents and teachers. The idea of an atomic bomb as such — or the idea of death, for that matter — is too remote from the average child's experience to have much emotional effect upon him. The one thing that will throw him into panic is to see the people he depends on for protection frightened or apprehensive. A child whose parents and teachers treat the possibility of air raids coolly will take bomb drill no more seriously than he does fire drill if he never has seen a conflagration.

Do sports help mental patients?

Answer: Yes, says Dr. John Eisele Davis in an article in Mental Hygiene (New York). An important factor in the rehabilitation of a mental patient is to keep him active and competitive sports seem to be even more useful than direct vocational training, which may arouse both resistance and the patient's doubt of his own powers. Games like basketball and baseball in which losing does not involve serious consequences (as job failure would) give him a chance to regain self - confidence without realizing what is happening to him, and so to become better able to face looking for employment when the time comes.

ON THE LINE

By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK, July 9 (INS) — A man who is very close not only to President Truman but also to Gen. Eisenhower, Gov. Dewey's nominee for the White House on the Republican ticket, is assuring intimates that the GOP has "cut itself away" from the general, and Ike will run on the Democratic ticket.

He says no more than this, but William Bradford Huie goes into considerable detail on the question in the current Cosmopolitan, in a piece he calls "Truman's plan to make Eisenhower president."

Huie figures it is cut and dried. He asserts that Gen. George Marshall played a role in urging Eisenhower not to yield to Republican draft attempts in 1948, on the ground that he would have been bucking a commander-in-chief friendly to the military.

"But," writes Huie, "if Truman chooses Eisenhower (in 1952) how simple everything becomes! Truman appears at the Democratic convention as the unchallenged leader and elder statesman; he announces that he, too, may 'fade away'; he declares that the perilous situation demands Eisenhower; the convention riots in sweet unity; and few Americans would bet against Eisenhower's election.

"In what more certain fashion could Truman 'demonstrate his statesmanship' and 'unify the country'? How could Republicans like Thomas E. Dewey effectively oppose Eisenhower when they are already on record as favoring him for the Republican nomination?

"In what more dramatic fashion could Democratic office-holders assure themselves of continued public service? And how could Eisenhower appear reluctant to accept the mantle of his commander-in-chief?

"At the Republican convention, scheduled two weeks before the Democrats', there may be a move to draft Eisenhower. A Gallup Poll shows 38 per cent of all Republicans favor him. But why should Eisenhower accept the nomination of the Republican party, in which powerful factions would oppose him, and then run against Truman, if he can have it from Truman himself — the nomination of a united Democratic party?

"Here is a conclusion difficult to challenge: In 1952 Truman may not have the power to prevent Eisenhower from becoming president; but he almost certainly will have the power to make Eisenhower president."

Huie sees the Republicans hopelessly split because they have been so long without the sealing aid of a party member in the White House. "Truman can nominate Eisenhower at the Democratic convention," he writes, "and all the Democratic factions can whoop it up in 'unity.' Sen. Hubert Humphrey, of Minnesota, can embrace Sen. Tom Connally of Texas in one wild melee of good fellowship.

"But if Dewey nominates Eisenhower at the Republican convention the applause he gets from Capehart of Indiana and Dirksen of Illinois and Taft of Ohio will be short of deafening."

Huie says — unfairly, I think — that Eisenhower "went considerably out of his way" to recall, in his memoirs, that the president offered to help him get anything he wanted, including the White House, during the President's trip to Europe in 1945. That seemed to me to be very legitimate memoiring at the time, and still does. Not many men in

Korean Settlement Now Can Change Presidential Picture

Peace Would Help Democrats Campaign

By STEWART ALSOP
(Special from Washington)

Obviously a settlement in Korea, if there is one, will have a profound effect on the course of next year's political battle. Unless the Democratic professionals are suffering from mass self-delusion, it will greatly strengthen Harry S. Truman, making him, if he runs, a really formidable candidate. A Korean settlement will correspondingly weaken Sen. Robert A. Taft (who is rather obviously dismayed at the turn of events) and Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

The most intriguing question is the effect of an end to the fighting in Korea on the fortunes of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower. Here it is worth recalling a conversation between MacArthur and Eisenhower which took place during the latter's trip to Japan in May, 1946. Then, as now, Eisenhower was a leading Presidential possibility. Questioned by MacArthur on this point, Eisenhower replied that he had no intention of running.

"That's right, Ike," said MacArthur, "just keep saying you don't want it, and you'll get it."

Acts Like Aspirant

The story is interesting partly because MacArthur himself, despite disclaimers, has been acting remarkably like a Presidential aspirant. It is interesting also because a Korean settlement is likely to increase the pressure on Eisenhower to run, as the man to beat Truman. It is therefore time to ask whether Eisenhower "wants it," and whether he can "get it." The answers below are subject to change, but they are the best now available.

As for the first point, his supporters at least state with a convincing assurance that, under certain conditions, Eisenhower will definitely accept the Republican nomination, if it is offered. One condition is that there should be no political strings attached. A second is that the Republican platform should conform with his views on foreign policy. And a third condition is that under no circumstances will he jeopardize his role as North Atlantic Treaty Organization commander in order to get the nomination.

For rather obvious reasons, the story has been sedulously spread abroad by Democrats that Eisenhower it a Democrat at heart, and is really interested in running as a Democrat. But the Eisenhower Republicans claim to have been reassured categorically on this point; Eisenhower will not seek or accept the Democratic nomination.

Two Main Factors

The question remains whether Eisenhower can "get it"—whether the nomination of a man who has never publicly stated his political affiliation, and who is serving abroad in a wholly non-political post, can be organized. There are two main factons of Eisenhower organizers.

One faction, of course, is led by New York's Gov. Thomas E. Dewey. Dewey is less of a key figure in the Eisenhower movement than is generally supposed. Dewey is the titular leader of his party, but since his 1948 defeat he has had little nation - wide influence. Moreover, Dewey is not personally close to Eisenhower, a fact underlined by his decision to go to Asia, instead of to Europe, where his candidate is.

The leader of the other, less public Eisenhower faction is Pennsylvania's Sen. James Duff, who is in regular communication with the general. There is, of course, no love lost between Dewey and Duff. They are allies in this matter, but allies by convenience and at arms' length. Duff has already enlisted former Sen. Harry Darby of Kansas in the Eisenhower cause. Darby will probably become the leading public Eisenhower organizer, lending the desired home - state, Mid - Western background. But the astute Duff is and will remain an important figure behind the scenes.

Heavy Backing Seen

Heavy financial backing as well as shrewd political management will certainly be available for the Eisenhower movement. But the great obstacle remains—while Eisenhower is in Europe, Taft's efficient organizers are hard at work to capture the nomination in advance. Clearly, a statement from Eisenhower on his Republican allegiance and availability would help, and it has been reported that Eisenhower will soon make such a statement.

Yet this is extremely unlikely, simply because Eisenhower knows that anything of the sort would almost wholly destroy his usefulness in Europe. And on this point Eisenhower Republicans have another reason for anxiety. Eisenhower is expected to return to this country, as a civilian, by next March or April. Even this would be dangerously late in the day. But his backers now fear that Eisenhower, who is deeply dedicated to the goal of European defense, may delay his return even beyond next spring, in order to see the European defense project really under way. In this case the task of organizing his nomination would become truly herculean.

Yet on balance it seems clear that a Korean settlement will greatly increase the likelihood of Eisenhower's nomination, if only because it will simultaneously strengthen Truman and hurt the Taft-MacArthur wing of the Republican party. A great many Republican professionals are by no means eager to nominate a man whose political views are an unknown quantity. But they are even less eager to see their party go down to its sixth straight defeat.

Compared to Premium-priced Gasolines

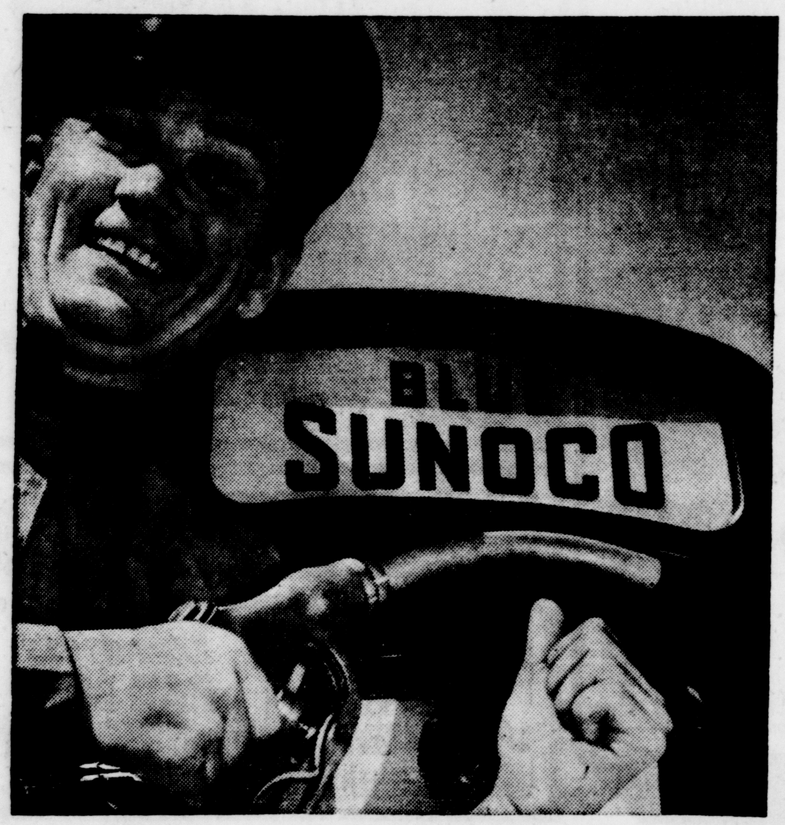
HIGH-TEST BLUE SUNOCO



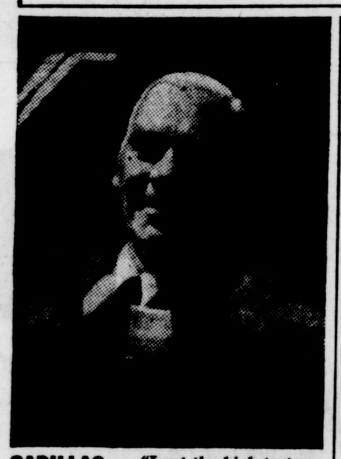
MOST MILES PER GALLON

Official surveys show that Blue Sunoco has a "higher specific gravity" (weighs more) than practically all premium-priced gasolines. And, as automotive engineers know, this extra weight means extra energy... more mileage. Careful road tests showed that, because of this extra weight and energy, the mileage from Blue Sunoco was unsurpassed by any premium-priced gasolines.

2¢ SAVING PER GALLON

High-test Blue Sunoco sells at regular gas price, which is usually 2 cents a gallon below premium-priced gasolines. In spite of its low price, in many ways Blue Sunoco gives you more value because of its outstanding balance of such qualities as anti-rust, quick-starting, anti-stalling, clean burning, long mileage and high-test action.

HERE'S WHAT BLUE SUNOCO USERS SAY:



CADILLAC ... "I get the high-test action I like from my car with Blue Sunoco. And for miles per gallon, it's tops, too."—W. Miles Carey, Jr., New York, N. Y.

Turner Knocks Out Fusari In Eleven Rounds

Philadelphia Welter Wins 22nd Straight

PHILADELPHIA, July 9 (AP) — Unbeaten Gil Turner, sensational young Philadelphia welterweight, scored his 22nd straight and most impressive victory tonight as he knocked out the veteran Charley Fusari of Irvington, N. J., in 58 seconds of the 11th round. Turner weighed 142½ and Fusari 147.

The 20-year-old Turner vindicated the faith of his fans, who backed him into surprising favoritism over the ringwise New Jersey Italian, by winning as he pleased. The youngster gave Fusari one of the worst beatings of his career, closing both his eyes and leaving his face a bloody pulp.

The Associated Press score card showed Turner had won nine of the 10 rounds preceding the knockout. In smashing his way into boxing's big league. Turner chopped Fusari to pieces with a rapid fire left jab and pulverizing right cross.

The actual knockdown came when Turner caught Fusari with a left hook that staggered the veteran, and then sent him reeling to the canvas for one of the few times in his career with an overhand right on the button.

Dauthuille Wins

MONTREAL, July 9 (AP)—Laurent Dauthuille of France justified the 9 to 5 odds favoring him tonight as he pounded out a one-sided ten-round decision over Tony Janiro of Youngstown, Ohio, in an outdoor fight.

Dauthuille, holding nearly a six-pound advantage at 157¼, took command of the scrap at the start and held the veteran Ohioan at bay except in the third round. Janiro weighed 151½.

Hairston Is Loser

SCRANTON, Pa., July 9 (AP)—Rocky Castellani, of Luzerne, Pa., scored a stuning upset win over Eugene Hairston in a 10 round feature here tonight. A crowd of 5,331 paid aproximately $16,000 to see Castellani take a split decision from the New Yorker and fifth ranking middleweight. Both fighters weighed 158.

Castellani had been idle the better part of a year with an arm injury, taking on only a few opponents to keep in trim.

Kiwanis Tops B'nai B'rith

Murray Is Injured As Rotary Bows, 4-3

Two close games marked play in the Hot Stove Baseball League yesterday with the Kiwanis Club being returned the victor over B'nai B'rith in a night tilt halted by rain in the top of the 6th, 8-2, while on Rotarians dropped a 4-3 decision to the Exchange Club.

Lefty Frankie Ritter turned in a one-hit performance for the Kiwanians and that blow was credited to Wilson. Conroy of B'nai B'rith yielded only four hits and fanned nine.

Bob Russell turned in two nice catches in right field for the Rotarians.

Exchange was forced to play seven innings to eke out a decision over Rotary.

Rotary suffered a severe blow in the first inning when its ace pitcher, Lefty Wayne Murray tore a tendon in his pitching arm in the first inning and was forced to retire in favor of Don Paye who finished the game. Liller hurled for the winners. The score:

Johnny Musser Wins M-A Golf Tournament

BALTIMORE, July 9—(AP)—Johnny Musser, 34-year-old Allview professional, today won the 25th annual Middle Atlantic Professional Golfers Association championship tournament played over the 6,624 yard Woodholme Country Club course.

The Ellicott City pro sizzled in with 34-36-70 in the afternoon to cap his morning performance of 33-38-71 for a five-under-par 36 hole total of 141.

Charlie Bassler, Rolling Road pro favorite, was second with a 69-74-143.

Bassler's participation in the event was questionable until early today when an eye specialist gave him permission to play. He has been bothered by an irritation in the cornea of his right eye.

Walter Romans, of Baltimore Country Club, was third, and Ralph Beach, of Suburban Club, placed fourth.

Heilmann, Four Times AL Swat Champion, Dies

Batted .403 In 1923, Was Radio Announcer

DETROIT, July 9 (AP) — Harry Heilmann, the great righthanded hitter who signed his first baseball contract for a spaghetti dinner bonus, died today as many of his old buddies arrived in Detroit for the All-Star baseball game.

Heilmann, four times American League batting champion while with the Detroit Tigers, and one of baseball's greatest radio announcers will be honored with a moment of silence by 50,000 all-star game fans at Briggs Stadium tomorrow.

The 56-year-old native of San Francisco, one of half dozen American Leaguers to bat over .400 in modern times, died of cancer of the lungs—four months after he broadcast his last full game.

Heilmann, who never played with a pennant winner, grabbed the batting championship on alternate years starting in 1921. His title marks: 1921-.394; 1923-.403; 1925-.393; 1927-.398.

Baseball officials, here for the big game and the major league meetings, were shocked by the death of the popular, good-natured Heilmann. Many planned to stay over for his funeral Thursday at the Shrine of the Little Flower in Detroit.

Heilmann's lifetime major league average of .342 (18 years) ranked 15th best in baseball history.

As a radio broadcaster, he not only told listeners what happened but why and how it happened. He was a great analyzer of plays.

Heilmann was only 17 votes short of election to the Baseball Hall of Fame at Coopertown, N. Y., on the last ballot. The next election takes place this coming winter.

Just before Harry's death Ty Cobb, who won 12 American League batting championships, advocated Heilmann's election to the Hall of Fame.

Garver And Roberts Chosen As All-Star Game Starters

52,000 To See Major Teams Clash Today In 18th Tilt At Detroit

BY JACK HAND

DETROIT, July 9 (AP) — Casey Stengel reached into the cellar to pick Ned Garver, sensational St. Louis Browns ace, to start for his favored American Leaguers against the Phillies' Robin Roberts in tomorrow's 18th annual all-star baseball game at Briggs Stadium.

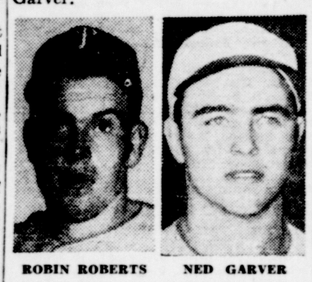
Roberts, glamor boy of the 1950 Phil champions, opened for the National League last year. But it will be the first shot for the 25-year-old Garver from Ney, Ohio.

The youthful righthanders square off at 1:30 p. m. (EST) before an assured sellout of 52,000 fans. Millions more will kibitz by television (NBC) or radio (MBS).

Showers sprinkled the city today but the weatherman says it will be cloudy and warm for the big event—part of Detroit's 250 birthday party.

Lopat Follows Garver

Stengel said Eddie Lopat, Yankee lefty, probably would be the second pitcher. In fact he was going to start steady Eddie but shifted to Garver.



ROBIN ROBERTS NED GARVER

"I figur those young guys should be in there at the start," he said. "We can use the older fellows later. It'll probably be Bob Lemon (Cleveland) or Freddie Hutchinson (Detroit) the last three."

Manager Eddie Sawyer of the Nationals and Phils surprised the boys by naming Roberts for he started and was knocked out Saturday night by Brooklyn. However, all eight National League pitchers worked Saturday or Sunday. He didn't have much choice when Brooklyn used two all-stars, Preacher Roe and Don Newcombe on relief yesterday.

"I don't know who will come later," said Sawyer. "I want to wait until I talk to the fellows in the clubhouse. After all, they all worked in the last two days. A lot depends on what lineup changes they (the Americans) make after the first three innings."

As per rule, the eight starters picked by vote of over 4,000,000 fans have to play at least the first three innings. No pitcher can go more than three unless it is another extra inning game, like last year's 14-inning thriller won for the Nationals by Red Schoendienst's home run.

Garver, of course, is the fellow every contender tried to pry from the Browns all spring. With a last place club he had won 11 or just half his team's total wins. In his last out he stopped the flying White Sox, 4-1.

In addition to Lopat (11-4), Lemon (8-8) and Hutchinson (7-3) Stengel can call on lefthanders Mel Parnell of Boston (10-5), Bobby Shantz of the A's (7-6) and righthanders Connie Marrero of Washington (8-5) and Randy Gumpert of the White Sox (7-2).

Has Lefties Ready

Sawyer has two southpaws to throw against the Americans' lefthanded power like Williams, Wertz and Berra and later Doby and Eddie Robinson of the White Sox. Preacher Roe (12-1) of Brooklyn's league-leaders and Warren Spahn (8-8) of Boston are the lefties. He also has Newcombe (12-4), lanky Ewell Blackwell of Cincinnati (8-7), Larry Jansen (11-7) and Sal Maglie (12-4) of the Giants and Dutch Leonard (6-3) of Chicago who was the American League winner back in 1943.

The American League is a 7 to 5 favorite, on the strength of a 12-5 edge in previous games. Last time they played here in 1941, Williams belted a three-run homer with two out in the last of the ninth for the win. He's still healthy.

Here's the way they'll bat today: (managers will pick the pitchers)

Yankees, Braves Win Little League Tilts

The unbeaten Phillies stretched their winning streak to 11 games in the Dapper Division of the Little League yesterday when they edged the Red Sox by the score of 4-3 at Penn Avenue Field.

In another Dapper Division contest, staged at East Side, the Yankees took the measure of the Pirates, 5-2.

At Stitcher Field, the Braves were returned winners over the Indians in a Dan Division game, 6 to 4 in seven innings.

Tommy Smith yielded only two hits, John Rice's homer in the first with one aboard and Dick's Circuit belt in the 7th, and fanned nine and the Phillies kept their record unblemished. "Jerry" Mullaney whiffed 11 Phillies.

O'Neal and Washington hit four-baggers for the only undefeated team in the Little League. Collins O'Neal and Stinson had two hits each. In the 5th, the Red Sox loaded the bases with none out but failed to score when Rice hit to Mike Collins who cut down a runner at the plate and Charuhas smacked into a double play which started when Hanekamp caught a pop fly.

Gary Wolford, relief pitcher of the Braves, won his own game in the 7th inning when he doubled home two runs that whipped the Indians in an extra inning. Powell of the Braves hit a four-bagger in the second with one aboard. Mayo and Bob Paye with three and two hits led the Indians' stickers.

Jerry Collins socked a three-run homer in the fifth to give the Yankees the verdict over the Pirates. He limited the Free Booters to three hits, two of which were credited to Wheeler, and struck out an even dozen. Roy had two hits and a walk in three trips while Rich Felton hit safely three times. Sugar Robinson Is 1-4 Favorite To Whip Turpin

Middleweight Title Is At Stake Today

LONDON, July 9 (AP)—Free swinging Randy Turpin hit town with a bang today and his manager immediately promised the British negro boxer would clout Sugar Ray Robinson just as hard when they meet for the world middleweight title tomorrow.

Ray Robinson

A brass band and a cheering throng of 500 which surged against special police lines greeted the 23-year-old Turpin when he arrived by train from his camp at a North Wales castle.

The shy challenger, who has paid no attention to the hullabaloo which constantly surrounds Sugar Ray, obviously was awed by the reception.

"This is the first time a crowd has bothered to meet me before a fight," he said, "but it does me good. I have never felt better."

Turpin and his retinue, which included manager George Middleton, and sparring partners, checked in at a hotel and Randy went to bed.

Robinson remained the overwhelming 1 to 4 favorite, but Manager Middleton-true to the script of every big fight buildup—disagreed strongly.

"Randy has at least a fifty-fifty chance," Middleton declared, "and can anyone expect more when he's fighting a world champion?"

The 15-round fight before a sell-out crowd of 18,000 at the Earl's Court Arena is scheduled for about 8:30 p. m. (3:30 p. m., EST).

"We have been told we ought to have waited a year," Middleton continued, "but Turpin is at his peak and he has won his fights just as easily as Robinson has won his in Europe—and against the same boxers. If I had any doubts, the match would never have been made."

The Turpin camp figures Randy's hopes lie in being able to land a solid punch on Robinson early in the fight.

"He can hit harder than any heavyweight I've ever fought," declared Johnny Williams, a 190-pound Welshman who has been sparring with Turpin.

While the challenger was getting the big hello in town, the champion took it easy in the English countryside at his training quarters opposite historic Windsor Castle.

Robinson slept late, amused himself at the piano during the morning and took a long walk this afternoon. He hoped to get in a round of golf before sundown.

Savitt To Play Against Japan

Four U. S. Players In Davis Cup Test

NEW YORK, July 9—(AP)—A four-man team, headed by Wimbledon champion Dick Savitt of Orange, N. J., today was named to represent the United States against Japan in the first round of the North American zone competition of the Davis Cup at Louisville.

Named with Savitt were Herbie Flam of Beverly Hills, Calif., 1950 runner-up for the American championship: Bill Talbert of New York and Tony Trabert of Cincinnati.

The U. S.-Japan match is scheduled to start July 20 at Louisville.

Also on the squad are national champion Art Larsen of San Leandro, Calif.; National junior champion Hamilton Richardson of Baton Rouge, La.; Gardnar Mulloy of Coral Gables, Fla., and Vic Seixas of Philadelphia.

Savitt and Flam will play singles against the Japanese team, while the veteran Talbert and Trabert will form the doubles team.

Should the United States clinch the best-of-five test in three straight matches, there is a possibility that Larsen, Richardson, Mulloy or Seixas might get a chance.

Double Payoff At Narragansett Park Is $2,498

PAWTUCKET, R. I., July 9 (AP)—The New England racing season's biggest daily double playoff — $2,498.80 — went today to 17 $2 ticket holders at Narragansett Park.

Ralph Holoway's Wardril, an almost 68-1 shot, combined with Oakhurst Farm's low-priced Miss Ellaneous for the track's biggest payoff since 1938.

Wardril won by two lengths and returned $137.80, $25.80 and $17.00. Miss Ellaneous paid $11.60, $5.60 and $4.00. It was Wardril's third start of the season, having run out of the money twice at Suffolk Downs.

A combination of Wardril in the first with Movement in the second would have been worth $21,240.80 to two ticket holders, but Movement ran out.

Four Scouts Begin Six-Day Hike Across Mountains

FROSTBURG — Four members of St. Rita's Catholic Church Boy Scout Troop No. 438 of Dundalk, near Baltimore, broke camp at St. John's Rock, Frostburg, early yesterday morning to begin a six-day hike across Big Savage and Backbone Mountains.

The four Scouts drove from Dundalk, four days ago, and set up camp at St. John's Rock. They were there three days making preparation for the hike.

Dr. John L. Dunkle, 26 Broadway Street, chairman of Troop Committee for St. John's Church Troop No. 48, here advised the hikers in preparing the maps showing the route to be taken.

According to Dr. Dunkle, the four Scouts were headed southwest yesterday afternoon, along the top of Big Savage Mountain toward High Rock above Westernport. Dr. Dunkle said the boys plan to cross the Savage River at the recently completed dam and go west up Backbone Mountain to the top and follow the ridge into Swanton. They expect to arrive there sometime Saturday.

The members making the trip are James A. Shinnors, assistant scout master; Donald Yost, 17, junior assistant scout master; James Anderson, 14, senior patrol leader, and William Brown, 12, scout second class. All are from Dundalk.

Shinnors, who is leading the party, said that Anderson was put in charge of camp, and Yost would direct all cooking. Shinnors, who is also a vice-consul with the State Department, picked the boys to take the hike with him because they wrote to him while he was in a hospital in Bethesda.

Shinnors explained that the hike was part of an emergency service training program for Boy Scouts in connection with the National Defense Program. Generally the training would include methods of survival in the wilderness, Shinnors said.

Paper Features Boy From Keyser

KEYSER, W. Va. — A local boy, John Manley Dennison, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Dennison, Potomac State Farm, was featured in a special section of the Philadelphia Bulletin, Sunday.

Dennison graduated with the class of 1951 from Keyser High School, where he was outstanding in geological work. He was selected as one of a group of 40 high school students to participate in the Science Talent Institute, held in Washington from March 1 to 5. He was the only West Virginia secondary student chosen.

During his high school days he made a survey of birds; forecast and recorded the weather; made a collection of 69 rocks and minerals, which was exhibited in 1948 at the West Virginia Junior Academy of Science and won third prize at West Virginia Institute of Technology, Montgomery; made a collection of 22 soil types in Mineral county and 86 soil tests for fertility; made cave explorations and mapped caves in Mineral county.

Dennison's father is head of the Department of Agriculture at Potomac State School.

The Trumpet Player

I don't know what there is about trumpet players which so endears them to people. It wasn't that way when I was a boy. I played the trumpet for a short, disastrous period and it didn't endear me to anyone, especially my own family.

But lately, the trumpet player has been an object not only of affection but of great esteem, inspiring at least one novel ("Young Man With A Horn" supposedly the story of Bix Beiderbecke) and just possibly contributing greatly to one of the most notable marriages (Miss Betty Grable—Mr. Harry James) of our times. Lately radio and television have taken up the trumpet player who in recent months has been the subject of at least three radio and TV dramas that I have heard and I don't hear them all.

In one drama the trumpet player was murdered. In another he was carved up so that it was doubtful he'd ever play again, an eventuality which was represented as a tragedy as majestic and awesome as King Lear's. In the last, he was the suspected, though innocent, slayer of his wife. In all cases the trumpet player was a thoroughly wholesome character and a very nice guy. Always—except for Mr. James' marriage—he has had a lot to put up with.

It had never occurred to me before that trumpet-playing was either so hazardous or so important. Or that trumpet players were such pristine artists or, for that matter, so pure of heart. In fact, after examining my conscience thoroughly, I've come to the conclusion that trumpet-playing has been over-blown. Now N.B.C. has come up with a regular weekly program "Pete Kelly's Blues" whose hero is a trumpet player. He'll trumpet triumphantly every week in spite of the most terrible difficulties.

That's the beginning of the end. If you ask me, the trumpet and the trumpet player are on the way out. Look what happened to the banjo. The next romantic figure, my private oracle tells me, is going to be the guy that plays the triangle. He's a much better lead in all regards. For one thing, he doesn't have to screw up his face like a trumpet-player which will make it easier for the girls to fall for him. For another, he has more time to think himself into neuroses which will make matters much more simple for the novelist, And for another, that triangle will make a wonderful target to shoot through.

Wayne Coy, in a recent speech before the National Association of Radio and Television Broadcasters, was lighting into the boys for indecency, obscenity or profanity on television, three things that don't seem to get into my living room very much. "A woman in Ohio," said Mr. Coy, "complains that a noted comedienne's gowns 'suggest complete failure of the cotton and flax crops and a plague among the silkworms.'"

Now, wait a minute, Mr. Coy. This woman in Ohio is not so much venting her own frustration. Any woman who would write a sentence like that is at heart a gagwriter rather than a reformer. The language of indignation—we get a lot of it across this desk—is much simpler, far more pungent, and notably lacking in figures of speech. Your really indignant letter-writer, Mr. Coy, is likely to express himself more like this: "When is that blankety-blank Eddie Cantor going to stop those blankety blank blank jokes about his blankety blank flank blank daughters?"

A great many letter writers, I've found, are activated not so much by indignation as by the feeling that they could do it better with one hand tied behind them. In the case of the woman from Ohio, I'm afraid the odds are against her. It's not so much that it's a bad gag as a cluttered one. If one of Berle's writers had been handling it, he'd cut it way down to its essentials. Berle would just leer at the comedienne with the low cut gown, leer at the audience, step right up to the footlights, and throw the snapper: "A plague in the silk worm industry:" It'd kill 'em. And the lady in Ohio would immediately write a letter to Wayne Coy objecting about indecency on the air.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Market Responds Quickly To Buying, Selling Force

NEW YORK, July 9 (AP) — The stock market responded quickly today to even slight buying and selling pressures, but it managed to remain on the higher side.

Leaders at their best, with only a few exceptions, made gains running slightly more than a dollar a share. Losses extended from a few cents to around a dollar.

Aircrafts were definitely lower and utilities were higher. All other major divisions of the list fell into the mixed category with the accent on the higher side.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks gained 30 cents at $91.20 with the industrial component up 40 cents, railroads unchanged, and utilities up 20 cents.

The volume of trading came to 1,110,000 shares as compared with 1,170,000 shares Friday. The list narrowed down to 1,084 individual issues traded of which 419 advanced and 412 declined. There were 17 new highs and 24 new lows established.

Standard Oil (N. J.) headed the list of most active issues up ⅜ at 62¾ with 29,800 shares traded.

Radio Corp. was second unchanged at 21¼.

Warren Petroleum lost 1 at 26½.

Sears Roebuck was up ¼ at 53¼ contrary to the trend of other merchandising issues.

Stocks moving up today included Southern Pacific up ¼ at 61, American Telephone ⅜ at 154⅝, American Smelting 1¼ at 77¼, American Cyanamid 2½ at 109, General Electric ⅝ at 55, Bethlehem Steel ¼ at 49⅞, General Motors ¼ at 49⅛, Goodyear ⅜ at 82⅝, and Sharon Steel 1⅛ at 42⅞.

"The Authority on Authorities"

TELL HIM YOUR STORY

THERE are many opportunities to improve the probable prospects for your side by putting the final decision up to your partner. That is the case when there are facts of importance about your own hand which he may not be in position to guess. If you tell him the rest of your story, you may then rest the question with him. The only time you should not follow that principle is when you have enough information about his hand to know what is logically the best contract for the pair. There are also the spots where you are desirous of extracting further information from him.

How much better South's last bid of 3-Hearts was at the first table. It accomplished everything that could be gained from the bid made by his vis-a-vis at the second table, 2-No Trumps. Since hearts were the higher-ranking suit of the two red ones shown by South, the call was strong enough to indicate his willingness to go a step higher, and at the same time told North his major suit was of five cards.

That made it easy for North to select the major suit for the game contract. This enabled his team to win the deal, as it scored 120 for tricks plus 300 for the not vulnerable game bonus, or a total of 20 more than the No Trump game produced at the other table, following spade leads at both. Against the No Trumper, the defense scored three tricks in spades and one in clubs. Against the suit contract, there was one trick for the defense in each black suit and one in diamonds.

There was no particular fault to find with the bidding up to that stage, though many players would have preferred 3-Hearts for North's second response instead of the 2-No Trumps without a positive stopper in spades.

If West overcalls South's 1-Spade, what factor should determine whether North bids 2-Spades or 4-Spades?

FBI Apprehends Man Who Passed Bad Checks Here

Four Stores Victims In $20,000 Campaign

A "bad check artist" who passed four fraudulent checks in Cumberland about a year ago amounting to over $156 has been apprehended by federal authorities. City Detective Thomas J. See said yesterday the same person has passed similar checks between April 1950 and June 1951 totaling between $15,000 to $20,000 in the Middle Atlantic and Southern States.

See recalled that in August of 1950 an individual using the name of Martin Truwell cashed four industrial type payroll checks amounting to about $59 each at four different stores here in Cumberland. The fraudulent payroll checks had the Social Security deduction as well as the withholding tax entries made.

The stores which cashed the checks were the Cut Rate Shoe Store, Webbs Shoe Store, Metro Store and Curl's Camera Shop. City Detective See and Allegany County Investigator Terrance J. Boyle sent the checks to FBI headquarters in Washington to aid in apprehending the passer.

On June 2, 1951, William Joseph Sansbury was arrested in Valdosta, Ga., and admitted passing the Truwell checks authorities said. He is now in custody at the Camilla, Ga., County Jail on several federal bad check warrants and will be tried in Macon, Ga., on federal charges.

County Agent's Office Has Jap Beetle Traps

Persons wishing to obtain Japanese beetle traps may lease them from the County Agents office at the Court House for two years for 19 cents.

However, residents annoyed by the pests are reminded that spraying with a 50 per cent wettable DDT solution will kill Japanese beetles in yards and gardens. The formula is four tablespoons of DDT to each gallon of water.

Traps are helpful but will not catch all beetles on property, the County Agent's office warns.

Deadline Is Set For Hitchcock's Smoke Report

Recommendations Are Due Tomorrow

Cumberland's smoke abatement engineer must present his formal report on this city's controversial smoke control ordinance by tomorrow.

The Mayor and Council yesterday set Wednesday as the deadline for the report called for at a meeting May 21, when Mrs. Lucile Roeder, commissioner of streets and public property, moved that Hitchcock be given 30 days in which to report to the Council as to whether or not the ordinance is adequate and, if not, to suggest what should be done to enforce it.

The action was taken yesterday after Finance Commissioner William H. Buchholtz blasted the smoke engineer for ignoring a six-week-old council order requiring him to make the report within 30 days.

With Hitchcock's report as a basis, the council hopes to come up with a decision on the controversial smoke control question.

Did Not Remember Order

Hitchcock said yesterday he did not remember the order for the report, and added if it had been issued "I lost sight of it due to the controversy."

The smoke control ordinance has been subject of discussion the past several weeks from civic groups, industrial firms and private citizens.

Hitchcock told Buchholtz he had made an annual report but the finance commissioner replied: "That has nothing to do with it. x x x That's an order on the books (the enforcement report) and it must be complied with. You were asked to check on the enforcement. Certainly you have enough technical experience to know whether it is or not."

Hitchcock answered: "I have said it was enforceable," referring to statements made at public airings of the ordinance.

Suggests Separate Meetings

Mrs. Lucile W. Roeder, commissioner of streets and public property, suggested that the council meet separately with officials of the Potomac Edison Company and Memorial Hospital, but when Mayor Thomas S. Post asked whether that meant a public meeting or an executive session concerning only the council, PE and the hospital, another argument ensued.

Buchholtz contended the matter concerns the public as a whole and should be discussed openly. He added: "We are elected to represent the public. I am against executive sessions of any kind."

Mrs. Roeder interrupted to say there "is still so much confusion," and added the council must know whether the ordinance is adequate since money must be provided soon in the budget for the new fiscal year.

$10,500 was provided for the department in the 1950-51 levy.

Commissioner of Police and Fire John J. Long, asserted:

"I don't see why we need a meeting at this time. In the previous meetings, we were told what is being done. If you want another meeting, it's all right with me, but I

Three Escape Injury As Blazing Truck Crashes Into Their Home

Driver Jumps As Flaming Cement Truck Strikes Frostburg Residence

A Frostburg mother and her two children narrowly escaped injury yesterday afternoon as a flaming cement truck careened across Grant Street and plunged into their home, setting it afire.

The driver of the burning vehicle jumped just before the heavy truck crashed into the home and suffered a broken ankle and burns.

The accident occurred yesterday afternoon about 2 o'clock as the flaming vehicle went out of control and crashed through the front yard into the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Middleton, 78 Grant Street.

Floyd R. Carroll, 317 Cecilia Street, driver of a cement mixer truck owned by the George F. Hazlewood Company, was admitted to Memorial Hospital about 2:45 p. m. and is reported in "satisfactory" condition.

He sustained a fractured left ankle and burns about the forearm and face.

Plunges Into Home

Mrs. Middleton and two children, Jannene, 8, and Robert, 5, miraculously escaped injury as the huge flaming truck came across the highway into the front yard of the five-room dwelling, ripped off the front porch and stopped in the entrance to the living room.

As the truck halted the residence caught fire. Practically the entire front of the structure was destroyed.

Mrs. Middleton, who saw the truck approaching her home, called for her son who was playing in the living room and he ran to the kitchen. The vehicle stopped just a foot or two from where the boy was playing.

The Frostburg Volunteer Fire Company answered the call. Fire destroyed most of the furnishings and clothing of the Middletons. Middleton, who is an employee of the Glen L. Martin Company, had returned to Baltimore earlier yesterday after spending the weekend with his family.

Truck Catches Fire

According to eye witnesses, the huge truck weighing 28 tons with its load of three and one-half yards of cement, had caught fire in the rear. As the truck descended Grant Street after leaving Main Street enroute from Cumberland to Barton, it apparently got out of control and the burning gasoline from the exploding tanks scorched portions of the homes of neighbors living near the Middleton residence.

Carroll, realizing the vehicle had gotten out of control leaped to safety just before the truck careened left across the highway into the Middleton residence.

The home of the next door neighbor was scorched by the intense heat of the blaze. Dense smoke of the crash and fire could be seen from many sections of Frostburg.

The house and furnishings are partially covered by insurance, firemen reported.

Jury Awards Keyser Couple $47,500 Total

Defendant Fails To Make Appearance

A Keyser, W. Va. woman and her husband received verdicts totaling $47,500 from a Washington County Circuit Court jury in Hagerstown yesterday after the Morantown defendant failed to defend damage suits aggrgating $60,000.

Mrs. Leora D. Wilt, who had sued William Femi of Morantown for $35,000, was awarded a $27,500 verdict. Her husband, Robert Wilt, who sued for $25,000, was given a $20,000 verdict.

Attorneys for the plaintiff said that Mrs. Wilt was hospitalized for five months after her husband's automobile, in which she was a passenger, was involved in a head-on collision July 6, 1950, with Femi's automobile on Route 220, between McCoole and Rawlings. Mrs. Wilt sustained a multiple fracture of her left leg and other injuries and was required to walk on crutches until March, according to her attorneys. She now walks with the aid of a cane. Her husband sustained a concussion and lacerations and was hospitalized two weeks. Their medical and surgical bills totaled $5,000.

The suit first was filed in Allegany County Circuit Court but was removed to Washington County at the request of Femi's attorney. The Wilts were represented by Thomas N. Berry, this city; Donald C. Hott, Keyser, and David W. Byron, Hagerstown. Femi was not represented by counsel and did not appear in court.

Chief Judge Joseph D. Mish presided at yesterday's trial.

Judge Harris' Opinion Favors Widow In Case

Orphans' Court Action Affirmed

Although a widow is not named in her husband's will she still is entitled to a $2,000 allowance from his estate plus a half interest in the rest of the estate.

Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris made such a ruling yesterday when he filed an opinion in Allegany County Circuit Court affirming such a decision in Allegany County Orphans' Court.

Brothers Appeal

The case was in the form of an appeal from Orphans' Court and was brought by Theodore F. Shaffer, Chevy Chase, and Charles D. Shaffer, Cumberland, brothers of and executors of the estate of George L. Shaffer, Bowling Green, who died April 28, 1950.

Mrs. Mary Agnes Shaffer, George L. Shaffer's widow, married him August 3, 1949, Judge Harris wrote in his opinion. There were no children from this union and both the mother and father of Shaffer predeceased him.

George L. Shaffer executed his will July 18, 1944, more than five years before his marriage. After small bequests, Shaffer gave his entire estate to his brothers, Theodore and Charles.

The deceased's personal estate amounted to approximately $12,000. The first and final account was filed in Orphans' Court June 26 of this year. This court stipulated that the widow should receive the widow's allowance of $2,000 in cash and a half interest in the rest of the property. All parties agreed that Mrs. Shaffer was entitled to the half interest, Judge Harris wrote in his opinion. The question was over the extra $2,000 allowance.

Opinion Quoted

Judge Harris' opinion concluded: "Since the stipulated facts show that the decedent died without descendents and was not survived by his mother or father. His widow meets all statutory requirements to receive $2,000 provided therein; and I am in accord with the Orphans' Court in allowing $2,000 widow's claim and I shall sign a decree accordingly."

The Shaffer brothers were represented by Attorney William C. Walsh. Mrs. Shaffer was represented by Attorney William A. Gunter.

Keller Child Hit By Car

Three - year - old Carolyn Jean Keller, 256 Elder Street, who was admitted to Memorial Hospital Saturday night with injuries received when struck by an automobile has returned to her home.

Last night her mother said the child suffered injuries about the leg and arm but her condition is "fine."

Police said an automobile driven by the child's uncle, Robert Hobell, 38, of 110 Humbird Street, struck her. Hobell and his wife had been visiting at the Keller home. When they left, Hobell saw the girl near the front of the machine and told her to stand back.

Hobell, according to authorities, said he turned around to look through the rear window to back up. Shortly afterwards he felt a "slight bump" and found the child lying on the curb. No charges were filed against him.

Three Girls Hurt Near Winchester

Two girls were admitted and one girl treated in Winchester Memorial Hospital early yesterday morning as a result of injuries sustained in an automobile accident about 14 miles west of Winchester, Va. on Route 50. The trio, who are employed by the U. S. Government were enroute from Fort Ashby, W. Va. to Washington, D. C.

Winifred Radcliff, Fort Ashby, driver of the vehicle, suffered lacerations, fractures and injuries about the face. Pat Southard, Canada, who was visiting with the other two girls in Fort Ashby over the weekend, sufered a broken left foot according to hospital attaches.

Irma Welsh, 42 Marion Street, was treated at the hospital and later returned home. Miss Welsh said the three were riding in the front seat of the car. Leaving Fort Ashby about 10 o'clock they stopped in Romney and then continued on toward Washington.

She said she had dropped off to sleep and apparently the driver and other occupant dozed too. A driver following the car said the Radcliff vehicle went off to the left of the road, hit a culvert and came to a stop near the edge of the highway. Miss Welsh said the car apparently had not been moving too fast when the accident occurred.

Virginia State Police investigated the mishap and an ambulance summoned from Winchester, took the three girls to the hospital.

Today Is 8th Anniversary Of Tragic Mistake At Gela

Eight years ago today, in one of the most tragic mistakes of World War II, about 400 paratroopers of the 82nd Airborne Division were killed as American troops and ships joined the enemy in shooting down a flight of C-47's during the Sicilian campaign.

News of the tragedy was disclosed eight months later, when a Stars and Stripes reporter told of the incident.

His story was confirmed by the Army and Navy which said that on the night of July 10-11, 1943, United States airborne troops "received antiaircraft fire from enemy ground forces and from freindly naval and ground forces with losses of 23 aircraft and 410 personnel."

On the day of the tragedy, Lt. Gen. George S. Patton, commander of the Sicilian campaign, called for airborne reinforcements to land within his own lines.

The 170 planes from North Africa, each carrying 18 paratroopers, came in low over the water near Gela shortly after a German bombing raid.

Just how the shooting started may never be known, but the most likely guess is that the troops on ships and land heard the sound of the oncoming American C-47's and mistook them for enemy planes.

Helpless planes began to drop from the sky as the guns from the ships opened up.

Twenty-three of the planes were downed and 410 men killed through the tragic mistake.

Observers blamed the incident on commanders who failed to notify ships and men that the friendly planes were on their way.

Boy Scouts Plan Explorer Expedition August 7-11

Information folders and applications have been sent by Willis V. Smith, executive secretary for Potomac Council Boy Scouts of America, to all Boy Scout masters and Explorer advisors in the Council, announcing an Explorer Expedition, August 7 to 11, from a base camp at Laurel Fork Ranger Station near Glady, W. Va.

The expedition is open to any registered Explorer or Scouter, and will be conducted jointly with other Councils of West Virginia, Ohio, Maryland and Kentucky.

It will be operated on a Council basis and each Council participating must provide its own adult leadership, select its own activities and plan and conduct its own program.

A minimum central program will be planned by joint Councils with program features such as mountain climbing, cave exploring, trail and compass hiking, swimming and other activities.

The base camp will be located at Laurel Fork Ranger Station about seven miles west of Spruce Knob the highest point in West Virginia. There is an active beaver operation near the campsite, and the region of high mountains and winding streams provides rough, pioneer country for the campers.

Included in the program is a parachute delivery of food to the camp and a marksmanship activity provided by a rifle manufacturer. Also an unusual trail hike to Gaudineer Knob with the cooperation of the United States Forest Service is planned. Special licenses will be available for trout fishing.

The Council will provide all food supplies, tentage and cooking equipment, but each camper must bring his own eating utensils, sleeping bag and blankets and other personal equipment.

Weather Forecast
Cloudy with scattered thundershowers today. Warmer tomorrow.

Iran Turns Down World Court Plan

Harriman May Go To Iran In Oil Dispute

Truman Offers Aid Of "Trouble Shooter"

WASHINGTON, July 9. (AP) — President Truman offered today to send his top diplomatic "trouble shooter" to help solve the explosive Anglo-Iranian oil crisis.

Declaring that collapse of Iran's multi-billion - dollar oil industry would be a "disaster," Mr. Truman suggested sending W. Averell Harriman to Iran as his personal representative in an attempt to end the dispute.

Harriman is foreign affairs adviser to the President.

Mr. Truman made the offer in a message to Prime Minister Mohammed Mossadegh of Iran. With it, the president sent a plea for Iran to enhance its stature "in the eyes of the world" by respecting the recommendations of the World Court.

However, dispatches from Tehran indicated that Iran had already slammed the door on the World Court and rejected the court's proposal for a temporary solution of the oil controversy.

Britain had appealed to the Court to protect its vast interests in the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company which produces much of the oil used by the British fleet.

The International Court, sitting at the Hague, Holland, had recommended a curb on Iran's oil nationalization program pending further negotiations.

IRAN NEXT STOP? — Next stop for W. Averell Harriman, foreign affairs adviser to the President, may be Tehran. Mr. Truman offered to send his top diplomatic "trouble-shooter" to help solve the explosive Anglo-Iranian oil crisis. With the offer the President sent a plea to Iran to enhance its stature by respecting the recommendations of the World Court.

U. N. Informed Of Country's Latest Action

Hope For Compromise Appears Destroyed

TEHRAN, Iran, July 9 (AP) –President Truman again appealed to Premier Mohammed Mossadegh today for a settlement of the oil crisis, fast approaching a calamitous shutdown of British operations, but the Iranian premier said the appeal was a "little late."

At the same time Iran formally notified the United Nations it is withdrawing its recognition of the World Court at the Hague.

These two actions appeared to have destroyed the last faint hope of a compromise which might make Iran economically strong against Communist agitation.

Collapse Disastrous

The president said a collapse of oil operations in Iran would be a "disaster" and urged that a way be found to keep "British skill" on the job. He pointed out that the United States is sympathetic with Iranian desires to control their own resources, but that the British have accepted the principle of nationalization.

(In London Foreign Secretary Herbert Morrison told the House of Commons Britain was considering appealing the case to the U. N. Security Council where Russia has a veto. He said the government wants to keep British oilmen in Iran "as long as they possibly can." Winston Churchill, Conservative leader, demanded that they be kept at work "even at some risk," and asked for a fullscale parliamentary debate on the Iranian question in a week or two.)

Charge Interference

Shortly afterward, Iran made public a letter to U. N. Secretary General Trygve Lie charging that the World Court had breached the U. N. charter by interferring in Iran's affairs.

The Hague Court, judicial agency of the U. N., last week recommended that Iran shelve her nationalization plans for the billion dollar British-owned Anglo-Iranian Oil Company, and join with Britain in naming a board to supervise the industry until a final settlement of the main issue is achieved.

Iranian cabinet ministers have indicated all along they had no notion of paying any attention to the Hague decision.

Wilson Urges Price Controls To Save U. S.

Warns Against Soviet Trickery

WASHINGTON, July 9 (AP) — Mobilization Director Charles E. Wilson told the nation tonight to beware of Soviet trickery in the Korean truce talks and said he is "more worried than ever before in my life about America's safety."

Pleading for strong price controls to combat inflation and for no let up in the nation's rearmament, Wilson said in a nationwide radio and television broadcasts:

"I can't believe that Soviet Russia, in coming out for a truce in Korea, has altered its long-term plans. I can only believe it is but the latest maneuver in a continuing series of actions designed to weaken the free world."

Wilson spoke out just a few hours after administration forces in the House beat down a preliminary Republican move to curb the government's control over prices, wages and rents.

The house is locked in what is expected to be a week-long battle over the controversial issue of government controls.

Wilson told his listeners that the outcome of the House fight may determine whether this country, lacking strong safeguards against runaway prices, is to bump against "wholesale inflation."

In another administration plea for anti-inflation controls, Price Director Michael V. DiSalle said in a speech tonight at Barnesville, Minn., that farmers would be hurt worst of all if price controls are thrown overboard.

"History shows that when bust follows boom, farm prices drop faster and farther than any other prices," DiSalle said.

Man Missing In Dock Fire

PORT READING, N. J., July 9 (AP)—A 900-foot long Reading railroad coal dock was virtually destroyed by fire today and a barge employe was believed to have drowned during the confusion.

The fire licked through the long dock out of control for more than two hours. At the height of the blaze a huge 120-foot steel tower about midway out on the dock toppled into the Kill Van Kull, which separates New Jersey from Staten Island, N. Y.

Authorities identified the missing man as Chester H. Lovett. He worked on one of three barges burned up in the fire. A Reading employe dived after Lovett, but was unable to rescue him. His body has not been recovered.

Along with the three empty coal barges, an office building, a washroom building and a two story storehouse were destroyed.

Lie Returns Home

NEW YORK, July 9 (AP)—United Nations Secretary-General Trygve Lie left for Norway by airplane today, confident that he's done all he can to advance the Korean cease-fire.

He will resume a vacation with his family, interrupted when Soviet Russia first proposed a cease-fire two weeks ago.

Widow, 84, Weds Man, 37, After 12-Year Friendship

PHILADELPHIA, July 9 (AP)—The 12-year-old friendship of an 84 - year - old Philadelphia widow and a jeweler 47 years her junior blossomed into marriage today.

The widow is Mrs. Katherine Johnson Bruton, a white haired lady with sparkling blue eyes, affectionately called "Scarlett" by her friends. The bridegroom is Sidney Koch, 37.

Mrs. Bruton is the widow of Alden H. Bruton who was an officer of the Germantown Trust Company here when he died in 1937. He left an estate which, for inheritance taxes, was appraised at $74,194. Mrs. Bruton finally received $50,356.

There is no honeymoon because of the press of the bridegroom's business. Just a quiet wedding dinner at a midtown hotel.

Mrs. Bruton first met Koch shortly after her husband died when he and another officer of the Trust Company came to her home to go over the deceased's estate. Five weeks later, Koch called up and asked to take her riding. This started a friendship which continued while Koch spent five years with the Army in Europe

Substitute Plan Beaten By 169-149

Bitter Debates May Continue Next Week

WASHINGTON, July 9 (AP)—Administration forces in the House today beat down one Republican move to curb the government's power to control prices, wages and rents.

The vote was 169 to 149.

The initial test of strength—decided strictly on party lines—came as the House began preliminary voting on a new controls law. The old law expires July 31 and there is a strong opposition drive underway to cut controls sharply or wipe them off the books entirely.

Touches Off Debate

Sparking the attack on the administration's controls program, Rep. Wolcott (R-Mich) touched off bitter debate by proposing a substitute method of combating inflation instead of the present price rollbacks and other direct controls. This plan was the one beaten down by the 20-vote margin.

Wolcott called for "indirect" controls, such as tightening credit and junking what he described as the administration's "cheap money" fiscal policies.

Rep. Rabaut (D-Mich) denounced Wolcott's proposal as a "horsemeat amendment," and he told the House:

"If we deny the government the authority to rollback prices and maintain firm economic controls, we will be remembered by the American people as the horsemeat Congress—the Congress that put the old grey mare on the family dinner table.

Much of the fire in the controversy over Federal controls has centered on beef price rollbacks ordered by Price Director Michael V. DiSalle.

Await House Action

Amendments barring price rollbacks are awaiting House action, along with other moves designed to water down the administration's control authority.

With some 80 amendments awaiting action, House leaders said the final vote may not come until late this week.

Meanwhile, the nation's big labor union leaders called on the public to prevent Congress from voting a "cease-fire" in anti-inflation controls.

As part of the administration's campaign, Economic Stabilizer Eric Johnston contended that if controls are scrapped, the nation can expect "a much cheaper dollar"—worth perhaps 30 to 40 cents in 1939 purchasing power.

Johnston estimated the dollar is now worth 53 cents to 54 cents of its 1939 value.

Shriners Begin 77th Convention

NEW YORK, July 9 (AP)—Tens of thousands of Shriners, their red fezzes bobbing in bright sunlight, today opened their 77th annual convention. But there wasn't a camel in sight.

Somebody slipped up on arrangements and the camels—traditional in Shrine parades over the years—were overlooked. Last minute efforts were being made to get some.

The week-long convention was expected to draw 100,000 members of the Ancient, Arabic Order, Nobles of the Mystic Shrine. They are coming from 162 temples in every state in the union.

State Draft Ruling Changed

BALTIMORE, July 9 (AP)—New Selective Service regulations went into effect today making an estimated 5,500 Maryland men with 3-A or 4-F draft status subject to reclassification.

However, Maryland Selective Service Director Col. Henry C. Stanwood said the new regulations have not yet arrived from Washington, and local draft boards are consequently marking time.

Pair Indicted On Rape Charge

FAIRFAX, Va., July 9 (AP)—A Fairfax County Grand Jury today indicted John R. Polk, 19, and William R. Payne, 24, on charges of raping a young bride taken at gunpoint from her naval officer husband.

The victim was socially prominent Mrs. Nancy McCoy Hotchkiss, 19, stolen from her bedroom in nearby Arlington county the night of June 25.

Brinks Holdup Foiled

One of two well-known Chicago hoodlums lies dead beside a Brinks Express Company currency truck at the Bowman Dairy Company distributing station in Chicago after an attempted holdup failed. The dead gunman, identified by police as Rocco Balcastro, was slain by Brinks driver Julius Blanchard, 25, in a gunfight which followed the holdup attempt. The other dead gangster was Frank Piazza. Two others escaped. Blanchard was struck over the head by a jammed shotgun during the fight and was treated in a Chicago hospital for lacerations. The two officers are unidentified.

Two Robbers Are Slain By Brinks Express Car Guard

CHICAGO, July 9 (AP)—A Brinks Express driver, slugged over the head with a robber's jammed shotgun, today shot to death two well known Chicago hoodlums in an attempted holdup of his truck.

Two other members of the holdup gang fled the scene—the Bowman Dairy Company Distributing Station—after a several minutes gun battle with police. They obtained no loot.

Chief of Detectives Andrew Aitkin identified the dead men as Rocco (Nick or Lucky) Balcastro and Frank Piazza. He said he had questioned them recently about a series of battering ram robberies of currency exchanges. They were about 35 years old.

Aitkin said he believes he knows the robbers who escaped, but declined to name them.

Police and fellow Brinks employes said Brinks Driver Julius Blanchard, 25, shot down Balcastro and Piazza when they attempted to rob the Brinks truck laden with Bowman's day's receipts.

Cohen Sentenced To Five Years

LOS ANGELES, July 9 (AP)—A last ditch effort to delay the sentencing of Mickey Cohen failed today and the swarthy gambler was ordered to spend five years in Federal prison and pay a $10,000 fine.

A new set of attorneys argued long and heatedly for time to better acquaint themselves with the case.

But U. S. District Court Judge Ben Harrison turned them down. Cohen was convicted of cheating the government out of $516,123 in taxes for the years 1946, 1947 and 1948. With addition of penalties, the total is nearly $250,000.

Cohen was found guilty June 20 by a jury of three counts of income tax evasion and one of giving a false financial statement to the government. The bigtime gambler, who claimed much of his income came in loans from betting pals, was sentenced to five years on each count but the terms are to run concurrently.

The pudgy Cohen, whose career was spotlighted last November by the Kefauver Senate Crime Investigating Committee, rocked on his feet when he heard the sentence. But a few minutes later he was smiling. He could have drawn 20 years and a $40,000 fine.

Shrimper Industry Dispute Settled

PASCAGOULA, Miss., July 9 (AP)—A price-cutting dispute which closed Mississippi's shrimp industry was settled late today.

Louis Simmons, president of the Gulf Coast Shrimpers and Oystermen's Association (AFL), announced that out-of-state fishermen had joined his union and agreed to work under its rules and prices. Simmons said shrimp houses would reopen tomorrow and that between 4,000 to 5,000 employes would return to work. Meanwhile, picket lines were withdrawn.

Woman Claims Barking Man Frightens Dog

LONG BEACH, Calif., July 9 (AP)—Delores Fulton complained to police today that a barking man is annoying her dog.

Officers quoted her:

"Every night this man, who is heavy set and about 50 and wears glasses, stops in front of my house and frightens my dog by barking at him. I am afraid of this man's intentions."

Police promised to investigate.

Two Reds Cited For Contempt

NEW YORK, July 9 (AP) — Two more Civil Rights Congress big-wigs were held for contempt today for refusing to tell where the Communist Party gets all of its bail money.

The pair, mystery writer Dashiel Hammett and W. Alphaeus Hunton, face imprisonment unless they loosen up and start talking.

Federal Judge Sylvester J. Ryan said he would sentence them later.

Along with millionaire leftist Frederick Vanderbilt Field, the two were cited for contempt for refusing to say who contributed to the $80,000 in bonds on four fugitive Communist leaders.

Field spent the weekend in jail but finally got out today on $10,000 bond. He is appealing a 90-day contempt sentence from Judge Ryan.

The four fugitive Communists failed to show up for sentencing last week. A nationwide hunt is on for them. Their $80,000 bail—posted by the Civil Rights Congress—was ordered forfeited.

Seven other Communist leaders surrendered and are starting prison terms. All 11 are under sentence ranging from three to five years for conspiring to teach and advocate violent revolution in the U. S.

CHICAGO, July 9 (AP)—Egbert Anson Van Alstyne, composer of more than 500 songs including "In The Shade Of The Old Apple Tree" and "Pretty Baby," died today at the age of 73.

Congress Asked To Formally End War With Reich

Reaction Divided To Truman Request

WASHINGTON, July 9 (AP)—President Truman asked Congress today to formally end the state of war it declared against Germany nine and one-half years ago.

At the same time, he sharply blamed Russia for splitting Germany and trying to develop its Eastern half as "a province of the new Soviet empire." Mr. Truman said the U. S. would go on working for a final German peace treaty despite Russia's refusal to cooperate.

Asks To Set Date

Britain, Australia and New Zealand formally ended their state of war with Germany today and France is expected to follow suit shortly. Unlike the U. S., parliamentary action in those nations was not necessary.

Mr. Truman sent a proposed resolution to Congress which would give him the right to set the effective date of the war's formal end. He accompanied the resolution with letters to the Senate president, Vice President Barkley, and to House Speaker Rayburn.

The President made it clear that ending the state of war would not affect continued Allied occupation of Western Germany or Supreme Allied authority over the Bonn Republic.

Observers saw in this a bid to bring Western Germany into the North Atlantic Defense Alliance and pit its strength with that of the Western Allies.

Reaction Is Divided

First Congressional reaction to Mr. Truman's message was divided. Rep Mike Mansield (D-Mont), a member of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, quickly hailed the move as "a step in the right direction." He said it would help bring Western Germany into the North Atlantic Treaty organization.

Rep. Jacob K. Javits (R-NY) warned against haste. He urged Congress to wait until it knows how far the German people will go toward joining political and military forces with other Western Europeans.

Birth Control Is Included In India Recovery Program

NEW DELHI, India, July 9 (AP)—A broad five-year economic plan that includes birth control and the prevention of famine was recommended for India today.

Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru headed the commission which recommended the spending of 17,930,000,000 rupees ($3,765,300,000) to give India economic and social stability.

The proposals for raising India's standard of living now are open for discussion before the final decision is made on a five-year plan. The commission worked from March, 1950 to produce the 344-page report.

To help cut an estimated population growth of 5,000,000 a year, the commission suggested facilities for sterilization and government information centers on birth control.

"Family planning is a vital step in economic and social planning," the commission said.

The proposed centers would be set up to give contraceptive advice on medical grounds. But the report urged that help and advice not be withheld from others who seek it on social and economic grounds.

The master plan would increase spending for agriculture, irrigation and power, transportation and communications, industry, social services and rehabilitation.

Group Flies To Kaesong For Confab

Ridgway Warns No Certainty For Truce

SEOUL, Korea, Tuesday, July 10 (AP)—High military officers of the Chinese-North Korean Reds and the United Nations today met in war-scarred Kaesong and opened historic talks aimed at ending the 54 - week - old Korean War.

The talks began about 11 a. m. (8 p. m., EST, Monday). Shortly before 2 p. m. there was a report that the conference had called an afternoon recess.

SEOUL, Korea, Tuesday, July 10 (AP) — The five-man United Nations armistice delegation arrived at rubbled, Red-held Kaesong today for the start of historic cease-fire talks with Communists which might end the Korean War.

Led by Vice Adm. C. Turner Joy, the U. N. party landed in helicopters at Kaesong at 10:04 a.m. (7:04 p.m., EST, Monday) after departing from an Allied advance camp at Munsan 12 miles southeast shortly after 9:45 a. m.

Joy Is Sombre

They were seen off by Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, Supreme Allied Commander, who termed the occasion "an historic moment." But Ridgway had warned earlier there was no certainty the talks would bring peace. Ridgway was smiling. Joy was grave-faced.

The opening of the talks, which may take weeks, was set for 11 a.m. in an 18 by 15 foot room of a one-time private residence. It is one of the few houses still standing in the ancient capital of Korea.

The cease-fire negotiators appeared restrained and soberly conscious of their great task.

In his statement Monday, Ridgway said:

"This is a very critical period when the question of success or failure of the objectives which the governments concerned have in mind are very much at issue," he told correspondents in Seoul.

"Whether there is to be good faith or not is only to be judged by performance, and we haven't come to the performance stage. Until that time, we are in the stage of pure speculation.

Speculative Period

"And, in my judgment, in this speculative period, until there is concrete evidence that this proposed conference is on the tracks with a reasonable expectation that it is going to stay on the tracks because of good faith — not of one side, but of both — the issues are too great to prejudice failure and breakup."

It seemed likely that the five U. N. delegates would insist that at least two points be included in an armistice:

1. Establishment of a buffer zone extending into North Korea.

2. Surveillance of Communist territory by neutrals to see whether the Reds were building up offensive capabilities.

It also seemed certain that Ridgway would order his Air Force to keep pounding at Communist concentrations and supply points during the negotiations — but spare the road from Pyongyang to Kaesong. U. N. planes continued to

Allied Newsmen To Cover Talks

SOUTHEAST OF KAESONG, Korea, Tuesday, July 10 (AP)—Allied war correspondents will be permitted to go to Kaesong, starting tomorrow, for coverage of cease-fire conferences, an Allied spokesman said. The conferences start today.

A pooled dispatch quoted the unidentified spokesman as saying a limited number of newsmen and photographers—probably 16—will be permitted to accompany negotiators into Kaesong. But they will not be permitted inside the residence where the conferees meet.

The Seoul Press Corps registered an angry protest because Sunday's preliminary talks at Kaesong were covered by Communist correspondents while the Allied correspondents were barred.

Out of the protest grew a plan, advanced by Army Public Information officers, to send 16 Allied correspondents to Kaesong for today's (Tuesday's) initial high level parley.

The Allied spokesman said if communications facilities permitted, reports on progress of the talks would be sent back from Kaesong from time to time to an advance camp (presumably a camp at Munsan, 12 miles southeast of Kaesong.)

Two Area Soldiers Killed In Korea

Pfc. Trenton S. Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Murat A. Miller, Wardensville, Hardy county, W. Va., has been killed in action in Korea.

Announcement of his death was made today by the Department of Defense.

Another area casualty, Pfc. Max W. Liller, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Errice L. Liller, Mt. Lake Park, who was reported dead last week, had been missing since February 13.

Born in Oakland, Pfc. Liller attended school there and worked on his father's farm before entering the Army. He took basic training at Fort Knox, Ky., and later was stationed at Fort Benning, Ga., before going overseas. He landed in Korea last August 13 and was listed as dead June 23.

Pfc. Liller has three sisters and five brothers.

Citizens May Get Warrants Against Speeding Motorists

If private citizens want to have warrants sworn out for speeders on city streets, the Police Department will follow up the charges.

Commissioner of Police and Fire John J. Long made the suggestion at the meeting of the Mayor and Council yesterday but no action was taken.

In fact, it met with opposition from one source. Commissioner William H. Buchholtz said he "did not believe it the duty of the private citizen but that of the Police Department."

Only A Suggestion

"Well, it was only a suggestion," Long said. The commissioner pointed out the impossibility of having a policeman on each street every minute of the day, but noted that a considerable number of arrests have been made for speeding within the city limits.

Long said the assurance that warrants sworn out by private citizens would be followed up came from Magistrate J. Milton Dick.

The council received one bid for the repaving, grading and curbing of Valley Street which has been torn two years for installation of a flood control conduit.

Bids $34,408

The Cumberland Contracting Company bid $34,408. It was referred to Mrs. Lucile W. Roeder, commissioner of streets and public property.

In conjunction with the Valley Street project, C. E. Wolz, 210 Valley Street, appeared to point out the present condition of curbs in the area and the condition after the paving was done.

Long noted that the flood work will reach Centre Street soon. He said the project supervisor and Assistant Chief B. Frank Gaffney are hoping part of this work can be done at night to alleviate a traffic situation. If this cannot be mapped out, an alternate, involving sending traffic north on Liberty Street, must be planned, he said.

Job Sales Probe Jury Impaneled

JACKSON, Miss., July 9 (AP) — A special Federal Grand Jury, impaneled to investigate charges that a pro-Truman organization sold government jobs in Mississippi, was told today it could call "anyone from the President of the United States down."

U. S. District Judge Allen Cox told the 22 jurors:

"You are representatives of the people of the United States. If you know of anyone who should be brought before you to be heard, you have a right to call anyone from the President of the United States on down."

Justice Department attorneys in Washington said they knew of no instance in which a president had testified before a grand jury.

Government attorneys, queried about the matter, said the President may not be subpoenaed because of the constitutional provision separating the legislative, judicial and executive branches of government.

Former Treasury Official Says Tax Hike Is Too Stiff

WASHINGTON, July 9 (AP) — A former treasury official said today Congress is about to get its signals crossed: He argued that a $7,200,000,000 tax hike passed by the House will promote inflation instead of curb it, as intended.

Roswell Magil, Undersecretary of the Treasury in 1937 and 1938 and now chairman of the Private Committee on Federal Tax Policy, told Senators the measure is too stiff on upper income brackets and corporations.

He declared this would take away any incentive to work harder and produce more, steps urged to fight inflation. And he said many of the tax boosts would have to be passed on to consumers in higher prices.

But a labor union leader, Russ Nixon of the left-wing United Electrical Workers, urged still steeper tax boosts on wealthy corporations and individuals, a softening in taxes on lower income groups.

Nixon said the sacrifice involved in cutting down "from a Cadillac scale of living" was nothing compared with "giving up a quart of milk a day, or new shoes for the children."

Argentina Celebrates 135th Birthday

BUENOS AIRES, July 9 (AP)—Thousands of troops, goosestepping to martial music, passed in review today before Argentina's president, Juan D. Peron, and his blonde wife, Eva, as the nation celebrated the 135th anniversary of its independence.

About 400 warplanes roared overhead. Tanks, armored vehicles and light and heavy field artillery rumbled along the broad Avenida Del Libertador General San Martin, in one of Argentina's biggest demonstrations of military strength since Peron became president.

Egypt And Russia Make Exchange

CAIRO, Egypt, July 9 (AP)—Egypt and Russia signed a barter agreement today for exchange of grains and cotton.

Egypt, under the agreement, is to export to the Soviet Union and satellite countries 30,000 bales of cotton and 50,000 tons of rice. Russia is to supply Egypt with 150,000 tons of wheat.

Senate Committee Warns Against Communist Feint

WASHINGTON, July 9 (AP) — Chairman Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.) of the Senate Preparedness Committee warned America today that a Korean cease-fire might be a Communist feint. He said the nation should look out for a possible "crushing body blow."

Despite Korean peace talk, Johnson said his committee probably will check the possibility of boosting the nation's military forces even higher than the present 3,500,000-man goal.

In another field, Johnson told reporters the committee had reports of open gambling and prostitution near a number of Army camps.

He said Committee investigators had found "serious" rent gouging of service men's families around six Army camps. The committee, he added, plans to look into all this in cooperation with the Senate Crime Committee headed by Sen. O'Conor (D-Md.).

Defense Treaty May Be Signed

WASHINGTON, July 9 (AP)—The United States, Australia and New Zealand have worked out terms for a defense treaty. U. S. officials hope it can be broadened some day into a general Pacific Security Alliance against aggression.

New Zealand Premier Sidney Holland said in Auckland today he hoped to be able to announce the signing soon. American officials in touch with negotiations said the way has been cleared but indicated the actual signing may await the Japanese peace conference now scheduled to be held in San Francisco two months hence.

Negotiations have been based on the idea of a mutual aid arrangement along the lines of the North Atlantic Pact involving the U. S., Canada, and West European countries.

The new treaty is expected to state positively that the U. S. will consider an attack on Australia and New Zealand from any quarter dangerous to the peace and security of this country.

Virginia Youth Wins Elks Contest

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., July 9 (AP)—An Alexandria, Va., boy, William H. Pitts, won a regional oratorical contest sponsored by the Elks Lodge here yesterday.

Pitts was awarded a $1,000 four-year scholarship to the college of his choice and the privilege of competing in the national oratorical contest in Buffalo, N. Y. in August.

Calmness Saves Swamped Group

ANNAPOLIS, Md., July 9 (AP)—Four couples who spent three harrowing hours in Chesapeake Bay after their boat sank were "all calm and scared."

That's how Rita McDonnell, 22, summed it up today when the shivering group from Washington reached shore after their ordeal.

Her fiance's ability to swim ashore to start a search for the eight along with their calmness probably saved their lives.

The eight thoughtfully tied themselves together to keep from drifting apart in the black and cold bay.

The nine were returning to Deale after a trip to Woodland Beach about 9:30 p. m. on the 32-foot cabin cruiser Kathleen V.

"One particularly high wave seemed to have ripped a board loose," recounted Philip M. Kloskey, 24. "Then four more waves smashed us and the boat just seemed to break up."

The group drifted about five miles for three hours. Then they were sighted and picked up by a 36-foot Ketch skippered by Harold Acly.

Meanwhile, Klosky reached shore at Felicity Cove and staggered to the home of Jack Beall. An all-out search was started by Coast Guard, Naval Academy, police and privately-owned boats.

A coast guard plane dropped flares and bonfires were lighted on the beaches to pierce the darkness.

Landslide Kills 2 Bus Passengers

REYKJAVIK, Iceland, July 9 (AP) —Passengers on a crowded bus screamed yesterday when they saw a landslide thundering toward them on a mountain road. The bus driver stepped on the gas and raced across the path of the approaching slide.

But one rock weighing about a ton caught the end of the bus and sliced off the last row of seats, killing two occupants and seriously injuring the other two.

hammer away at the Reds Monday while ground forces clashed with the Communists in bitter, isolated battles.

An armistice would contain a clause declaring a cease-fire. At the moment, the United Nations hold a strong line, nearly all of it in North Korea, and therefore would be reluctant to pull back to less favorable positions near the 38th parallel — the old boundary of North and South Korea.

The United Nations obviously were worried that the Reds might use a truce to build up their forces for another attempt to conquer Korea by force.

Reds Counterattack

In the air war, Allied bombers and fighter-bombers blasted the Red supply center of Sinanju, northwest of Pyongyang, and pounded North Korean air fields. One Red MIG-15 was shot down.

On the ground, AP Correspondent George McArthur reported that elements of a Red regiment counter-attacked on the Eastern front at 10 p.m. Sunday. In fighting that continued through Monday, they pushed the Allies back from a strategic ridge northeast of Yanggu.

Bus Falls Into Flooded River

MEXICO CITY, Mexico, July 9 (AP)—Firemen recovered 11 bodies today from the wreckage of a bus which slipped into a flooded river last night.

The bodies—five men, four women and two children—were found along the banks of the river as much as a mile downstream.

It was estimated 40 or 60 passengers were missing.

Almond To Return

WASHINGTON, July 9 (AP)—The Army said today Lt. Gen. Edward M. Almond will be relieved soon as commander of the 10th Corps in Korea. He will become commandant of the Army War College at Carlisle Barracks, Pa.

BERLIN, July 9 (AP)—The Soviet-licensed news agency Adn said tonight that Czechoslovak President Klement Gottwald had appointed Dr. Vladimir Prochazka, deputy president of the National Assembly, as ambassador to Washington.

Lost Body Found

BERLIN, July 9 (AP)—East Berlin authorities said today that the body of the last victim of an excursion boat explosion on the Spree River last Thursday had been recovered. This raised the death toll to 29 persons, most of them children.

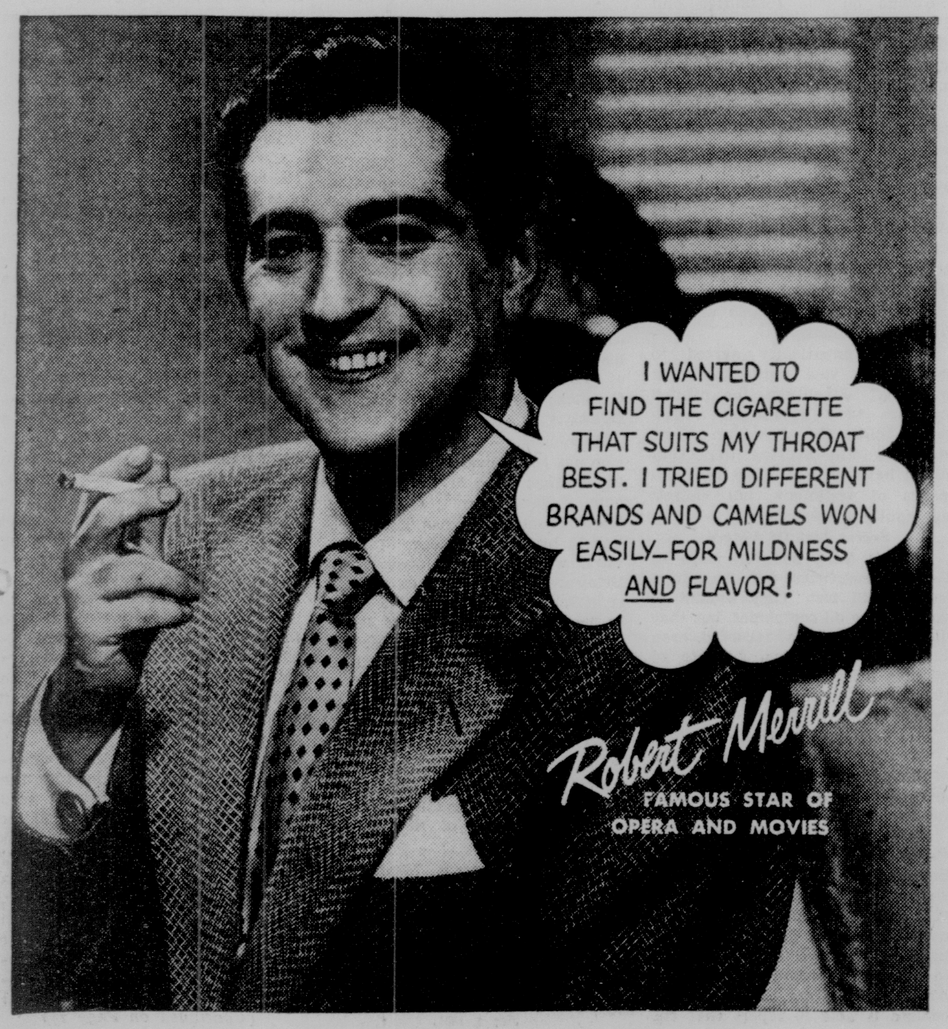
Robert Merrill says:

"My throat gave me the answer to the mildness tests. My choice is Camels!"



AFTER ALL THE MILDNESS TESTS, CAMEL LEADS ALL OTHER BRANDS BY BILLIONS!

ACROSS the country, smokers have been eager to find out which cigarette best agrees with their throats. Like Robert Merrill, famed opera star, now making movies in Hollywood, they've made different mildness tests — quick tests, trick tests — and especially their own 30-day Camel tests.

After all the mildness tests, latest published figures show that Camel has its biggest lead in popularity in 25 years!

The reasons: mildness and flavor. No other cigarette has Camel's rich, full flavor, pack after pack.

And no other cigarette has this proof of mildness: In a coast-to-coast test of hundreds of people who smoked only Camels for 30 days, noted throat specialists reported not one single case of throat irritation due to smoking Camels!

FRAN WARREN, popular singing star, has chosen Camels because they taste so rich and they get along so well with her throat.

BUDDY ROGERS says, "My cigarette must agree with my throat — and Camels do just that. Camels are my steady smoke."

TEST CAMELS in your "T-Zone" (T for Throat, T for Taste). Smoke Camels for 30 days and see how mild and flavorful a cigarette can be!

According to a repeated nationwide survey of doctors in every branch of medicine—

More Doctors Smoke Camels than any other cigarette!

Communism Or Clownery?

The clown is one of the most durable characters on record. He is always getting slapped down, and always bouncing up again, as pert as ever. Kings have been saner because of him, and Shakespeare has spoken through his mouth.

The clown is universal. Even communists laugh at him if they still dare. But there are no more clowns in Russia now, by official edict. Without even the formality of extracting a confession, the official Literary Gazette of Moscow has tried the clown and convicted him of being "actively and obstinately propagated by the bourgeois circus."

Such "cosmopolitan clownery" is, of course, counter-revolutionary. Ergo, no more clowns.

But don't stay away from the circus, advises a Budapest newspaper (Hungary and Czechoslovakia, too, have just discovered that clowns cater to warmongering capitalism). Instead of clowns, the circus will have new humorous artists who outdo any tightrope walker in their gyrations on the party line.

They will recite instructive jingles "which are on daily problems and are of a constructive character: the fight against the kulaks, the economic plan, etc." Meanwhile Czechoslovakia is abolishing the sideshow in circuses, substituting "educational" exhibits that will serve the cause of peace by making children hate "the enemy"—that is, the United States.

The communists are right in a way. No clown ever knuckled down to authority, or catered to respect for it. Oaf though he be, he is never a lickspittle. Authority is never taken as seriously as it would like to be when there are clowns around. Liquidate them, then.

But clowns are immortal and communists aren't. Clowns are immortal because they are protagonists of something in the human spirit that won't knuckle down. Give them time. They'll have the last laugh.

The Cry Of "Wolf!"

At the same time that Secretary of the Treasury Snyder announced, with undisguised pride, a $3,500,000,000 government surplus for the fiscal year 1951 he predicted that a deficit of equal size would result in the next three months.

That pessimistic attitude toward the financial future is an old Washington habit, particularly when a tax bill is being drafted, but it has been proved wrong so many times that it is understandable why Congress pays scant attention to it.

Of course, the Treasury may be sliding somewhat toward the red as the summer progresses. This is the season when general business slackens and tax receipts are correspondingly light. It is also true that the defense program is just getting into high gear and will require heavier expenditures than has recently been the case. So far, so good—or bad.

It is a fact, however, that conditions in the fall and winter are bound to be better. That certainly is the position which the Senate seems to be taking as it considers the new revenue measure.

Taxpayers, no less than the members of Congress, remember what happened this year. At the start both the President and Mr. Snyder saw a deficit of such size that additional revenues of $17,500,000,000 would be required to keep the ship of state afloat.

That the administration's estimate was later lowered to $10,000,000,000 and now stands at that figure is likely to raise the suspicion in Congress that once again much more money is being asked for than is really needed. After a time the cry of "wolf!" just does not register.

Ready For Russia

Those who hold to the belef that Russa will eventually start a war against the free nations of the world must wonder, at times, when the decision will be made and just how hostilities will get under way.

It has been a common theory that Russian planes might launch the offensive with bomb attacks upon the principal cities to terrorize the American people and lessen their will to fight. In view of recent official pronouncements on the subject there is small likelihood that such attacks need to be feared as matters now stand.

General Emmett O'Donnell of the Air Force recently told members of the Senate the strategic air command was ready to hit back instantly if this country is attacked. Other high military leaders have said the same thing and it no longer is a military secret that the nation is ready to meet any such aggression by Russia

General O'Donnell has declared that long-range bombers have been streamlined and would be on their way to the interior of Russia in a matter of hours.

Russia was willing to permit the Chinese communists to become expendable, but has no stomach for direct attack upon its own country. U. S. atomic superiority, together with the long-range bombers to deliver their loads to any part of that country, are the factors of safety so far as war, present or future, is concerned. This country is ready for any such emergency.

Taxpayers Are Human

The federal government's Bureau of Internal Revenue has been conducting a comprehensive and intensive study of the species taxpayer Americanus. Its method was to check up on his tax returns. And the results might be summed up in one sentence: Human nature in this country is still doing business at the same old stand.

That conclusion is justified on the bureau's finding that one out of four income tax returns filed in 1948 made a mistake of $2 or more—and in nine cases out of 10 the errors were in the taxpayer's favor. To put it another way, Americans are likely to be careless in dealing with their government but as a rule they aren't so careless that they lose by it. They aren't dishonest—they're just prejudiced against errors that will hurt them. It's natural.

The survey also produced some results that should surprise many people. For example, it showed that businessmen are the most likely to make errors. About half of their returns showed mistakes. So businessmen can expect to be checked more carefully in the future. The bureau defines businessmen as sole owners of farms or non-farming enterprises that are not incorporated, and professional men such as doctors or lawyers.

Editorial Paragraphs

Just 13 years ago Mexico kicked out American petroleum developers. Now it is trying to get them back. There is a moral in this for Iranian politicians if they concentrate on the subject sufficiently long and hard.

Vacation Hazards

Every year we hear about accidents that occur on vacations. It is easy to drown, to eat poison berries, to contact poison ivy, or to drink raw milk that contains the undulant fever organisms. There are about 75 diseases that can be acquired from insects and other animals. After reading about the hazards, every one, including myself, considers staying home and taking a much needed rest in bed. However, most of us prefer to take a chance because we want some diversion and excitement at least once a year. By using precautions we can return from our holiday safe and sound.

Overexertion can be avoided, for example. The heart of a 50 year old does not realize that it is on vacation and the organ is just as likely to rebel when we overdo in a rowboat or on a pack trip as it would if we performed heavy chores about the house. The stomach will have a similar reaction to greasy food and sudden overloading with hot dogs, soft drinks, and coffee. In other words there is no sense in trying to catch all the fish in the lake or see all the sights on the first day or in neglecting to spare the time to eat properly.

Vacationists are not immune to auto accidents. Gawking is just as dangerous on country roads as city streets. The highways are crowded and there are thousands of stupid and bad mannered drivers to contend with. Cocktail parties are more numerous and a drunken vacationist is just as poor a driver as his counterpart in the city. Lakes, pools, rivers, and oceans claim the lives of 3,500 annually. This means that we should not be cocky in the water or overestimate our ability as swimmers. The person who remains calm when he gets into trouble has a better chance to be saved. It is not wise to swim immediately after eating and it is well to remember that water aggravates eye and ear infections as well as diseases of the sinuses and skin. Diving into unknown waters is risky; 200 individuals were killed in this way last year. Those who like to rock the boat while out fishing or canoeing should be left at home.

The local health hazards should be determined in advance. The man or woman who is going into the woods or mountains, for example, should wear clothing that offers protection against ticks and poison ivy. Journeys are hard on the skin because facilities for cleansing may be scarce. Sun and wind have an adverse effect and scorching weather encourages prickly heat. Insect bites and poison ivy are other nuisances. To overcome these difficulties it is wise to include in the traveling case cleansing creams, sun tan lotions, talc, insect repellents, and germicidal soap.

Traveling means new foods, different water, clean and dirty restaurants, and other changes. Individuals with heart disease or high blood pressure should avoid high altitudes. The healthy person encounters lightheadedness and fatigue in mountainous areas but these disorders usually are temporary and it is not necessary to dash home immediately after they develop. Motion sickness often was a draw back in days gone by but so many preparations now are available that there is no excuse to stay home.

Vacations can be fun but we must use common sense. Ample rest, adequate food, and acting your age will bring you back home with new energy and attitudes.

COLITIS

Mrs. E. writes: Is mucous colitis invariably a nervous condition?

REPLY

Not necessarily, because mucous often accompanies any type of irritation; but when the term "mucous colitis" is used as a synonym for "spastic bowel" the condition usually is considered of nervous origin. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on functional disorders of the colon (spastic bowel).

THYMUS DECREASES

Mrs. J. writes: I have been told that the thymus gland leaves the body at the age of 12. Is this correct?

REPLY

The structure doesn't leave, it just becomes smaller. The gland has performed its job and after the age of 12 to 13 (puberty) atrophies.

FLAPPING EARS

Mrs. D. writes: My daughter is very unhappy about her protruding ears. She wants to have them flattened with surgery. Is this much of an operation?

REPLY

Not for a surgeon who is skilled along this line. Procedures of this nature are more tedious and time consuming than serious. You might point out to your daughter that women are better off than men in that the hair-do can hide the ears.

WORRY AND TENSION

F. D. writes: How does worry produce high blood pressure?

REPLY

Worry sets off a chain of events beginning with the nervous system and the pituitary gland and ending with constriction of the arteries and elevation of the pressure. Some authorities also assert that a hormone elaborated by the kidneys is a factor.

Eighteen Congressmen Vote Secretly With Oil Companies On Tidelands Oil; Eleven Senators Urge Tidelands Oil Royalties Go To Education

WASHINGTON — Two groups of senators and congressmen lined up on opposite sides of the fence recently regarding one of the most vital issues in the nation—oil and education.

With the nation's schools in the most deplorable condition in our entire history, 18 members of the House of Representatives Judiciary Committee voted to turn the nation's tidelands oil over to three states and their oil companies, instead of using the proceeds for educational purposes.

On the other side of Congress, 11 senators introduced a resolution whereby the royalties from this oil, administered by the federal government, would go to aid the schools and colleges of the entire nation.

The first group—the 18 members of the Judiciary Committee—voted secretly. Even behind the closed doors of their committee they tried to avoid a rollcall vote, and if it had not been for Congressman Michael Feighan of Ohio they would have sneaked their vote by without even a show of hands.

In the senate, the 11 men who risked the wrath of the oil companies and the powerful Tidelands Oil lobby stood up and did so openly. They did not hide behind closed doors. Their names are: Lister Hill of Alabama, who initiated the idea; his Alabama colleague, John Sparkman; Wayne Morse of Oregon, Republican; Charles Tobey of New Hampshire, also Republican; and Democrats Benton of Connecticut, Douglas of Illinois, Humphrey of Minnesota, Chavez of New Mexico, Neely of West Virginia, Kefauver of Tennessee, and Hennings of Missouri.

Reversing The Supreme Court

What happened inside the House Judiciary Committee has not been published, but this column has obtained a list of the congressmen voting for the three states and the oil companies.

It should be noted that the Supreme Court twice has ruled that the submerged oil lands alongside the coast of the United States belong to the entire 48 states, not to California, Texas and Louisiana alone. This is on the theory that, under the constitution, the navigable waters of the United States belong to the federal government, not the individual states.

However, the Tidelands Oil lobby, seeking to reverse the Supreme Court, has introduced legislation turning these submerged oil lands back to three states, and was so successful that President Truman used the veto.

The other day, in an attempt to reverse both the president and the court, Congressman Ed Gossett of Texas, who is about to retire from congress, demanded that the Judiciary Committee vote again on the lobby's Tidelands Bill. No wildcat promoter ever worked faster to stake a drill site than did Gossett to get this special-interest bill through the committee. Gossett didn't even want to give other members time to read the committee hearings.

This brought stormy protests from Congressmen Celler of New York, Fleighan of Ohio and Machrowicz of Michigan. But to no avail. Gossett had the votes and he was roaring for action.

"You can debate this on the House floor if you want to," insisted the Texas congressman. "Let's get to a vote."

"But how can we vote intelligently if we don't know what this is all about?" objected Michigan's Machrowicz. "There are eight new members on the committee and I'm one of them. You ought to give us a chance at least to read the hearings, which I understand are still at the printers."

"On a matter as vital as this involving the release of public oil reserves to private interests, we had better go slow," warned Ohio's Feighan. "This involves international as well as national security. With Russia threatening to grab control of the Iran oil fields, there is all the more reason why the federal government should keep control of these valuable deposits in our own country."

Gossett impatiently agreed to postpone a vote until the next morning. Meantime, the printed hearings were distributed a few hours before the showdown. Some members still insisted that they didn't have time to digest the 1,200 pages of testimony, but Gossett adamantly shouted "vote!"

Secret List Of Voters

By this time, however, some of Gossett's supporters were beginning to get cold feet. They wanted to vote for the oil companies, but they didn't want to be so recorded, even in a secret meeting, because of possible leaks to the press. A motion was therefore made for a "voice" vote.

But Feighan jumped to his feet. "We should at least have a show of hands, so we will know how many are voting for and against the bill," he demanded.

When this was done, Chairman Celler counted 18 members for handing Tidelands oil back to three states, with 7 against it. Since a "hand," or division, vote is merely counted and not itemized member by member, there is no breakdown in the secret record of how each congressman votes. However, this column is able to report that the congressmen who voted to hand over the nation's tidelands oil to three states and the oil companies were:

Democrats: Walter of Pennsylvania, who has both Lafayette and Lehigh Colleges in his district, but who placed the oil lobby ahead of his district; Jones of North Carolina, who has Davidson College, Queens College, Lenoir Rhyne College, Lees-McRae College and Johnson C. Smith University, a negro institution, all in his district; Chelf of Kentucky, who has Lindsey-Wilson and Campbellsville College in his district; Wilson of Texas; Willis of Louisiana; Bryson of South Carolina; Forrester of Georgia; and Gossett.

Republicans: Fellows of Maine, who has the University of Maine in his district; Reed of Illinois; Graham of Pennsylvania; Goodwin of Massachusetts, who has Tufts College in his district; Boggs of Delaware, who has the University of Delaware in his district; Crumpacker of Indiana, who has Notre Dame in his district; Thompson of Michigan; Hillings of California; McCullough of Ohio; and Bakewell of Missouri.

Those voting against the oil companies were: Celler of New York; Lane of Massachusetts; Feighan of Ohio; Rodino of New Jersey (by proxy); Bryne of New York and Ramsay of West Virginia, all Democrats; and Case of New Jersey, Republican.

Two others present, Machrowicz of Michigan, Democrat, and Keating of New York, Republican, indicated opposition to the oil companies, but refused to vote because they weren't given time to study the hearings.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Peace Is Difficult

The problems of peace are always more complex than the problems of war. From the war between the states (1861-1865) until 1914, the United States was far from the problems of war. The slight Spanish-American war did not affect the economy of the nation or bring about social or political changes.

During the past 37 years, the problems of war have perturbed the American people and have, in reality, effected a severe economic, social and political revolution, the magnitude of which is not yet historically ascertainable. The fact remains that the fundamental economic measure of this revolution, the 16th amendment to the constitution, was adopted in 1913, almost as a prelude to events about to occur. This amendment gave Congress the power "to lay and collect taxes on incomes, from whatever source derived, without apportionment among the several states, and without regard to any census or enumeration."

In a word, it gave Congress the authority to levy an income tax on the individual citizen, which in turn came to be a tax to redistribute wealth, and is now a tax to siphon off the earnings of the people in pursuit of fiscal policies of the government.

Without the income tax, the corporation tax and similar measures, the government could not have financed three wars, World War I, World War II, and the continuing, unnamed war with Soviet Russia, of which the Korean war is a battle. It is this enormous revenue that permits close to a $100,000,000,000 budget, including vast and often profligate aid to other countries. But these taxes are also reducing the savings of the American people and are producing vast social changes, such as lowering the "white-collar" class into a proletariat and the gradual elimination of the small businessman.

Thirty-seven years of war have also had the effect, to be redundant, of developing a needlessly vast Federal bureaucracy, men and women often employed temporarily for war purposes, but whom the government will not dismiss either for political reasons or to avoid swelling the number of unemployed.

In line with these necessities, it has seemed to be advantageous to keep young men and women longer at school than they need to be and it has been necessary to subsidize, at times, idlneness and unemployment. In a word, war has wrought many changes unimaginable to the citizen who looked upon the United States in any year from 1865 to 1913.

The most damaging result of war is the difficulty of achieving peace. In terms of history, World War I is still unsettled, for the central problem of Europe remains Germany, its political and economic structure and its place in the family of nations. As for World War II, there is not even a peace treaty to bespeak its terminus.

One major aim of World War I, as expressed by Woodrow Wilson, was the organization of a parliament of nations as an improvement upon the balance of power and the concert of Europe. The breakdown of the organization of the world even prior to 1914 was inevitable with the emergence of the United States, Germany and Japan as greater powers than Great Britain, France, Holland, Belgium and the Austro-Hungarian Empire. In World War II, this was complicated by the emergence of Soviet Russia and her various satellite countries as the largest and strongest empire in the world.

The League of Nations could not have been anything but a transition from the tight concert of Europe to such a world as we see today. The United Nations has not yet proved itself in any respect, and only time or the next general war will determine its value. Meanwhile, a competing Federation of States exists and functions in the Soviet World, supported by Russian military force.

The effort to establish a peace as a result of the Korean truce is frightening to the countries outside the Russian orbit because the initiative is with Stalin and no one can even guess how he will use it. He can use it for war as well as peace. He can use it to prolong the "constant war," that is, the weakening of the economy of the United States so that the Western Powers will lack the strength, and even the will, to resist.

This is historically a time for caution and great wisdom. Russia plays not for permanent peace, but for a one world directed by the Kremlin.

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Time was in American politics when less than twelve months before the national political conventions you could tell the trend of the party platforms and the probable candidates.

Today the world situation vitally affects the trend and can change it a dozen times between now and the days when the conventions meet.

But there are underlying factors in American party politics which never change and these fundamentals give a clue to what may happen.

Fundamental number one is that no party ever reaches out for an unknown but popular personality unless the party is in a desperate condition and has to take a long, long chance on a well-known name.

Thus General Eisenhower could be the Republican or the Democratic nominee depending on how desperate the leaders of either party really feel about their chances for victory.

Fundamental number two is that no political party likes to reach out for a personality who doesn't know the party organizations throughout the country or who doesn't know the party mechanism well enough to handle in a satisfactory manner the appointments to office with rewards to the politically deserving workers.

Pressure Favors Truman

This is but another way of saying that the pressure to renominate President Truman will grow as the officeholders see in his possible election the least possible danger to their own continuance in office. Likewise this means that in the Republican party a man like Senator Taft is a better bet for the party workers than a man like Eisenhower who isn't familiar with the way political parties work from the inside.

Fundamental number three is that the independent groups of voters who have so much to say in the final campaign itself have little to say about who shall be nominated. Delegate choosing is a technical, political business. The chances in both parties of nominating a man who has been through the political mill are greater than the selection of an unknown. By "unknown" is meant a figure not previously involved in political activities. There are exceptions such as the nomination of Wendell Willkie in 1940 by the Republicans and there can be exceptions again, and just as the Willkie nomination was a means of defeating Dewey and Taft and Vandenberg that year, so Eisenhower's name could be used in 1952 as a means of trying to block Taft. Messrs. Dewey and Stassen have openly declared for Eisenhower but this means politically only that they will have a say in the Eisenhower camp if the General isn't nominated and a compromise is selected, or a voice in his campaign if he is nominated.

At the moment the chances are better than even that the Republicans will not select Eisenhower if the fortunes of the Democrats seem to be at a low ebb a year from now. The Republican organization men would rather take a chance on Senator Taft. If a deadlock develops in the convention, some other senator may come to the front as a compromise—Knowland of California or Lodge of Massachusetts.

In the Democratic party, Truman is the logical man to defend his own record. But the members of his family do not want him to run. He too knows that while the new constitutional amendment technically doesn't apply to him the people may be persuaded to believe that a moral barrier to more than two terms has been erected.

The same arguments that militate against choosing an "unknown" in politics for the Republican nominee can be said to militate against selecting General Eisenhower as the Democratic nominee.

Wants Vindication

Mr. Truman, of course, would like to retire in a blaze of glory. He wants vindication. He can get it by selecting the standard bearer of the party and campaigning for him so that a victory for his choice would be vindication of the present administration. Who is the strongest man from the Truman viewpoint? The answer is someone who is friendly to him, someone who has a thorough knowledge of Democratic politics, someone who has prestige nationally, someone who will not kick out the officeholders in key spots though he would have his own cabinet, someone with a devotion to the international policies of the Truman Administration. Such a man is Fred Vinson of Kentucky, former chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, former Secretary of the Treasurer, former economic stabilizer during World War II, former court of appeals judge, and now Chief Justice of the United States. He is not a candidate and would prefer to stay on the bench the rest of his life. He would have to be drafted. But so was Justice Hughes for the Republican nomination in 1916. Justice Vinson is a natural for the Democrats if Mr. Truman chooses not to run.

Matter Of Fact

By STEWART ALSOP

The First Offensive

AVON, CONN.

Here in Connecticut, in the green peace of a farm in a quiet valley, is not a bad place to take stock after a long expedition of inquiry in Europe and the Middle East. In this stock taking, two points especially strike this reporter. The first is the brilliant success of our venture in Korea, which has now been proven by the desire of the Masters of the Kremlin to cry quits there.

The real gain in Korea has not been local; indeed it could be most clearly seen in Europe. In Korea, in fact, we totally disrupted a Soviet program of world conquest that seemed, only a year ago, to be almost unbeatable. There is no doubt at all that the Soviet empire would now be absorbing the first important fragments of a disarmed Western world, if Korea had not put an end to what may be called the Louis Johnson era of American and European policy making.

Second, however, the Masters of the Kremlin have now radically adapted their tactics to the changed world situation. And there are a great many reasons to doubt whether the Western leaders are any better prepared to meet these new Soviet tactics, than they were prepared for the sudden challenge of the Korean aggression.

Unpreparedness Illustrated

The most vivid illustration of this Western unpreparedness is the crisis in Iran, whose inner seriousness is not fully acknowledged, even today, either in London or in Washington. The probable course of events in Iran is now lamentably predictable.

The British and American policy makers will go on hoping that the irrational Iranian Prime Minister, Dr. Mohammed Mossadegh, will somehow come to "see reason," until the expropriation of the British oil interest is a fully accomplished fact. The British will then retaliate by applying economic sanctions, cutting off the oil revenues on which the Iranian government lives. The chief result will be to stop the pay of the already feeble Iranian Army and police. And with the solo serious opposition thus conveniently removed, the Communist Tudeh party, the only hard organization in Iran, will thereupon seize power from the distracted Iranian nationalists.

This outcome is not yet inevitable, of course. Dr. Mossadegh and his friends may yet come to their senses, although they have ostentatiously refused to do so thus far. Or the Americans and British may jointly succeed in persuading the Shah of Iran to give his country the only kind of government that makes sense — a tough reform regime on the Turkish pattern of Mustapha Kemal Pasha — although the British alone have already tried this and failed.

British To Get Support

Yet the likelihood of a grave outcome in Iran is proven by the private understanding between London and Washington, that if the Tudeh party in fact begins to take over, the British will receive American support for a troop movement into the southern Iranian oil region. Unhappily, the chances are that it will then be too late for strong measures to save anything from the wreck.

The truth is that since the beginning of the Iranian crisis, the Western powers have been behind the game, and the Masters of the Kremlin have made the running in Iran through the Tudeh. For example, when this reporter saw Dr. Mossadegh in April, Mossadegh had not the faintest intention of proceeding to take over the British oil properties immediately. But the wave of strikes and disorders organized by and Tudeh then drove Mossadegh to immediate action. And so the British and American policy makers were brusquely deprived of "the time that would heal all things," which they had been smugly counting on.

The further truth is that we cannot comfort ourselves because the Masters of the Kremlin will need some years to exploit Iran's oil for their own benefit. The simple loss of the Iranian oil resource will knock galley west the precarious equilibrium of the British economy, which has been achieved by such bitter self-denial. (How to cover the expected new British dollar deficit is, in fact, already being discussed in London and Washington.)

Fire Destroys Two Box Cars

One Baltimore and Ohio box car was destroyed and another partially ruined by fire yesterday afternoon at the repair tracks of the railroad's backshops on Offutt Street.

Central Fire Department and South End Company answered the call and had the flames under control within a half hour. A spokesman for the railroad said the cause of the flames was undetermined and damage was unestimated.

The spokesman continued to say the cars were used for storage or transporting materials within the shops area. He added such type cars are usually destroyed and salvageable parts recovered for future use. The fire was reported at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon and quick action of firemen kept the blaze from spreading, railroad men in the area stated.

FIRE DESTROYS BOX CAR—Two Cumberland Fire Companies were called yesterday afternoon to extinguish a blaze which completely destroyed a box car owned by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad. The fire occurred about 5 o'clock at the repair tracks of the railroad's backshops on Offutt Street. The box car can be seen above after Central Fire Company and South End Firemen brought the blaze under control. A spokesman for the railroad said the cause was not determined. The car was empty at the time. Another box car was slightly damaged by the afternoon blaze.

Reports Conflict

"I think Mr. Hitchcock has received some justifiable criticism and has also received some unjustifiable criticism. It's up to the Mayor and Council to make a decision. All I'm after is results."

Buchholtz angrily jumped back in at this juncture with the statement: "Either the Mayor and Council is going to run the city or the departments."

"That's a pretty harsh statement," Long answered. "I know I run the Police and Fire Departments."

It was here that Long asked Hitchcock if he could have a report for the council by Wednesday. Hitchcock said "Yes," but Buchholtz stated he doubted if the smoke engineer could work up an "intelligent report" in 48 hours. Hitchcock said he could do it within that time.

When the ordinance was under fire at the May 21 meeting, Hitchcock reported he did not need 30 days to present his report, adding the ordinance was "sufficiently adequate" and that the proof of this was to be found in the dustfall readings and in the work the smoke abatement office is doing.

Local Post Office Receipts Show Fiscal Year Increase

Receipts of the Cumberland Post Office during the fiscal year ending June 30 show an increase for the same period ending in 1950, according to a report issued yesterday by Postmaster Thomas F. Conlon.

During the fiscal year ending June 30, 1950, a total of $369,280.82 was received in postal receipts. For the fiscal year just ended the total was $381,108.72.

Conlon explained that receipts consisted of sales of postage stamps, newspaper mailings, third-class mailings, box rent and miscellaneous receipts.

A large increase was shown in the value of money orders handled by the Post Office. In the fiscal year ending June 30, 1950, there were 103,766 money orders issued with $92,853 paid out on orders presented here. For the fiscal year just ended there were 99,108 money orders issued with $105,308 being paid here. Conlon remarked that despite the drop in the number of money orders the money value of them was much higher.

U. S. Savings Bond sales showed a decrease in the fiscal year just ended over the previous year. In 1950 there were $77,721.75 worth of bonds sold while in the fiscal year ending June 30, 1951, there were $69,793.75 worth sold.

Conlon commented that the postal savings handled by the office are slowly declining from former years. There were 492 depositors with $375,680 on deposit in 1950, while during the fiscal year the deposit dropped to 450 with $340,148 to their account.

The special delivery service report shows 38,694 letters and articles delivered during the fiscal year ending in 1950, while 39,256 were delivered the past fiscal year. There were 3,904 manpower hours used in delivering these articles in 1950 while 3,924 manpower hours were used in 1951.

Mail carrier manpower hours during 1950 amounted to 70,116, while in 1951 they dropped to 62,554. Much of the decrease is attributed to the curtailment of mail deliveries during the past fiscal year, Conlon said.

Clerical manpower hours also dropped from 75,561 in 1950 to 74,961 in 1951. Conlon also noted the clerical manpower hours have dropped steadily during the past few years.

It is anticipated there will be a further reduction in clerical manpower hours due to the effect of the new money order system. The new system has reduced the volume of accounting procedures in Post Offices, Conlon pointed out.

Conlon said it is anticipated that business at the Post Office during the current fiscal year will be on the same level as the year just completed.

Augusta Youth Given Jail Sentence, Fines

A five-day jail sentence and fines aggregating $75 and costs were imposed yesterday morning on Eugene A. Wolford, 23, of Augusta, W. Va., who was involved in a five-vehicle crash Saturday night on Route 50, east of Romney, W. Va.

State Police Sgt. L. W. Kelley reported Wolford was driving west when he turned left across the highway at the Old Log Cabin and ran into the path of an eastbound coal truck.

The truck operator, police said, apparently lost control of the machine due to his heavy cargo and hit the Wolford car, two other automobiles and a parked truck. Considerable damage was caused.

IS THAT A FACT! by Ches Peake

A FORTUNE FROM THE THIMBLE. The first thimble ever seen in England was made in London some 200 years ago by a metal worker named John Lofting. He founded a great English fortune on its manufacture. The thimble was first worn on the thumb. Since it was shaped like a bell, it was natural that the first thimble should have been called a "thumb-bell." Over the years, its name has softened into "thimble."

A NOTE FROM THE CHINESE. The oldest bank note probably in existence dates from the year 1399 B.C., and was issued by the Chinese government. It bears the name of the imperial bank, date, and number of issue, signature of a mandarin, along with a list of punishments inflicted for forgery of notes.

IT IS ALSO A FACT THAT . . . the YELLOW PAGES of your Telephone Directory save you time and trouble. Suppose, for example, you've forgotten the name of a firm, but know the address. Just look in the YELLOW PAGES, find the right heading, and presto, you've got the firm you want. Works just as well, too, when you know the name, but not the address. Use the YELLOW PAGES of your Telephone Directory often. You'll find it—pays!

HOLLYWOOD

By DOROTHY MANNERS
(Substituting for Louella Parsons)

HOLLYWOOD, July 9—(INS)—Like the idea of Susan Hayward as a suffragette yet?

Pretty red-haired Susie has been pencilled in by Darryl Zanuck to star in "Star In The West," Richard Emery Robert's new book, which won't be out until fall.

The author tells a fiction story based on the career of his mother, Lucretia Emery, who gave up a life of ease in Brooklyn years ago to become a lady sheriff in Arizona and blaze the trails there for votes for women.

Lamar Trotti, who is writing the screenplay, describes it as a western with a feminist slant, plus action and comedy.

William Holden

The story is an original by Mary about the private life of a turn-of-the-century can-can dancer — the type made famous in Lautrec's paintings. All financing for the picture is out of Pickford's pocketbook.

She and Buddy couldn't be happier than they are in Paris. It particularly seemed like home to them when her niece, Gwynne Ornstein, and her husband came on from home to visit them.

Hear this now—all you girls who think there aren't enough men to go around and that those who aren't marriage minded:

Ray Walker, well-known Los Angeles car dealer and head man of Walker Productions, is launching a TV series, "I Want To Get Married," in which bachelors will be interviewed swearing first they are on the level about marriage—and then saying what type of gal they want and in what circumstances they can support her.

The board of directors includes Writer Steve Fisher, Robert Reid and Sidney Harris.

Has anybody thought to inquire what possible TV rules there may be about even the most honest marriage bureau show?

Shorties: Bill Holden, who is in the big chips now, had to get his business manager's okay before he could have a swimming pool.

Lloyd Nolan says he knows the father of a teen-age girl with a real dope problem—getting the dope she goes with out of the parlor before midnight.

Mala Powers is recording romantic readings of Keats, Shelley and Byron to be sent to the boys overseas who admire Keats, Shelley and Byron.

June Haver, still friendly with the family of her late fiance, Dr. John Duzik, will visit them in Wyoming this summer.

When Richard Arlen starts "Green Gold of Nevada," it will be the 150th picture he has made on the Paramount lot.

Tony Bartley, off to London to film scenes for his TV series, is keeping his fingers crossed he will be back here before Deborah Kerr has her baby.

Every time Peggy Dow starts a new picture she gets a big bunch of white roses and gladioli from her agents with the same card, "Good Luck. Harold Rose and Maury Tannen." Peggy broke down and wept when the same flowers and the same card came to her starting day on the Goldwyn lot. Tannen died two weeks ago.

Ouch! Robert Sherwood wants $150,000 for his original story and screenplay, "Chippy"—the first he has ever written directly for the screen.

Jarmila Novotna, whose marvelous voice was lost in the "cuts" on "The Great Caruso," may get a real chance to sing in "The Student Prince," Joe Pasternak's picture for MGM.

Eleanor Powell brought orchids when she came to see her former protegee, Peggy Ryan, at Ciro's.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

With an eye to the fall silhouette, keep a close control on your figure this summer! Switch to cool, sheer fabrics.

SECRETS OF CHARM

By JOHN ROBERT POWERS

Said the first model, "There is just one word for next season's fashions."

"Right," agreed the second, "and that word is curvy. What a sad awakening it's going to be for the gals who've given up their girdles and hip-trimming stints this summer."

"Curves that looked scrumptious will just look bumptious!" acknowledged the party of the first part.

Since the pictures of fall fashions that you'll soon be seeing in your favorite magazines have long been in work, you can take these sage commentaries of Powers models with more than a grain of salt.

Your Fall Curves

When fashions are curvaceous, they accent every natural curve that you have. They accent even a gently - rounded curve to such a degree that it looks like a caricature, and while caricatures amuse, they seldom win compliments.

Don't let the sultry weather tempt you into neglecting your hip - trimming calisthenics. And don't give up the restraining, figure reminders you receive through a proper foundation. You can depend on them to help keep your figure disciplined as you will want it to be when you slip into your new, fall fashions. Listen to the advice of one of the stylists on my staff:

"For cool comfort in summer combined with effortless restraint, get yourself fitted with pantie girdles. And fitted is the word — just as with any other foundation. They must be snug through the waist, hip, and leg, yet never constricting. Comfort and ease of movement are their special reason for being; proper fitting assures you of these benefits.

"For junior and average figures you can find them in the sheerest, rainbow - hued, elasticized fabrics with one - way stretch front and back panels that refine the entire hip girth superbly.

New For Large Figures

"For heavier and more mature figures, this year a number of models are available with the same hip-slimming and thigh - trimming features as girdles, but with the freedom which only a well - fitted pantie girdle can give. Some are so cleverly designed that you can depend on them for slim lines under a dress or suit as well as under casual clothes. The degree of support depends on the weight of the fabric and elastic, but even in the larger sizes you can find them in cool-weight fabrics. Look for the models with low-cut waistlines to accomodate long-line brassieres. They're attractively designed with embroidery and lace insets.

"If your size requires a pantie girdle with a zipper, make it a habit to keep the lower hook fastened — this will prevent costly rips.

"With an eye to your fall beauty and your beauty right now under slacks and play clothes . . . wear your foundation always as a healthy posture and beauty amulet!"

Mirror Of Your Mind

By LAWRENCE GOULD, Consulting Psychologist

Should you dislike certain "types" of people?

Answer: No. This is a form of mental laziness, besides being unrealistic. No one you will ever meet will be completely "typical" of the race, sex or profession he or she belongs to, and assuming in advance that this will be so will prevent your making any real adjustment to him or her. As a writer, I have been dealing with editors for many years, yet I never knew two editors who were exactly alike or required precisely the same approach. If you will keep an open mind, you will find that the same is true of "bosses" "landlords," "big brass," "artists,' or whatever supposed "type" you wish to mention.

Will bomb drills make children neurotic?

Answer: There is some real danger of this, though it will depend upon the attitudes of parents and teachers. The idea of an atomic bomb as such — or the idea of death, for that matter — is too remote from the average child's experience to have much emotional effect upon him. The one thing that will throw him into panic is to see the people he depends on for protection frightened or apprehensive. A child whose parents and teachers treat the possibility of air raids coolly will take bomb drill no more seriously than he does fire drill if he never has seen a conflagration.

Do sports help mental patients?

Answer: Yes, says Dr. John Eisele Davis in an article in Mental Hygiene (New York). An important factor in the rehabilitation of a mental patient is to keep him active and competitive sports seem to be even more useful than direct vocational training, which may arouse both resistance and the patient's doubt of his own powers. Games like basketball and baseball in which losing does not involve serious consequences (as job failure would) give him a chance to regain self - confidence without realizing what is happening to him, and so to become better able to face looking for employment when the time comes.

ON THE LINE

By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK, July 9 (INS) — A man who is very close not only to President Truman but also to Gen. Eisenhower, Gov. Dewey's nominee for the White House on the Republican ticket, is assuring intimates that the GOP has "cut itself away" from the general, and Ike will run on the Democratic ticket.

He says no more than this, but William Bradford Huie goes into considerable detail on the question in the current Cosmopolitan, in a piece he calls "Truman's plan to make Eisenhower president."

Huie figures it is cut and dried. He asserts that Gen. George Marshall played a role in urging Eisenhower not to yield to Republican draft attempts in 1948, on the ground that he would have been bucking a commander-in-chief friendly to the military.

"But," writes Huie, "if Truman chooses Eisenhower (in 1952) how simple everything becomes! Truman appears at the Democratic convention as the unchallenged leader and, elder statesman; he announces that he, too, may 'fade away'; he declares that the perilous situation demands Eisenhower; the convention riots in sweet unity; and few Americans would bet against Eisenhower's election.

"In what more certain fashion could Truman 'demonstrate his statesmanship' and 'unify the country'? How could Republicans like Thomas E. Dewey effectively oppose Eisenhower when they are already on record as favoring him for the Republican nomination?

"But if Dewey nominates Eisenhower at the Republican convention the applause he gets from Capehart of Indiana and Dirksen of Illinois and Taft of Ohio will be short of deafening."

Huie says — unfairly, I think — that Eisenhower "went considerably out of his way" to recall, in his memoirs, that the president offered to help him get anything he wanted, including the White House, during the President's trip to Europe in 1945. That seemed to me to be very legitimate memoiring at the time, and still does. Not many men in our history have been thus approached by an occupant of the White House. None have, let us say.

He does add — fairly, I think — that the Democratic party faces a tough road if it cannot swing Eisenhower into line. H. S. T. will be 68 next year, and the only other party members named in the Gallup preference poll were Alben Barkley and F. D. R., Jr. The Democrats have started their own whispering campaign against Barkley, and the President opposed the Congressional candidacy of young Roosevelt.

The man I was speaking of at the start of this piece — the man who "knows them both" — seems to have a lot in common with Mr. Huie.

Korean Settlement Now Can Change Presidential Picture

Peace Would Help Democrats Campaign

By STEWART ALSOP
(Special from Washington)

Obviously a settlement in Korea, if there is one, will have a profound effect on the course of next year's political battle. Unless the Democratic professionals are suffering from mass self-delusion, it will greatly strengthen Harry S. Truman, making him, if he runs, a really formidable candidate. A Korean settlement will correspondingly weaken Sen. Robert A. Taft (who is rather obviously dismayed at the turn of events) and Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

The most intriguing question is the effect of an end to the fighting in Korea on the fortunes of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower. Here it is worth recalling a conversation between MacArthur and Eisenhower which took place during the latter's trip to Japan in May, 1946. Then, as now, Eisenhower was a leading Presidential possibility. Questioned by MacArthur on this point, Eisenhower replied that he had no intention of running.

"That's right, Ike," said MacArthur, "just keep saying you don't want it, and you'll get it."

Acts Like Aspirant

The story is interesting partly because MacArthur himself, despite disclaimers, has been acting remarkably like a Presidential aspirant. It is interesting also because a Korean settlement is likely to increase the pressure on Eisenhower to run, as the man to beat Truman. It is therefore time to ask whether Eisenhower "wants it," and whether he can "get it." The answers below are subject to change, but they are the best now available.

As for the first point, his supporters at least state with a convincing assurance that, under certain conditions, Eisenhower will definitely accept the Republican nomination, if it is offered. One condition is that there should be no political strings attached. A second is that the Republican platform should conform with his views on foreign policy. And a third condition is that under no circumstances will he jeopardize his role as North Atlantic Treaty Organization commander in order to get the nomination.

For rather obvious reasons, the story has been sedulously spread abroad by Democrats that Eisenhower it a Democrat at heart, and is really interested in running as a Democrat. But the Eisenhower Republicans claim to have been reassured categorically on this point; Eisenhower will not seek or accept the Democratic nomination.

Two Main Factors

The question remains whether Eisenhower can "get it"—whether the nomination of a man who has never publicly stated his political affiliation, and who is serving abroad in a wholly non-political post, can be organized. There are two main factons of Eisenhower organizers.

One faction, of course, is led by New York's Gov. Thomas E. Dewey. Dewey is less of a key figure in the Eisenhower movement than is generally supposed. Dewey is the titular leader of his party, but since his 1948 defeat he has had little nation - wide influence. Moreover, Dewey is not personally close to Eisenhower, a fact underlined by his decision to go to Asia, instead of to Europe, where his candidate is.

The leader of the other, less public Eisenhower faction is Pennsylvania's Sen. James Duff, who is in regular communication with the general. There is, of course, no love lost between Dewey and Duff. They are allies in this matter, but allies by convenience and at arms' length. Duff has already enlisted former Sen. Harry Darby of Kansas in the Eisenhower cause. Darby will probably become the leading public Eisenhower organizer, lending the desired home - state, Mid - Western background. But the astute Duff is and will remain an important figure behind the scenes.

Heavy Backing Seen

Heavy financial backing as well as shrewd political management will certainly be available for the Eisenhower movement. But the great obstacle remains—while Eisenhower is in Europe, Taft's efficient organizers are hard at work to capture the nomination in advance. Clearly, a statement from Eisenhower on his Republican allegiance and availability would help, and it has been reported that Eisenhower will soon make such a statement.

Yet this is extremely unlikely, simply because Eisenhower knows that anything of the sort would almost wholly destroy his usefulness in Europe. And on this point Eisenhower Republicans have another reason for anxiety. Eisenhower is expected to return to this country, as a civilian, by next March or April. Even this would be dangerously late in the day. But his backers now fear that Eisenhower, who is deeply dedicated to the goal of European defense, may delay his return even beyond next spring, in order to see the European defense project really under way. In this case the task of organizing his nomination would become truly herculean.

Yet on balance it seems clear that a Korean settlement will greatly increase the likelihood of Eisenhower's nomination, if only because it will simultaneously strengthen Truman and hurt the Taft-MacArthur wing of the Republican party. A great many Republican professionals are by no means eager to nominate a man whose political views are an unknown quantity. But they are even less eager to see their party go down to its sixth straight defeat.

2¢ SAVING PER GALLON

High-test Blue Sunoco sells at regular gas price, which is usually 2 cents a gallon below premium-priced gasolines. Little League All-Star Game Is Set For Tonight

Turner Knocks Out Fusari In Eleven Rounds

Philadelphia Welter Wins 22nd Straight

PHILADELPHIA, July 9 (AP) — Unbeaten Gil Turner, sensational young Philadelphia welterweight, scored his 22nd straight and most impressive victory tonight as he knocked out the veteran Charley Fusari of Irvington, N. J., in 58 seconds of the 11th round. Turner weighed 142½ and Fusari 147.

The 20-year-old Turner vindicated the faith of his fans, who backed him into surprising favoritism over the ringwise New Jersey Italian, by winning as he pleased. The youngster gave Fusari one of the worst beatings of his career, closing both his eyes and leaving his face a bloody pulp.

The Associated Press score card showed Turner had won nine of the 10 rounds preceding the knockout. In smashing his way into boxing's big league. Turner chopped Fusari to pieces with a rapid fire left jab and pulverizing right cross.

The actual knockdown came when Turner caught Fusari with a left hook that staggered the veteran, and then sent him reeling to the canvas for one of the few times in his career with an overhand right on the button.

Dauthuille Wins

MONTREAL, July 9 (AP)—Laurent Dauthuille of France justified the 9 to 5 odds favoring him tonight as he pounded out a one-sided ten-round decision over Tony Janiro of Youngstown, Ohio, in an outdoor fight.

Dauthuille, holding nearly a six-pound advantage at 157¼, took command of the scrap at the start and held the veteran Ohioan at bay except in the third round. Janiro weighed 151½.

Hairston Is Loser

SCRANTON, Pa., July 9 (AP)—Rocky Castellani, of Luzerne, Pa., scored a stuning upset win over Eugene Hairston in a 10 round feature here tonight. A crowd of 5,331 paid aproximately $16,000 to see Castellani take a split decision from the New Yorker and fifth ranking middleweight. Both fighters weighed 158.

Castellani had been idle the better part of a year with an arm injury, taking on only a few opponents to keep in trim.

Kiwanis Tops B'nai B'rith

Murray Is Injured As Rotary Bows, 4-3

Two close games marked play in the Hot Stove Baseball League yesterday with the Kiwanis Club being returned the victor over B'nai B'rith in a night tilt halted by rain in the top of the 6th, 8-2, while on Rotarians dropped a 4-3 decision to the Exchange Club.

Lefty Frankie Ritter turned in a one-hit performance for the Kiwanians and that blow was credited to Wilson. Conroy of B'nai B'rith yielded only four hits and fanned nine.

Exchange was forced to play seven innings to eke out a decision over Rotary.

Rotary suffered a severe blow in the first inning when its ace pitcher, Lefty Wayne Murray tore a tendon in his pitching arm in the first inning and was forced to retire in favor of Don Paye who finished the game. Liller hurled for the winners. The score:

Johnny Musser Wins M-A Golf Tournament

BALTIMORE, July 9—(AP)—Johnny Musser, 34-year-old Allview professional, today won the 25th annual Middle Atlantic Professional Golfers Association championship tournament played over the 6,624 yard Woodholme Country Club course.

The Ellicott City pro sizzled in with 34-36-70 in the afternoon to cap his morning performance of 33-38-71 for a five-under-par 36 hole total of 141.

Charlie Bassler, Rolling Road pro favorite, was second with a 69-74-143.

Bassler's participation in the event was questionable until early today when an eye specialist gave him permission to play. He has been bothered by an irritation in the cornea of his right eye.

Walter Romans, of Baltimore Country Club, was third, and Ralph Beach, of Suburban Club, placed fourth.

Heilmann, Four Times AL Swat Champion, Dies

Batted .403 In 1923, Was Radio Announcer

DETROIT, July 9 (AP) — Harry Heilmann, the great righthanded hitter who signed his first baseball contract for a spaghetti dinner bonus, died today as many of his old buddies arrived in Detroit for the All-Star baseball game.

Heilmann, four times American League batting champion while with the Detroit Tigers, and one of baseball's greatest radio announcers will be honored with a moment of silence by 50,000 all-star game fans at Briggs Stadium tomorrow.

The 56-year-old native of San Francisco, one of half dozen American Leaguers to bat over .400 in modern times, died of cancer of the lungs—four months after he broadcast his last full game.

Heilmann, who never played with a pennant winner, grabbed the batting championship on alternate years starting in 1921. His title marks: 1921-.394; 1923-.403; 1925-.393; 1927-.398.

Baseball officials, here for the big game and the major league meetings, were shocked by the death of the popular, good-natured Heilmann. Many planned to stay over for his funeral Thursday at the Shrine of the Little Flower in Detroit.

Heilmann's lifetime major league average of .342 (18 years) ranked 15th best in baseball history.

As a radio broadcaster, he not only told listeners what happened but why and how it happened. He was a great analyzer of plays.

Heilmann was only 17 votes short of election to the Baseball Hall of Fame at Coopertown, N. Y., on the last ballot. The next election takes place this coming winter.

Just before Harry's death Ty Cobb, who won 12 American League batting championships, advocated Heilmann's election to the Hall of Fame.

Garver And Roberts Chosen As All-Star Game Starters

52,000 To See Major Teams Clash Today In 18th Tilt At Detroit

BY JACK HAND

DETROIT, July 9 (AP) — Casey Stengel reached into the cellar to pick Ned Garver, sensational St. Louis Browns ace, to start for his favored American Leaguers against the Phillies' Robin Roberts in tomorrow's 18th annual all-star baseball game at Briggs Stadium.

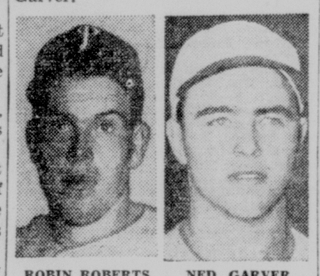
Roberts, glamor boy of the 1950 Phil champions, opened for the National League last year. But it will be the first shot for the 25-year-old Garver from Ney, Ohio.

The youthful righthanders square off at 1:30 p. m. (EST) before an assured sellout of 52,000 fans. Millions more will kibitz by television (NBC) or radio (MBS).

Showers sprinkled the city today but the weatherman says it will be cloudy and warm for the big event—part of Detroit's 250 birthday party.

Lopat Follows Garver

Stengel said Eddie Lopat, Yankee lefty, probably would be the second pitcher. In fact he was going to start steady Eddie but shifted to Garver.



ROBIN ROBERTS NED GARVER

"I figur those young guys should be in there at the start," he said. "We can use the older fellows later. It'll probably be Bob Lemon (Cleveland) or Freddie Hutchinson (Detroit) the last three."

Manager Eddie Sawyer of the Nationals and Phils surprised the boys by naming Roberts for he started and was knocked out Saturday night by Brooklyn. However, all eight National League pitchers worked Saturday or Sunday. He didn't have much choice when Brooklyn used two all-stars, Preacher Roe and Don Newcombe on relief yesterday.

"I don't know who will come later," said Sawyer. "I want to wait until I talk to the fellows in the clubhouse. After all, they all worked in the last two days. A lot depends on what lineup changes they (the Americans) make after the first three innings."

As per rule, the eight starters picked by vote of over 4,000,000 fans have to play at least the first three innings. No pitcher can go more than three unless it is another extra inning game, like last year's 14-inning thriller won for the Nationals by Red Schoendienst's home run.

Garver, of course, is the fellow every contender tried to pry from the Browns all spring. With a last place club he had won 11 or just half his team's total wins. In his last out he stopped the flying White Sox, 4-1.

In addition to Lopat (11-4), Lemon (8-8) and Hutchinson (7-3) Stengel can call on lefthanders Mel Parnell of Boston (10-5), Bobby Shantz of the A's (7-6) and righthanders Connie Marrero of Washington (8-5) and Randy Gumpert of the White Sox (7-2).

Has Lefties Ready

Sawyer has two southpaws to throw against the Americans' lefthanded power like Williams, Wertz and Berra and later Doby and Eddie Robinson of the White Sox. Preacher Roe (12-1) of Brooklyn's league-leaders and Warren Spahn (8-8) of Boston are the lefties. He also has Newcombe (12-4), lanky Ewell Blackwell of Cincinnati (8-7), Larry Jansen (11-7) and Sal Maglie (12-4) of the Giants and Dutch Leonard (6-3) of Chicago who was the American League winner back in 1943.

The American League is a 7 to 5 favorite, on the strength of a 12-5 edge in previous games. Last time they played here in 1941, Williams belted a three-run homer with two out in the last of the ninth for the win. He's still healthy.

Yankees, Braves Win Little League Tilts

The unbeaten Phillies stretched their winning streak to 11 games in the Dapper Division of the Little League yesterday when they edged the Red Sox by the score of 4-3 at Penn Avenue Field.

In another Dapper Division contest, staged at East Side, the Yankees took the measure of the Pirates, 5-2.

At Stitcher Field, the Braves were returned winners over the Indians in a Dan Division game, 6 to 4 in seven innings.

Tommy Smith yielded only two hits, John Rice's homer in the first with one aboard and Dick's Circuit belt in the 7th, and fanned nine and the Phillies kept their record unblemished. "Jerry" Mullaney whiffed 11 Phillies.

O'Neal and Washington hit four-baggers for the only undefeated team in the Little League. Collins O'Neal and Stinson had two hits each. In the 5th, the Red Sox loaded the bases with none out but failed to score when Rice hit to Mike Collins who cut down a runner at the plate and Charuhas smacked into a double play which started when Hanekamp caught a pop fly.

Gary Wolford, relief pitcher of the Braves, won his own game in the 7th inning when he doubled home two runs that whipped the Indians in an extra inning. Powell of the Braves hit a four-bagger in the second with one aboard. Mayo and Bob Paye with three and two hits led the Indians' stickers.

Jerry Collins socked a three-run homer in the fifth to give the Yankees the verdict over the Pirates. He limited the Free Booters to three hits, two of which were credited to Wheeler, and struck out an even dozen. Roy had two hits and a walk in three trips while Rich Felton hit safely three times. Sugar Robinson Is 1-4 Favorite To Whip Turpin

Middleweight Title Is At Stake Today

LONDON, July 9 (AP)—Free swinging Randy Turpin hit town with a bang today and his manager immediately promised the British negro boxer would clout Sugar Ray Robinson just as hard when they meet for the world middleweight title tomorrow.

Ray Robinson

A brass band and a cheering throng of 500 which surged against special police lines greeted the 23-year-old Turpin when he arrived by train from his camp at a North Wales castle.

The shy challenger, who has paid no attention to the hullabaloo which constantly surrounds Sugar Ray, obviously was awed by the reception.

"This is the first time a crowd has bothered to meet me before a fight," he said, "but it does me good. I have never felt better."

Turpin and his retinue, which included manager George Middleton, and sparring partners, checked in at a hotel and Randy went to bed.

Robinson remained the overwhelming 1 to 4 favorite, but Manager Middleton-true to the script of every big fight buildup—disagreed strongly.

"Randy has at least a fifty-fifty chance," Middleton declared, "and can anyone expect more when he's fighting a world champion?"

The 15-round fight before a sell-out crowd of 18,000 at the Earl's Court Arena is scheduled for about 8:30 p. m. (3:30 p. m., EST).

"We have been told we ought to have waited a year," Middleton continued, "but Turpin is at his peak and he has won his fights just as easily as Robinson has won his in Europe—and against the same boxers. If I had any doubts, the match would never have been made."

The Turpin camp figures Randy's hopes lie in being able to land a solid punch on Robinson early in the fight.

"He can hit harder than any heavyweight I've ever fought," declared Johnny Williams, a 190-pound Welshman who has been sparring with Turpin.

While the challenger was getting the big hello in town, the champion took it easy in the English countryside at his training quarters opposite historic Windsor Castle.

Robinson slept late, amused himself at the piano during the morning and took a long walk this afternoon. He hoped to get in a round of golf before sundown.

Savitt To Play Against Japan

Four U. S. Players In Davis Cup Test

NEW YORK, July 9—(AP)—A four-man team, headed by Wimbledon champion Dick Savitt of Orange, N. J., today was named to represent the United States against Japan in the first round of the North American zone competition of the Davis Cup at Louisville.

Named with Savitt were Herbie Flam of Beverly Hills, Calif., 1950 runner-up for the American championship: Bill Talbert of New York and Tony Trabert of Cincinnati.

The U. S.-Japan match is scheduled to start July 20 at Louisville.

Also on the squad are national champion Art Larsen of San Leandro, Calif.; National junior champion Hamilton Richardson of Baton Rouge, La.; Gardnar Mulloy of Coral Gables, Fla., and Vic Seixas of Philadelphia.

Savitt and Flam will play singles against the Japanese team, while the veteran Talbert and Trabert will form the doubles team.

Should the United States clinch the best-of-five test in three straight matches, there is a possibility that Larsen, Richardson, Mulloy or Seixas might get a chance.

Double Payoff At Narragansett Park Is $2,498

PAWTUCKET, R. I., July 9 (AP)—The New England racing season's biggest daily double payoff — $2,498.80 — went today to 17 $2 ticket holders at Narragansett Park.

Ralph Holoway's Wardril, an almost 68-1 shot, combined with Oakhurst Farm's low-priced Miss Ellaneous for the track's biggest payoff since 1938.

Wardril won by two lengths and returned $137.80, $25.80 and $17.00. Miss Ellaneous paid $11.60, $5.60 and $4.00. It was Wardril's third start of the season, having run out of the money twice at Suffolk Downs.

A combination of Wardril in the first with Movement in the second would have been worth $21,240.80 to two ticket holders, but Movement ran out.

KEYSER, W. V.—Mrs. Bea Auer became the bride of Frederick R. Mrs. Rosenberger is the daughter of Mrs. Larry Lambert and the late Joseph Corbacio. Rev. Henry Stragisher, assistant pastor, officiated at the ceremony which was solemnized with a nuptial mass. The sanctuary was decorated with white gladioli, blue delphinium, pink carnations, ferns and lighted tapers in candelabra.

Mrs. Joseph Alongi, Westernport, sister of the bride, was matron of honor and Paul Rhoades, brother-in-law of the groom, was best man. Jeanne Marie Auer, small daughter of the bride, was flower girl. A tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom centered the table, which was decorated with white candles. Miss Irene Stemple and Mrs. Charles House, Jr., served the cake and Mrs. Maxine Thrush, Burlington, presided at the punch bowl.

Four Scouts Begin Six-Day Hike Across Mountains

FROSTBURG — Four members of St. Rita's Catholic Church Boy Scout Troop No. 438 of Dundalk, near Baltimore, broke camp at St. John's Rock, Frostburg, early yesterday morning to begin a six-day hike across Big Savage and Backbone Mountains.

The four Scouts drove from Dundalk, four days ago, and set up camp at St. John's Rock. They were there three days making preparation for the hike.

Dr. John L. Dunkle, 26 Broadway Street, chairman of Troop Committee for St. John's Church Troop No. 48, here advised the hikers in preparing the maps showing the route to be taken.

According to Dr. Dunkle, the four Scouts were headed southwest yesterday afternoon, along the top of Big Savage Mountain toward High Rock above Westernport. Dr. Dunkle said the boys plan to cross the Savage River at the recently completed dam and go west up Backbone Mountain to the top and follow the ridge into Swanton. They expect to arrive there sometime Saturday.

The members making the trip are James A. Shinnors, assistant scout master; Donald Yost, 17, junior assistant scout master; James Anderson, 14, senior patrol leader, and William Brown, 12, scout second class. All are from Dundalk.

Shinnors, who is leading the party, said that Anderson was put in charge of camp, and Yost would direct all cooking. Shinnors, who is also a vice-consul with the State Department, picked the boys to take the hike with him because they wrote to him while he was in a hospital in Bethesda.

Shinnors explained that the hike was part of an emergency service training program for Boy Scouts in connection with the National Defense Program. Generally the training would include methods of survival in the wilderness, Shinnors said.

The Trumpet Player

I don't know what there is about trumpet players which so endears them to people. It wasn't that way when I was a boy. I played the trumpet for a short, disastrous period and it didn't endear me to anyone, especially my own family.

But lately, the trumpet player has been an object not only of affection but of great esteem, inspiring at least one novel ("Young Man With A Horn" supposedly the story of Bix Beiderbecke) and just possibly contributing greatly to one of the most notable marriages (Miss Betty Grable—Mr. Harry James) of our times. Lately radio and television have taken up the trumpet player who in recent months has been the subject of at least three radio and TV dramas that I have heard and I don't hear them all.

In one drama the trumpet player was murdered. In another he was carved up so that it was doubtful he'd ever play again, an eventuality which was represented as a tragedy as majestic and awesome as King Lear's. In the last, he was the suspected, though innocent, slayer of his wife. In all cases the trumpet player was a thoroughly wholesome character and a very nice guy. Always—except for Mr. James' marriage—he has had a lot to put up with.

It had never occurred to me before that trumpet-playing was either so hazardous or so important. Or that trumpet players were such pristine artists or, for that matter, so pure of heart. In fact, after examining my conscience thoroughly, I've come to the conclusion that trumpet-playing has been over-blown. Now N.B.C. has come up with a regular weekly program "Pete Kelly's Blues" whose hero is a trumpet player. He'll trumpet triumphantly every week in spite of the most terrible difficulties.

That's the beginning of the end. If you ask me, the trumpet and the trumpet player are on the way out. Look what happened to the banjo. The next romantic figure, my private oracle tells me, is going to be the guy that plays the triangle. He's a much better lead in all regards. For one thing, he doesn't have to screw up his face like a trumpet-player which will make it easier for the girls to fall for him. For another, he has more time to think himself into neuroses which will make matters much more simple for the novelist, And for another, that triangle will make a wonderful target to shoot through.

Wayne Coy, in a recent speech before the National Association of Radio and Television Broadcasters, was lighting into the boys for indecency, obscenity or profanity on television, three things that don't seem to get into my living room very much. "A woman in Ohio," said Mr. Coy, "complains that a noted comedienne's gowns 'suggest complete failure of the cotton and flax crops and a plague among the silkworms.'"

Now, wait a minute, Mr. Coy. This woman in Ohio is not so much venting her own frustration. Any woman who would write a sentence like that is at heart a gagwriter rather than a reformer. The language of indignation—we get a lot of it across this desk—is much simpler, far more pungent, and notably lacking in figures of speech. Your really indignant letter-writer, Mr. Coy, is likely to express himself more like this: "When is that blankety-blank Eddie Cantor going to stop those blankety blank blank jokes about his blankety blank flank blank daughters?"

A great many letter writers, I've found, are activated not so much by indignation as by the feeling that they could do it better with one hand tied behind them. In the case of the woman from Ohio, I'm afraid the odds are against her. It's not so much that it's a bad gag as a cluttered one. If one of Berle's writers had been handling it, he'd cut it way down to its essentials. Berle would just leer at the comedienne with the low cut gown, leer at the audience, step right up to the footlights, and throw the snapper: "A plague in the silk worm industry:" It'd kill 'em. And the lady in Ohio would immediately write a letter to Wayne Coy objecting about indecency on the air.

"The Authority on Authorities"

TELL HIM YOUR STORY

THERE are many opportunities to improve the probable prospects for your side by putting the final decision up to your partner. That is the case when there are facts of importance about your own hand which he may not be in position to guess. If you tell him the rest of your story, you may then rest the question with him. The only time you should not follow that principle is when you have enough information about his hand to know what is logically the best contract for the pair. There are also the spots where you are desirous of extracting further information from him.

How much better South's last bid of 3-Hearts was at the first table. It accomplished everything that could be gained from the bid made by his vis-a-vis at the second table, 2-No Trumps. Since hearts were the higher-ranking suit of the two red ones shown by South, the call was strong enough to indicate his willingness to go a step higher, and at the same time told North his major suit was of five cards.

That made it easy for North to select the major suit for the game contract. This enabled his team to win the deal, as it scored 120 for tricks plus 300 for the not vulnerable game bonus, or a total of 20 more than the No Trump game produced at the other table, following spade leads at both. Against the No Trumper, the defense scored three tricks in spades and one in clubs. Against the suit contract, there was one trick for the defense in each black suit and one in diamonds.

There was no particular fault to find with the bidding up to that stage, though many players would have preferred 3-Hearts for North's second response instead of the 2-No Trumps without a positive stopper in spades.

FBI Apprehends Man Who Passed Bad Checks Here

Four Stores Victims In $20,000 Campaign

A "bad check artist" who passed four fraudulent checks in Cumberland about a year ago amounting to over $156 has been apprehended by federal authorities. City Detective Thomas J. See said yesterday the same person has passed similar checks between April 1950 and June 1951 totaling between $15,000 to $20,000 in the Middle Atlantic and Southern States.

See recalled that in August of 1950 an individual using the name of Martin Truwell cashed four industrial type payroll checks amounting to about $59 each at four different stores here in Cumberland. The fraudulent payroll checks had the Social Security deduction as well as the withholding tax entries made.

The stores which cashed the checks were the Cut Rate Shoe Store, Webbs Shoe Store, Metro Store and Curl's Camera Shop. City Detective See and Allegany County Investigator Terrance J. Boyle sent the checks to FBI headquarters in Washington to aid in apprehending the passer.

On June 2, 1951, William Joseph Sansbury was arrested in Valdosta, Ga., and admitted passing the Truwell checks authorities said. He is now in custody at the Camilla, Ga., County Jail on several federal bad check warrants and will be tried in Macon, Ga., on federal charges.

County Agent's Office Has Jap Beetle Traps

Persons wishing to obtain Japanese beetle traps may lease them from the County Agents office at the Court House for two years for 19 cents.

However, residents annoyed by the pests are reminded that spraying with a 50 per cent wettable DDT solution will kill Japanese beetles in yards and gardens. The formula is four tablespoons of DDT to each gallon of water.

Traps are helpful but will not catch all beetles on property, the County Agent's office warns.

Deadline Is Set For Hitchcock's Smoke Report

Recommendations Are Due Tomorrow

Cumberland's smoke abatement engineer must present his formal report on this city's controversial smoke control ordinance by tomorrow.

The Mayor and Council yesterday set Wednesday as the deadline for the report called for at a meeting May 21, when Mrs. Lucile Roeder, commissioner of streets and public property, moved that Hitchcock be given 30 days in which to report to the Council as to whether or not the ordinance is adequate and, if not, to suggest what should be done to enforce it.

The action was taken yesterday after Finance Commissioner William H. Buchholtz blasted the smoke engineer for ignoring a six-week-old council order requiring him to make the report within 30 days.

With Hitchcock's report as a basis, the council hopes to come up with a decision on the controversial smoke control question.

Did Not Remember Order

Hitchcock said yesterday he did not remember the order for the report, and added if it had been issued "I lost sight of it due to the controversy."

The smoke control ordinance has been subject of discussion the past several weeks from civic groups, industrial firms and private citizens.

Hitchcock told Buchholtz he had made an annual report but the finance commissioner replied: "That has nothing to do with it. x x x That's an order on the books (the enforcement report) and it must be complied with. You were asked to check on the enforcement. Certainly you have enough technical experience to know whether it is or not."

Hitchcock answered: "I have said it was enforceable," referring to statements made at public airings of the ordinance.

Suggests Separate Meetings

Mrs. Lucile W. Roeder, commissioner of streets and public property, suggested that the council meet separately with officials of the Potomac Edison Company and Memorial Hospital, but when Mayor Thomas S. Post asked whether that meant a public meeting or an executive session concerning only the council, PE and the hospital, another argument ensued.

Buchholtz contended the matter concerns the public as a whole and should be discussed openly. He added: "We are elected to represent the public. I am against executive sessions of any kind."

Mrs. Roeder interrupted to say there "is still so much confusion," and added the council must know whether the ordinance is adequate since money must be provided soon in the budget for the new fiscal year.

$10,500 was provided for the department in the 1950-51 levy.

Commissioner of Police and Fire John J. Long, asserted:

"I don't see why we need a meeting at this time. In the previous meetings, we were told what is being done. If you want another meeting, it's all right with me, but I

Three Escape Injury As Blazing Truck Crashes Into Their Home

Driver Jumps As Flaming Cement Truck Strikes Frostburg Residence

A Frostburg mother and her two children narrowly escaped injury yesterday afternoon as a flaming cement truck careened across Grant Street and plunged into their home, setting it afire.

The driver of the burning vehicle jumped just before the heavy truck crashed into the home and suffered a broken ankle and burns.

The accident occurred yesterday afternoon about 2 o'clock as the flaming vehicle went out of control and crashed through the front yard into the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Middleton, 78 Grant Street.

Floyd R. Carroll, 317 Cecilia Street, driver of a cement mixer truck owned by the George F. Hazlewood Company, was admitted to Memorial Hospital about 2:45 p. m. and is reported in "satisfactory" condition.

He sustained a fractured left ankle and burns about the forearm and face.

Plunges Into Home

Mrs. Middleton and two children, Jannene, 8, and Robert, 5, miraculously escaped injury as the huge flaming truck came across the highway into the front yard of the five-room dwelling, ripped off the front porch and stopped in the entrance to the living room.

As the truck halted the residence caught fire. Practically the entire front of the structure was destroyed.

Mrs. Middleton, who saw the truck approaching her home, called for her son who was playing in the living room and he ran to the kitchen. The vehicle stopped just a foot or two from where the boy was playing.

The Frostburg Volunteer Fire Company answered the call. Fire destroyed most of the furnishings and clothing of the Middletons. Middleton, who is an employee of the Glen L. Martin Company, had returned to Baltimore earlier yesterday after spending the weekend with his family.

Truck Catches Fire

According to eye witnesses, the huge truck weighing 28 tons with its load of three and one-half yards of cement, had caught fire in the rear. As the truck descended Grant Street after leaving Main Street enroute from Cumberland to Barton, it apparently got out of control and the burning gasoline from the exploding tanks scorched portions of the homes of neighbors living near the Middleton residence.

Carroll, realizing the vehicle had gotten out of control leaped to safety just before the truck careened left across the highway into the Middleton residence.

The home of the next door neighbor was scorched by the intense heat of the blaze. Dense smoke of the crash and fire could be seen from many sections of Frostburg.

The house and furnishings are partially covered by insurance, firemen reported.

Judge Harris' Opinion Favors Widow In Case

Orphans' Court Action Affirmed

Although a widow is not named in her husband's will she still is entitled to a $2,000 allowance from his estate plus a half interest in the rest of the estate.

Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris made such a ruling yesterday when he filed an opinion in Allegany County Circuit Court affirming such a decision in Allegany County Orphans' Court.

Brothers Appeal

The case was in the form of an appeal from Orphans' Court and was brought by Theodore F. Shaffer, Chevy Chase, and Charles D. Shaffer, Cumberland, brothers of and executors of the estate of George L. Shaffer, Bowling Green, who died April 28, 1950.

Mrs. Mary Agnes Shaffer, George L. Shaffer's widow, married him August 3, 1949, Judge Harris wrote in his opinion. There were no children from this union and both the mother and father of Shaffer predeceased him.

George L. Shaffer executed his will July 18, 1944, more than five years before his marriage. After small bequests, Shaffer gave his entire estate to his brothers, Theodore and Charles.

The deceased's personal estate amounted to approximately $12,000. The first and final account was filed in Orphans' Court June 26 of this year. This court stipulated that the widow should receive the widow's allowance of $2,000 in cash and a half interest in the rest of the property. All parties agreed that Mrs. Shaffer was entitled to the half interest, Judge Harris wrote in his opinion. The question was over the extra $2,000 allowance.

Opinion Quoted

Judge Harris' opinion concluded: "Since the stipulated facts show that the decedent died without descendents and was not survived by his mother or father. His widow meets all statutory requirements to receive $2,000 provided therein; and I am in accord with the Orphans' Court in allowing $2,000 widow's claim and I shall sign a decree accordingly."

The Shaffer brothers were represented by Attorney William C. Walsh. Mrs. Shaffer was represented by Attorney William A. Gunter.

Today Is 8th Anniversary Of Tragic Mistake At Gela

Eight years ago today, in one of the most tragic mistakes of World War II, about 400 paratroopers of the 82nd Airborne Division were killed as American troops and ships joined the enemy in shooting down a flight of C-47's during the Sicilian campaign.

News of the tragedy was disclosed eight months later, when a Stars and Stripes reporter told of the incident.

His story was confirmed by the Army and Navy which said that on the night of July 10-11, 1943, United States airborne troops "received antiaircraft fire from enemy ground forces and from freindly naval and ground forces with losses of 23 aircraft and 410 personnel."

On the day of the tragedy, Lt. Gen. George S. Patton, commander of the Sicilian campaign, called for airborne reinforcements to land within his own lines.

The 170 planes from North Africa, each carrying 18 paratroopers, came in low over the water near Gela shortly after a German bombing raid.

Just how the shooting started may never be known, but the most likely guess is that the troops on ships and land heard the sound of the oncoming American C-47's and mistook them for enemy planes.

Helpless planes began to drop from the sky as the guns from the ships opened up.

Twenty-three of the planes were downed and 410 men killed through the tragic mistake.

Boy Scouts Plan Explorer Expedition August 7-11

Information folders and applications have been sent by Willis V. Smith, executive secretary for Potomac Council Boy Scouts of America, to all Boy Scout masters and Explorer advisors in the Council, announcing an Explorer Expedition, August 7 to 11, from a base camp at Laurel Fork Ranger Station near Glady, W. Va.

The expedition is open to any registered Explorer or Scouter, and will be conducted jointly with other Councils of West Virginia, Ohio, Maryland and Kentucky.

It will be operated on a Council basis and each Council participating must provide its own adult leadership, select its own activities and plan and conduct its own program.

A minimum central program will be planned by joint Councils with program features such as mountain climbing, cave exploring, trail and compass hiking, swimming and other activities.

The base camp will be located at Laurel Fork Ranger Station about seven miles west of Spruce Knob the highest point in West Virginia. There is an active beaver operation near the campsite, and the region of high mountains and winding streams provides rough, pioneer country for the campers.

Included in the program is a parachute delivery of food to the camp and a marksmanship activity provided by a rifle manufacturer. Also an unusual trail hike to Gaudineer Knob with the cooperation of the United States Forest Service is planned. Special licenses will be available for trout fishing.

The Council will provide all food supplies, tentage and cooking equipment, but each camper must bring his own eating utensils, sleeping bag and blankets and other personal equipment.
